ROMMEL GETS HELP BY AIR

ASSERTS F. D. R. AID RUNS 4TH TERM MACHINE

Plots Socialist Rule, Says Rep. Bradley.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., April 1.—David K. Niles, administrative assistant to President Roosevelt, was named in the house today as the man behind the scenes in the management of the fourth term campaign.

David K. Niles

Rep. Fred Bradley [R., Mich.] told the house that Niles and Harry Hopkins, White House intimate, are doing the work—making the plans and issuing the orders. The Michigan congressman characterized Frank Walker, chairman of the Democratic national committee, as merely the "front man."

"Niles is building his stupendous political machine," Rep. Bradley said, "within the office of civilian defense, the office of war information, and other government bureaus. And a fourth term is not his only goal.

"Plots Socialistic Controls."

"Beyond the fourth term he is plotting the imposition upon free America of a system of socialistic controls which would enslave America and crush all freedom and individual initiative. His chief political weapon is the office of civilian defense. Even a short haired congressman can see that."

[Report more for U. S. advertisments as press subsidy. Story on page 5.]

Terming Niles a "little one time Boston radical," Rep. Bradley asserted that Niles was an associate at Harvard university of James M. Landis, director of OCD, Justice Felix Frankfurter of the Supreme court, and Harold Laski, whom Rep. Bradley characterized as the spokesman for the radical wing of the British labor party.

Sees U. S. as World Unit.

"Mark my words," Rep. Bradley said, "the purpose of the Frankfurter-Niles-Laski-Landis group is to regiment every man, woman, and child in this country in one huge state socialistic, communistic or collectivist, and fascist state—as you will. And it is strongly hinted that we are to become but one unit in an international world of the same general collectivist scheme."

Rep. Bradley said the fourth term campaign needed a publicity organization, but that the Democratic national committee nevertheless gave up its own organization, headed by Charles Michelson.

"Why should the committee spend its own money," Bradley asked, "when the office of war information is at hand to do the publicity job on the public's money?

Free Press Threatened.

"The OWI is well staffed to carry out the peculiar editorial job of carrying the torch for the fourth term campaign. No less than 24 of its bright young men are 'liberals' transferred from Marshall Field's journalistic monstrosity PM, most popularly characterized as 'the Uptown Daily Worker.'

"Elmer Davis gets his instructions from the feed box or directly from Mr. Niles. And the bright young boys from P M dish it out."

The Michigan congressman charged that an effort was made to destroy the free press by a 50 per cent reduction of newsprint. But, said Bradley, members of congress prevented. Then, Bradley said, Niles turned to the OCD.

Rep. Bradley exhibited an OCD pamphlet, "Block Plan for Civilian War Services," by which, he asserted, Niles hopes to further his political scheme.

Only 'War Work' Horses to Get British Feed Ration

LONDON, April 1 (AP).—Only "war work" horses will receive feed rations this summer, the ministry of food announced tonight. Oats are among the feeds on the rationed list, but not hay and straw. No provision was made for race horses. However, it was expected that the current arrangement will continue under which these are allowed rations from county war agriculture executive committees under thorobred classes of "race horses in training, stallions, and mares with foals.

CIVIC OPERA BUILDING SOLD TO LOAN FIRM

Music Foundation's O. K. Expected.

BY THOMAS FURLONG.

The 42 story Civic Opera building at 20 Wacker drive will be sold to the General Finance corporation under an arrangement which is expected to be approved today by trustees of the Chicago Music Foundation, owner of the controling interest in the property.

James C. Thompson.

At the same time, discussions of the possibility of merging the Chicago Opera company, operated by the music foundation, and the Metropolitan Opera association of New York continued.

Only $125,000 cash will change hands in the sale of the building, the purchaser assuming a $9,885,000 first mortgage which is held by the Metropolitan Life Insurance company of New York. The finance company will acquire 101,000 shares of common stock and approximately 10 per cent of an $8,217,937 issue of preferred stock in the 20 Wacker Drive Building corporation, now owned by the music foundation. The preferred issue consists of 90,307 shares of stated value of $91 a share.

Original Cost 23 Millions.

The building, a promotion of the late Samuel Insull, was completed in 1931 at a cost of 23 million dollars. At that time the project was financed by a 10 million dollar first mortgage, the 9 million dollar preferred stock issue, and by the common stock issues and a second mortgage which has since been paid off.

Insull provided the land for the building, taking common stock in the building corporation in payment. Later he turned over this stock to the music foundation, which he organized to foster development of opera and other music in Chicago. Insull hoped that income from the stock would make up any opera deficits.

Fresh Start for Opera.

As a result of the sale of the building the Chicago Opera company will get a fresh start financially, which assures the city of opera for many years to come, Abner J. Stilwell, vice chairman of the foundation, said last night. Announcement of the sale arrangement was made jointly by Stilwell and James C. Thompson, president of the building corporation.

Stilwell said that the $125,000 cash which the foundation will realize will be available to meet part of the deficits of the opera in the future. Provision has been made from other sources for all past obligations of the company, he said.

"The opera company does not owe a nickel. All its obligations have been taken care of," he said.

Under the terms of the proposed sale, the opera company will get a 10 year lease on the opera house at "very favorable terms," Stilwell

NEW FIGHT FOR LIFE OF PET DOG PLANNED BY BRITISH SURGEON

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, April 1.—A petition asking a reprieve for a dog ordered destroyed by a magistrate is being presented to Minister of Home Security Herbert Morrison, it was disclosed in Criminal court today. Charles Harold Stewart Parsons, consulting ophthalmic surgeon, was threatened with imprisonment for having failed to carry out a court order or to pay a fine of $614 imposed because he had kept the dog for 154 days after being ordered to destroy it. It was not disclosed why the dog had been ordered destroyed.

"As a lover of dogs, I sympathize, but as a minister of justice I deplore your position," said Lord Chief Justice Caldecote. But he allowed Parsons to appeal against the magistrate's sentence.

The attorney for Parsons said, "Parsons has conceived a violent affection for the dog and he is presenting a petition to the home secretary that its life may be spared."

Here's How All Good Little Congressmen Should Behave

BY WILLIAM MOORE.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., April 1.—These are things congressmen will never, never do if they take to heart a lecture on politeness delivered today by Rep. George A. Dondero [R., Mich.] in the house:

Rep. George A. Dondero.

1. Sneak behind the rail at the rear of the chamber to puff a cigaret.

2. Stroll about the floor with unlighted cigars or pipes in their mouths.

3. Read newspapers during speeches.

4. Put their feet on the top of the chair in front of them.

5. Call other congressmen John or Jim on the floor, when they should say "the gentleman" or "the gentlewoman" and name the member's state.

6. Walk in front of a member who is speaking.

7. Begin an address by saying, "Mr. Speaker, distinguished guests, ladies and gentlemen."

8. Thank the other members at the conclusion of a speech.

Rules Broken, He Says.

The Michigan congressman, serving his sixth term in the house, was in deadly earnest when he lectured new members and veterans. He said the practices he criticized are violations of house rules and give congress a bad name to visitors.

Some of his hearers observed that members frequently are seen smoking behind the rail, and a number, including Rep. Adolph J. Sabath [D., Ill.], sometimes appear with an unlighted cigar.

Rep. Dondero said he counted 11 congressmen reading newspapers at one time during the debate on the national debt and salary limit bill.

It was recalled that Rep. Wesley E. Disney [D., Okla.] recently called upon Rep. Charles S. Dewey [R., Ill.] to "sit down, Charley!"

Dondero explained that the speaker represents the entire membership, and the congressmen should address themselves to the speaker alone.

No Thanks, Please.

Congressmen don't need to thank any one for listening, the Michigan congressman said, because speaking in congress is a congressman's right.

Rep. John E. Rankin [D., Miss.] joined in the etiquet lesson, citing to the new congressmen some lines from Shakespeare on conduct. He referred to the advice of Polonius to his son in "Hamlet," dropping these broad hints:

"Don't talk too much. Keep out of fights, but give 'em everything you've got once you're in. Take advice from older members, even if they're not handsome. Nix on the flashy clothes."

'To . . . Self Be True'

The speech of Polonius to Laertes, from Act. I, Scene 3 of Hamlet, to which Rep. John E. Rankin [D., Miss.] referred yesterday in the house, is as follows:

. . . Give thy thoughts no tongue.
Nor any unproportion'd thought his act.
Be thou familiar, but by no means vulgar.
The friends thou hast, and their adoption tried,
Grapple them to thy soul with hoops of steel;
But do not dull thy palm with entertainment
Of each new-hatch'd, unfledg'd comrade. Beware
Of entrance to a quarrel, but being in,
Bear't that the opposed may beware of thee.
Give every man thy ear, but few thy voice;
Take each man's censure, but reserve thy judgment.
Costly thy habit as thy purse can buy.
But not express'd in fancy; rich, not gaudy;
For the apparel oft proclaims the man,
And they in France of the best rank and station
Are of a most select and generous chief in that.
Neither a borrower nor a lender be;
For loan oft loses both itself and friend,
And borrowing dulls the edge of husbandry.
This above all; to thine own self be true
And it must follow, as the night the day,
Thou canst not then be false to any man.
Farewell; my blessing season this in thee!

CUT SHEERNESS, LENGTH OF HOSE

Each Manufacturer May Make Seven Colors.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., April 1.—Broad restrictions on the manufacture of men's, women's, and children's hosiery, cutting out frills, limiting colors, and eliminating certain styles, were ordered today by the war production board.

On women's rayon hosiery each producer is limited to seven basic colors for each six month period, and no more than five colors are permitted in any one style. He may use any seven colors he chooses. The over-all length of the average full fashioned stocking is set at 29 inches, one inch less than under present practice.

The order also bans knitting of lace bands, fancy designs, and numbers in the welt [top] of women's hosiery. The size and strength of the welt and of heel reinforcements are also specified, and afterwelts are required in all hose.

[Warns of shortage in beauty aids. Story on page 20.]

'Sheerest' Eliminated.

Eliminated from production by the order are the popular 50 denier rayon full fashioned hosiery which have been the "sheerest and also the poorest types of rayon stockings" according to WPB. Hosiery of the same denier [sheerness] may be made, however, from higher than ordinary quality yarns. Women's lace and mesh hosiery are not affected by the order.

Men's socks are also limited to seven selected colors, with no more than five for any one style. In addition white and three "war service" colors, olive drab, khaki, and a special color for officer's wear, are permitted. There are no restrictions on the use of colored yarns for decorative purposes, such as for clocks.

No New Novelty Designs.

Double turning, hemming, or welting of the tops of men's hose is prohibited.

Makers of misses', children's, and infants' hosiery are restricted to the same fancy or novelty designs actually in production from Oct. 1, 1942, to April 2, 1943. Each producer is limited to seven basic colors, compared with more than 30 at present. No more than six colors are permitted for any one style of standard type hose and no more than six for any style of novelty hose.

Infants' ribbed long hose henceforth may not exceed size 5½ and may be made only in white.

No anklets may be made with cuffs turned down or folded more than once, and cuffs are restricted to one thickness of fabric before folding. Cuffs are limited to two inches.

AXIS COUNTER-ATTACKS BRITISH ARMY IN NORTH

YANKS CAPTURE 700 PRISONERS IN NEW ATTACK

WITH THE AMERICAN ARMY EAST OF EL GUETAR, TUNISIA, April 1 (AP).—American tanks and infantry renewing their advance along the road toward Gabes and a junction with the British 8th army captured more than 700 prisoners yesterday, including many from Adolf Hitler's crack tank grenadiers.

The gap between the Americans and Gen. Bernard Montgomery's British troops is now "considerably less than 50 miles," said a military source, but he declined to predict when a junction would be effected.

Assisted by mountain climbing United States infantrymen, the tanks already have pushed beyond the Kebili road junction, 12 miles southeast of El Guetar.

The Americans were pursuing axis units which had put up a desperate fight yesterday morning when the artillery of both sides opened a thunderous cascade of shells.

Control Huge Area.

Now the axis mobile 88 mm. guns are retreating, and seizure of the Kebili road junction solidified the American control of a huge area and dominated traffic leading south to the eastern edge of the Chott el Djerid, salt lake, where Kebili had been an important axis air base until the British 8th army outflanked the Mareth line and cut off Kebili's direct road to Gabes.

[The French yesterday announced the occupation of Kebili, 68 miles southwest of Gabes.]

Nazi planes dropped flares and bombs on American positions in nuisance raids during the night, but there was little damage.

German rear guards were fighting with a desperate courage born of the knowledge that every hour they held off the American advance would give the axis in northern Tunisia that much time to strengthen positions for a last stand.

Held in Vast Pocket.

In the vast pocket between these slowly closing allied pincers stubborn Italian infantry and artillery units were fighting alongside the Germans.

Despite their resistance, United States tanks late yesterday fought their way thru a blistering 88 mm. artillery fire and smashed past the Kebili junction. The armored assault was protected on the flanks by infantry advancing simultaneously thru bordering high ground.

In the air P-39s [Airacobras] strafed the enemy supply and troop columns and A-20 bombers located a huge concentration of enemy vehicles and dealt them what an American fighter group commander, Col. Frederick D. Dean, 26 years old, of St. Petersburg, Fla., described as "one of the most devastating blows" administered during the Tunisian campaign.

Plenty Time to Find Targets.

"The Bostons had plenty of time to find the target," he said of the A-20 attack, "and then give it the business. It was a beautiful job and extremely costly to the enemy."

American officers paid tribute to the efficiency of the German and Italian artillery which delayed the American tank advance during the early part of the day, but the resistance diminished steadily in volume as the Yank infantrymen climbed the mountains and destroyed the batteries.

The opening of the tank march was preceded by a grand scale American artillery barrage which one observer on the heights said was "one of the most terrible and wonderful sights I ever saw."

"Those 88s are so well emplaced in ravines they have to be blasted out one at a time," said an artillery observer.

Swiss Hear Weygand Held Prisoner Near Nuremberg

BERNE, Switzerland, April 1.—Gen. Maxime Weygand, former governor general of Algeria, is definitely in Germany as a prisoner of war and his wife was allowed to join him some weeks ago. They are interned in a house near Nuremberg. This news has come thru the Swedish Red Cross, with assurances that the general is "well treated." The general was arrested near Vichy by the Germans at the time of total occupation in November.

Fresh Troops Flown Across Sea to Aid Foe in Tunisia.

(Map on page 8.)

ALLIED HDQ. IN NORTH AFRICA, April 1 (AP).—The axis is flying fresh troops into Tunisia, it was disclosed today, and the allies have thrown an overpowering aerial fleet into a campaign to forestall such reënforcement.

At the same time the axis launched a counter-attack in northern Tunisia in the area 35 miles southwest of Bizerte. Axis troops assaulted British positions a few miles east of Sedjenane early today after having been thrown into flight yesterday.

It appeared to be an attempt by the German and Italian troops to retrieve big stores of material they had abandoned in a little mining town near Sedjenane. The scale and outcome of the fighting were not immediately reported.

Rain Bombs on Rommel.

The bulk of Marshal Erwin Rommel's forces trying to beat their way northward for a junction with Col. Gen. Jurgen von Arnim's troops were reported to be continuing their tortured retreat under a rain of bombs and bullets while a rear guard dug in about 24 miles north of Gabes on the coastal highway in an effort to fend off the pursuing British 8th army.

The new German line was said to be about 12 miles north of the newly captured Oudref and well above the Gabes bottleneck. Eighth army patrols were reported to be already engaging in preliminary skirmishes with this protective axis force. The British vanguards there are less than 70 miles south of the port of Sfax.

Altho slowed down by thousands of mines strewn by the retreating enemy, American armored units of Lt. Gen. George S. Patton Jr. were reported pushing steadily eastward from El Guetar pass for an imminent junction with Gen. Bernard L. Montgomery's 8th army forces.

100 "Forts" Raid Cagliari.

The presence of air borne reënforcements for Rommel was revealed with the capture of many Italian and German grenadiers during the renewed American push east of El Guetar toward the coast. Some of the prisoners said they had been in Africa fewer than 10 days.

Nearly 100 Flying Fortresses, the greatest force of the big four motored bombers ever massed for a war operation, bashed the important axis supply base at Cagliari on Sardinia yesterday, seriously crippling its usefulness to the enemy, while swarms of other American and British planes turned Rommel's retreat up the eastern Tunisian coast into a nightmare of destruction.

Wrecks "Dunkirk" Chance.

Any hopes the axis might have entertained of using Cagliari as the base for a "Dunkirk" evacuation of divisions now inclosed in a great allied trap apparently were wiped out by the concentrated assault of the Fortresses, which hit five merchant ships and 21 smaller craft, damaged or destroyed 71 enemy planes aground and in the air, and spread acres of fire across the city's port area.

Not a Fortress or an escorting Lightning fighter was lost from the raid—adequate proof of the allies' control of the air over North Africa and the Mediterranean.

Strike in Sicilian Narrows.

In an attack almost as destructive as that by the 100 Fortresses, two waves of American Billy Mitchell [B-25] medium bombers escorted by Lightnings twice struck at an axis convoy in the Sicilian narrows, sinking at least three large merchant ships and leaving others burning and settling. Six German fighters which attempted to intercept were shot down and others damaged.

British Wellington bombers shot up axis traffic south of Bizerte, starting 50 fires on a single mile stretch; American Bostons and British Baltimores set large fires and destroyed five enemy craft on a landing ground at Sfax; Spitfire fighters burned part of a 20 truck enemy troop convoy 15 miles southeast of El Guetar; American Warhawks, some loaded with bombs, set be-

M'KIBBIN CITES GANG DEMANDS; PLEDGES RELIEF

Loop Drive Enlivened by Sound Trucks.

Halleck to Speak

Charles A. Halleck, a Republican congressman from Indiana, is to be guest speaker tonight at a dinner in the La Salle hotel in honor of Morgan L. Fitch, Republican nominee for city treasurer.

BY ARTHUR EVANS.

Speaking on the theme, "What Chicago Gangs Cost the Small Business Man," George B. McKibbin, Republican nominee for mayor, said last night that if elected he will strive to protect legitimate business of all kinds from political shakedowns, ranging from picnic tickets to towels and juke boxes.

McKibbin's speech, given over W-G-N, climaxed a day in which the Republicans held a noonday meeting in the loop, in which sound trucks at full blast bombarded the county building and Democratic office holders with speeches by Richard J. Lyons, Illinois tax commissioner, Atty. Gen. George F. Barrett, who made his first public appearance in the campaign, and others.

Message for Liquor Dealers.

In his speech McKibbin said the cost of doing business in Chicago includes shakedowns, picnic tickets, and squeezes of various sorts. He said these burdens fall especially upon those in the liquor business, and that he desired to speak especially to them.

"I am a believer in personal liberty," said McKibbin. "I reserve to myself the right to decide what I shall drink and I will protect that same right for every other man and woman. I promise to every man who takes a drink and to the man who sells it to him the personal liberty to do so free from the shakedown of the political machine and the terrorism and tribute of the hoodlums and gangsters.

"The liquor business is a legitimate enterprise recognized by law. As mayor I will extend to it the full protection of the law, as I will extend it to every other legitimate enterprise. I shall not put any law-abiding man in that trade out of business, but I will drive out the machine protected gangsters who now shake down that business.

Demands Freedom in Buying.

"I will protect merchants in the liquor business in the right to buy their merchandise from any one they choose. They will decide for themselves whether they will buy from the syndicate firms which now insist on supplying them. And be it towels or syndicate pretzels or juke boxes, the retailers will be free to take them or leave them without fear of reprisals.

"Law abiding men in the liquor business will be protected by McKibbin. Political or gangster influence will not be able to protect the dives which bring disgrace on the entire industry.

"All Chicago should know what the political and gangster partnership means to the liquor business, because it indicates what the political and gangster partnership will do to other business in Chicago unless destroyed. The spoilsmen of the Kelly machine muscle their way in whenever they can.

Asserts Gang Dictates to Police.

"It was Frank Nitti, immune in Chicago, who killed himself rather than face trial in a New York court. Nitti dictated to Mayor Kelly's police department. It must not interfere with the syndicate's commercialized gambling and vice. Nitti was able to dictate to Kelly's civil service commission that it must whitewash the policemen who let them operate. The syndicate provided the thugs and gunmen who perpetrated the vote frauds that have kept the Kelly machine in power for 10 years."

McKibbin said straw polls showed him getting a majority of votes. "Next Tuesday Chicago will see the greatest election surprise in its history in the defeat of the Kelly machine, which will thrill the nation," he said.

At noon, the Erlanger theater, across the street from the county building, was jammed for a Republican rally, while crowds filled the sidewalks outside, listening to amplifiers which could be heard a block. The sound truck sprinkled with speeches the windows of offices held by Democrats, across the way. Crowds on the street roared at Dick Lyons when he shouted over the amplifiers.

Promises House Cleaning.

Lyons warned "the gang looking out the county building windows across the street" that the voters will clean house April 6.

The Chicago subway was referred to by Lyons as a "gopher hole." "Tomorrow, one day after April Fool's day," he said, "they will put on the second act of Kelly's Follies. It will be the subway opening. The invitations say the trip will start at 10 a. m. and will end at State and Jackson at noon. This is four blocks away from the starting point. Four blocks in two hours. The subway is seven miles long, starts nowhere and ends nowhere."

Taxation was the subject of Atty. Gen. Barrett, who was chairman of the noonday rally.

"The Kelly-Nash machine," he said, "has tried to distort the truth that Chicago has the highest tax rate in the United States; that taxes have increased more than 52 per cent.

"While small home owners and business men have paid the bulk of these taxes, our city has never had an administration that has done more to impair the value of and destroy the future of Chicago real estate than the present administration. One of the most ridiculous charges made by the Kelly-Nash machine is the attempt to hoodwink the public into believing that taxes have not risen under their administration of Chicago's affairs."

Surrenders

PHILIP D'ANDREA.

Philip D'Andrea, last of the six Chicagoans indicted in New York on charges of extortion, conspiracy and mail fraud, surrendered yesterday to the United States marshal in Chicago and was released in $50,000 bond. His hearing on a removal warrant was set for April 7.

D'Andrea is best remembered as the man who walked into the courtroom where Al Capone was being tried for tax evasion in 1931, carrying a loaded pistol. He was arrested and served six months for contempt of court. Yesterday he wore a well tailored gray suit, gold rimmed spectacles and a full mustache, and he posed willingly for photographers.

All except one of the six defendants have been released on bail. The exception is Francis Maritote, alias Frank Diamond, who is in the county jail. His attorney, Francis J. Kennedy, appealed to Federal Judge John P. Barnes yesterday for a reduction in Diamond's bond. The judge refused the plea, saying he had no jurisdiction.

LION AND LAMB OF MARCH CAPER TO NEW RECORDS

For the first time in the history of the Chicago weather bureau, March had three subzero days, the 3d, 7th, and 8th. On the other hand, Owen T. Lay, official in charge of the bureau, reported a new record was set for March 30 when the temperature reached a high of 78 degrees at 4 p. m. This was two points higher than the previous record, set on March 30, 1910.

The month as a whole had an average temperature of 32.2 degrees, or 2.3 degrees lower than normal. The first 20 days of the month averaged only 26 degrees, six below normal for that period.

Precipitation totaled 2.47 inches, or .09 below normal. Snowfall totaled 7.8 inches, compared with a recorded normal of 6 inches.

EAGER TO FINISH CIVIL DEFENSE JOB, KELLY SAYS

Wants to Clear Slums and Open Subway.

BY GEORGE TAGGE.

At one of his few scheduled campaign appearances, Mayor Kelly last night said that he is running for reëlection after 10 years in office in order to "finish the job" as civilian defense coördinator for the Chicago metropolitan area. Nearly all of his ward speeches have been made by surprise visits, which keep ward committeemen on their toes.

The mayor found the auditorium of Robert Emmet school, Madison street and Pine avenue, packed with about 800 persons. Benjamin S. Adamowski, former majority leader of the Illinois house and ex-foe of Kelly, and Ald. William J. Lancaster [37th] were other speakers.

"This is more than an ordinary campaign because I'm in the middle of civilian defense," Mayor Kelly said. "Chicago has the best civilian defense in the country, with more than 500,000 citizens enrolled and trained.

A Civic Job to Complete.

"I believe we have a job here in building up morale and making the public realize that we are in a war. I'm running for this office to finish that job and also to finish a civic job.

"We have a program to do away with slums. We have plans to open the subway, and soon. We have plans to bring new highways into the city from various directions. Chicago is not a sick city. It is a beautiful city."

The mayor said there are no labor troubles in Chicago "because of the intelligent leaders of labor." On Wednesday he said Chicago received the national award for having the best traffic record in the country.

'Wonderful Mothers in Chicago.'

"We have wonderful schools and wonderful vocational schools," he said. "We have wonderful mothers in Chicago, and they're responsible for the fact that Chicago has the lowest juvenile delinquency rate in the country."

He charged again that Republicans on the the state commerce commission are blocking his plans to achieve better public transportation conditions, and urged the people to "get up on their hind legs and fight the 8 cent fare."

Adamowski declared that Republicans have tried to tear Mayor Kelly apart but have succeeded only in finding a fine record.

Challenges McKibbin on Taxes.

The Democratic organization yesterday challenged George B. McKibbin's statement that property taxes have risen 60 per cent under Mayor Kelly by producing figures showing the taxes paid by the Republican nominee for mayor on his own home at 4853 Kimbark avenue.

Assessor John S. Clark said that during the last three years of a Republican city administration, McKibbin's taxes averaged $554 a year. On the other hand, during the first three years of Mayor Kelly's administration McKibbin's taxes averaged $282 a year, or just slightly over half of what they had been, Clark said.

Figures Cited by Clark.

During the last three years under Mayor Kelly the G. O. P. nominee paid an average of $306 a year, or a decrease of 45 per cent from the Republican administration average, Clark said. These are Clark's figures:

Year.	Administration.	Taxes paid.
1928	Republican	$474
1929	Republican	567
1930	Republican	621
1931	Democratic	499
1932	Democratic	332
1933	Mayor Kelly	279
1934	Mayor Kelly	306
1935	Mayor Kelly	262
1936	Mayor Kelly	298
1937	Mayor Kelly	273
1938	Mayor Kelly	286
1939	Mayor Kelly	293
1940	Mayor Kelly	306
1941	Mayor Kelly	318

"Mr. McKibbin lives in a roomy, comfortable house on 52 feet of frontage in the exclusive Kenwood district," Clark said. "His neighbors are bankers and business executives. The district is regarded as the finest residential section of Chicago's south side.

"The 14 year record of the real estate taxes on Mr. McKibbin's own home clearly demonstrates and proves that real estate taxes in Chicago have not risen 60 per cent, as he would have our real estate owners believe."

Woman Defends Machine.

The so-called women's angle was given attention by the Democrats yesterday. Mrs. George R. Faust, who described herself in a radio broadcast as a housewife and mother of a son in the naval air force, as well as a new Democratic precinct captain, did not quarrel with the practice of calling the Kelly-Nash organization a "machine."

"We know what Mayor Kelly has done for Chicago and for its people," she said. "Call it a machine—but it has been a very human machine—and a very efficient machine.

"Let's not be hoodwinked by the cheap, sensational tactics being employed to scare people into believing lies. Ignore unproved statements. Let your own good judgment appraise the man and his record."

Takes Keg to Court

W. C. Fields with his rubber keg.

Los Angeles, Cal., April 1 (AP).—With a small rubber keg under his arm, Film Comedian W. C. Fields came to court today to defend a $20,000 suit brought by Harry Yadkoe, who charged he offered Fields a snake story and some gags in 1938 which the comedian used and didn't pay for. The keg, said Fields, contained "snake medicine—in case of an adverse decision."

'KELLY TERMITE' ASSERTS MAYOR GAVE NO ORDERS

J. M. Cleary Tells of Term on U. of I. Board.

James M. Cleary, an advertising man and former University of Illinois trustee, broadcast a speech last night titled "My Experiences as a 'Kelly-Nash Termite'."

A Democrat, Cleary said that while he was a newspaper reporter covering the state senate he helped university trustees with appropriations and legislation. Partly as a result of this, he said, he was recommended for a trusteeship by the alumni association, and he was accepted by the Kelly-Nash organization. During his six years as a trustee the Kelly-Nash organization never asked him for a favor, he said.

"Gov. Green began to inject politics into the operations of the board of trustees as soon as he became governor," Cleary said. "He began giving orders to the newly elected Republican trustees as to how they should vote.

Charges Dictation on Coal.

"Gov. Green attempted to dictate the source of our coal supply instead of having the purchase made from the low bidder as had been the invariable practice of the trustees. The Republican machine attempted to force a Republican politician into a high office in the university.

"Just now the educational zeal of the Barrett-Brooks-Lueder and Green group has been diverted from the wrecking of the normal school administration by personnel officers, and from finger-scorching interference with the University of Illinois, to a covetous concern for Chicago schools.

"That brings me to George McKibbin. George is a fine man, much too fine to be identified with his present malodorous political background and associates. No real friend of George McKibbin will want to see him mayor of Chicago as second choice candidate [after Rogey Faherty] of the Lueder-Brooks-Green-Barrett machine."

Sees Bossing of McKibbin.

As mayor, McKibbin would receive orders from these four Republican leaders, Cleary said.

"They say Ed Kelly is a boss," Cleary said. "Maybe so. He didn't try to boss me. But I would rather see as mayor of Chicago an honest, competent, efficient boss standing on his own feet and making his own decisions rather than a man who inevitably would be bossed by Dwight Green, Curly Brooks, George Barrett, and the president of the Manhattan brewery [Lueder]."

Judge Advocates' School to Open at Ann Arbor

Washington, D. C., April 1 (AP).—Establishment of a judge advocate general officer candidate school at the University of Michigan, Ann Arbor, was announced by the war department today. The first class will report June 1, and will include about 75 officer candidates.

AGED ELEVATED AND STREET CARS LAID TO KELLY

Durham Avers Mayor Preferred Subway.

Frank J. Durham.

Responsibility for inadequate street car and elevated service in Chicago was laid directly upon Mayor Kelly in a radio speech last night by Frank J. Durham, president of the Citizens' Transportation association.

"The mayor alone is responsible for the 30 year old cars on the surface lines," Durham alleged, "and for the wooden cars and the other dangerous hazards on the L. He alone has prevented and obstructed Chicago from having the finest, fastest and most modern transportation system in America."

Says New Cars Refused.

Durham, who has been a foremost opponent of the proposed unification of the elevated and surface lines, said that the mayor "at the last minute" had prevented the reorganization of the surface lines in 1935, and then refused to permit the management to spend part of its 30 million dollar fund for new and comfortable cars.

The company, in receivership, obtained court permission over the city's opposition to buy 83 cars now in use on Madison street, Durham said.

"These cars were a great success and cut travel time 20 per cent," he continued. "The surface lines wanted to buy hundreds more, but Mayor Kelly said: 'Nothing doing; you make no more improvements'."

In 1937, Durham averred, the mayor produced his own plan to tear up the street car and L tracks and substitute buses, "a pipe dream that cost the traction fund hundreds of thousands of dollars." Durham said that when this dream failed, the surface lines agreed to spend the millions for improvements if the city would use the 70 million dollar traction fund to buy and rehabilitate the L.

Car Riders Forgotten.

"If Mayor Kelly had any interest in the car riders and their safety, he would have accepted this proposal," Durham said. "But there was a subway in prospect. A subway is just another sewer, dressed up a bit. Eight miles of subway, when and if completed, will have cost 80 millions—and will serve not more than 10 per cent of the people who ride the cars."

CHILD'S LEG BROKEN.

650 QUIT WORK OVER 2 JOBS IN FORD WAR PLANT

Preparations for war production at the Ford Motor company plant, 12600 Torrence avenue, were halted yesterday when 650 members of the United Automobile Workers of America refused to return to their jobs after lunch. They gathered in the plant dining room until 3 p. m., when Lt. George Barnes, head of the police labor detail, chased them out of the building.

Both company and union officials said the work stoppage resulted from a dispute about placing of two men, formerly employed as plant guards, into jobs as paint mixers and sprayers. The men formerly were members of the union, but withdrew several months ago with the intention of joining an independent union of plant protection workers.

When UAW union members decided to halt work as a protest, E. M. Buell, superintendent of the plant, summoned J. A. Adams, union president, and asked him to tell the demonstrators to leave the plant. Buell said Adams declined and as a result was discharged. Adams denied refusing to carry out the order, asserting he was taken out of the plant without an opportunity to talk to the men in the dining hall. Adams said members of the union will not work today, but will meet tonight at 13334 Baltimore avenue to consider their next move.

GOVERNOR CALLS UPON WOMEN TO ELECT M'KIBBIN

Wife of Nominee Adds Plea Before 2,000.

The two persons who know George B. McKibbin best spoke yesterday in behalf of the Republican nominee for mayor. They assured more than 2,000 women at a mass meeting in the La Salle hotel that his election would mean the end of the alliance between crime and politics in Chicago. The speakers were Gov. Green and Mrs. McKibbin.

They shared the platform with the Republican nominee at one of the largest women's political meetings of the campaign, sponsored jointly by the women's division of the Cook County Republican committee and the Independent Women's Committee for McKibbin for Mayor. State Rep. Bernice Van Der Vries [7th], chairman of the women's division, presided and introduced the speakers.

Governor Extols McKibbin.

"Next Tuesday, you will have an opportunity to do something constructive about the government of the city of Chicago," Gov. Green told the women. "George B. McKibbin is the symbol of that opportunity, for by electing him you place in the mayor's office, for the first time in more than a decade, a man of great administrative ability, a liberal humanitarian, a man who stands foursquare for honesty and decency, and for the traditional free American form of government, for which we are fighting today."

Green commended McKibbin for putting the state on a firm financial basis during his two years as director of finance for Illinois. He contended that as mayor, the Republican nominee would do the same for Chicago and would relieve taxpayers of their present heavy burden. McKibbin stands for the end of corruption in government, he maintained.

"We have talked to you about the city hall's scandalous 10 year administration of the Chicago public schools," the governor said. "We have shown you how the unprecedented waste and graft, the crooked public works contracts, and city hall spoils politics have fastened upon the people of Chicago the highest tax rate in the United States. And we have revealed to you the story of Corruption, Inc., that unholy alliance, that open partnership between the masters of the underworld crime and the city hall political machine. We have disclosed facts, and will continue to do so, that make it imperative for every voter to go to the polls April 6 and beat the machine by voting for George B. McKibbin for mayor."

McKibbin Thanks Women.

Thunderous applause greeted McKibbin as he took his place behind the rostrum. He thanked the women for their enthusiasm and maintained that it will be the women of the city who will elect him next Tuesday.

"Every one said that the women are going to swing the election and I know that they are now," he asserted. "The reason is obvious. The issue in this campaign is one that women will fight for, good, clean, honest government. The vast majority of the voters, and 60 per cent of them are women, want a clean, decent administration and I intend to give it to them. My 11 weeks campaign has convinced me that the people of Chicago want a change of government and they want the city run on an economical and efficient basis."

Right Candidate, Wife Says.

Poised and confident, Mrs. McKibbin told of the days of the suffragette movement, in which she participated, and recalled how at that time the women never dreamed they would control the voting power of the city, state, and nation.

"Today, ours is the power and the privilege to put the candidates we want in office," she said. "Women, I firmly believe, will vote for the right candidate if thoroly aroused. This time, we have the right candidate for mayor who will take an interest in our homes and our schools. You can take my word for it. I know."

Bruno Gerlowski, 41 years old, of 3202 South Aberdeen street, was found dead in his home yesterday by his mother, Mrs. Caroline Gerlowski. His throat had been cut.

WARNS OF PLOT TO STEAL VOTES OF SERVICE MEN

Barrett Tells How to Thwart Thieves.

Corrupt politicians are prepared to steal the votes of 50,000 service men and others absent from the city during next Tuesday's mayoral election, Atty. Gen. George F. Barrett warned yesterday. In instructions sent to thousands of volunteer poll watchers, Barrett told how the vote thieves can be thwarted.

"Compare the applicant's signature carefully with that on his permanent registration card," Barrett advised. "That will head off floaters who attempt to vote for persons in military service, for dead persons or for those who have moved without informing the election board of their change of address.

"By this simple device you can keep 50,000 false votes from being cast."

Right to Ask Questions.

He informed the watchers they have a right to ask any questions pertaining to honest elections. "If any one tries to prevent you from carrying out your duties, call Randolph 8600, my office, and a member of my staff will be rushed to your precinct," he said. Any question concerning election instructions will be answered by Albert J. Meserow, his assistant, Barrett added.

The volunteers also were told to be on the lookout for chain voting, short penciling, and ballot box stuffing.

In chain balloting, a ballot already marked is given to the conniving voter as he enters the polling place, the attorney general explained. In the booth he folds this ballot, hands it in, and is paid for his vote when he delivers the unmarked ballot he has just received legitimately.

Important to Examine Boxes.

Vote manipulators often spoil ballots cast for their foes by marking them with short pencils concealed in their hands. One method of ballot box stuffing is to tape a sheaf of already marked ballots to the inside of the lid, whence they drop down as the box is handled during the day. Watchers should examine ballot boxes minutely when the polls open, he warned.

News that trained manipulators were planning to operate thruout the city caused the joint civic committee on elections and the honest ballot committee to augment their forces so as to man all precincts.

County Judge Edmund K. Jarecki said yesterday that he is cautioning election officials to be especially watchful next Tuesday because of the fact that a large vote is expected.

State Pay Roll Yields $370,380 in Victory Tax

LITTLE MONEY BET ON MAYORAL RACE, CITY GAMBLERS SAY

Little money is being bet on the mayoral election, Chicago gamblers said last night.

At the start of the campaign odds of 5 to 1 were offered on Mayor Edward J. Kelly's chances to defeat George B. McKibbin, his Republican opponent. Later the odds were reported down to 11 to 5.

Yesterday, the only bets reported were on the margin of Kelly's victory. Even money wagers were offered by Kelly backers that the mayor would beat McKibbin by 100,000 votes.

HOUSE PASSES 63 MILLION BILL FOR WAR OFFICE

Washington, D. C., April 1 (AP).—Without debate and by unanimous vote, the house passed and sent to the senate today a $63,032,683 appropriation bill for civil functions of the war department for the fiscal year starting July 1.

The bulk of the funds is earmarked for maintenance and improvement of existing river and harbor projects and for flood control work in the Mississippi river. For general flood control projects, only a token appropriation of $100 was made, with the understanding that resumption of this work on a large scale will be undertaken after the war.

No attempt was made to insert a $44,000,000 item for construction of the Florida barge canal which the appropriations committee turned down yesterday by a vote of 21 to 19. Backers of the canal project are expected to make their fight for the appropriation when the bill reaches the senate floor.

HERE IS YOUR CALENDAR FOR APRIL RATIONS

Michael F. Mulcahy, Chicago metropolitan area director of the office of price administration, noted yesterday the days that should be circled on the April rationing calendar:

April 10—Last day for retailers, wholesalers, and processors of canned and processed fruits and vegetables to register with the OPA under the point rationing system.

April 12—Period 4 fuel oil coupons expire.

April 25—Coffee stamp No. 26, good for one pound, expires.

Mulcahy urged motorists holding A cards to complete their first tire inspection immediately. The deadline was March 31.

Frick had been in poor health for several years and was unmarried.

TIME EXTENDED ON 7TH DISTRICT BALLOT RECOUNT

James C. Moreland, Republican who is contesting the reëlection of Rep. Leonard W. Schuetz of the 7th congressional district, announced yesterday the national house has granted a time extension to June 12 for a recount of ballots in 400 challenged precincts of the district, biggest in the United States.

The extension was sought because of the Chicago election board's pre-occupation with the mayoral and aldermanic elections, said Harry S. Ditchburne, attorney for Moreland. He estimated it will take six months or more to complete the formalities of the contest.

Schuetz was reëlected by 1,975 votes, the official canvass showed. Moreland declared that a proper count in the 400 precincts he cited will show him winner by 1,000 votes.

Mayor Joins with Serbs in Tribute to Guerrillas

Mayor Kelly urged Chicagoans to salute the Chetnik guerrilla bands led by Gen. Draja Mihailovitch, whose "glorious deeds" typify the spirit of the allied nations, in a speech last night in front of the Apollo theater, where a film depicting Chetnik activities was being shown. The mayor also read a proclamation which declared that yesterday was Chetnik day. The remainder of the program consisted of folk songs by Serbian singing groups in native costume under the sponsorship of the Serbian National Council of Defense.

BARR OPPOSES BILL TO REPEAL BENCH PENSIONS

Quality of Judges Would Decline, He Says.

Sen. R. J. Barr.

Sen. Richard J. Barr [R., Joliet], dean of the Illinois legislature and author of the 1919 judges' retirement act, said yesterday that he is opposed to the bill to repeal the 1941 judges' retirement law. The bill was favorably reported for passage by the house committee on efficiency and economy Tuesday.

"Men generally become judges when they are at the peak of their law practice," Sen. Barr said. "After being on the bench for 12 years—the period required to qualify for benefits under the 1941 law—it is virtually impossible for them to build up another successful law practice.

"In most cases the judges are elderly when they retire. The result of Illinois being without a judges' retirement plan would be to get lower grade men for the bench."

Backs Pension for Widows.

Sen. Barr is sponsoring a bill in the legislature to provide pensions for judges' widows providing they had been married for at least 10 years preceding the husband's death. They would be eligible for benefits at the age of 55 [compared with 60 for judges], but widows could receive only one-half of the amount to which their spouses would have been entitled.

Judge Rudolph F. Desort of the Superior court said yesterday that few judges take advantage of the present retirement pension law.

Only one judge out of the 92 in Cook county has availed himself of a pension, Judge Desort said. This is significant in view of the fact that the average age of this large group of judges is past the minimum age of 60 required for benefits, he said.

Other judges admitted that they want to remain on the bench as long as they are able, saying that the pension holds no attraction for them beyond the security it offers against indigency. The 50 judges of the Superior, Circuit, Probate, and County courts receive $15,000 a year. The 36 Municipal court judges get $10,000 a year and the chief justice $12,000.

Cites Error in Estimates.

The judges said that an actuary who calculated the cost of the present law at $408,000 a year for the first 20 years was gravely in error. They said he must have based his figures on an assumption that every judge would retire on a pension the day he became eligible, whereas all have continued working as long as possible—usually until death.

Actual costs of the plan for the eight years ending with 1940 averaged only $33,307 a year, they said. During the first 14 months that the 1941 law was in operation, judges' contributions were $43,295 and state contributions were $76,519, which was $85,190 more than was paid out. Under the 1941 law judges who participate pay 2½ per cent of their salaries. Under the 1919 law, which was repealed, they paid nothing.

More than half of the 48 states have judges' retirement plans. Six of them place the retirement salaries upon a contributing basis.

Charge OPA 'Long Hairs' Hinder Victory Gardeners

Washington, D. C., April 1 (AP).—Rep. John Taber [R., N. Y.] said today that "long hairs" in the office of price administration and the bureau of agricultural economics are making it difficult for victory gardeners to raise potatoes. They have ordered, he said, that seed potatoes be sold in packages of 50 pounds or more, a quantity the average victory gardener cannot use.

KIDNAPER, SHOT, ELUDES POLICE AGAIN IN CHASE

Fourth Member of Gang Held as Robber.

John Hanuska.

A man believed to be John Bohencha, 25 years old, ex-convict and leader of the gang of young hoodlums who early Wednesday kidnaped and robbed three prominent young Lake Forest residents, was believed to have been wounded as he led police in a wild chase thru south side alleys last night.

The suspect was first seen by Detectives George Kurcharski and John Nash of the Chicago Lawn station, walking in 59th street near California avenue. When the detectives sought to question him he darted into an alley.

Screams After Shot.

Nash fired several shots at the fleeing man, who screamed, stumbled, then regained his stride, and kept on running.

A spent bullet from a police gun struck a passerby in the hand. He was Keith Koler, 14, of 2711 West 59th street.

Nearly 20 squad cars from the Chicago Lawn station, the Central Detective bureau, and park district patrols were sped to the vicinity, and the suspect was again seen emerging from an alley at 57th street and Francisco avenue.

He turned and ran back into the alley as several squad cars bore down upon him. Twisting and turning thru the shadows and areaways of the alley, the suspect managed to elude his pursuers again, altho several more shots were fired at him.

Narrowness of the alleys hampered movements of the pursuing squad cars, and the chase was taken up by policemen on foot as well as in the automobiles.

Runs from Gunfire.

At 61st and Whipple streets police had another glimpse of their quarry, and more shots were fired at him. Ducking into another alley, the suspect again lost police.

Additional squads were dispatched to the neighborhood, and all streets and alleys in the vicinity were placed under surveillance.

Earlier police had arrested John Hanuska, 19, 2234 Jackson boulevard. Lt. Kyran Phelan, head of the robbery detail, said Hanuska was arrested in his room after police had received information that he had been a member of the gang, but was not present in the kidnaping. No weapons were found in his room, he said.

Lt. Phelan said Hanuska had implicated the three now in custody and the two still at large in confessing 15 robberies.

Under questioning by police Hanuska admitted having accompanied the gang on at least 15 robberies of cab drivers and garages. By late yesterday afternoon he had been identified by six cab drivers, who signed complaints against all six members of the gang.

Late yesterday evening Assistant State's Atty. George W. Field of Lake county announced that he had signed 10 complaints against the five kidnapers, charging them with robbery with a gun and larceny of an automobile. Warrants were issued by Justice of the Peace Harry Hoyt of Waukegan and sent to Chicago.

The gang began its criminal forays Tuesday night by stealing a car at Gage park fieldhouse on the southwest side. Later they robbed a priest and stole his car and drove it to Lake Forest where they abducted a 17 year old girl and two youths.

Three Caught Quickly.

They drove the three victims back to Chicago and finally released them after a wild automobile ride thru the city. The Lake Forest people were Miss Helen Priebe, 210 North Maple court; Kent Clow Jr., 18, of 550 East Deerpath road, and Thomas Stanton Armour, 18, of 771 Washington road.

Three of the hoodlums were captured soon after Clow and Armour notified police of the kidnaping, but the other two escaped in another car.

Those held at police headquarters are Raymond Weglowski, 17, 1443 West 51st street; Robert Kravish, 17, 5608 Honoré street, and Richard Schenold, 19, 2417 West 51st street. The two still at large are believed to be Bohencha and Joe Jarkubic, 19 years old.

STEALS $50 AND CHECKS.

Pekin avenue police are searching for a burglar who stole $50 and $900 in checks from the safe in the office of the Truck and Tractor Parts company at 18 East 25th street.

Two Confess 75 Store Burglaries

One a Deserter

Two men, one an army deserter, yesterday confessed to 75 burglaries of chain groceries, after they had been arrested by Town Hall police Wednesday night as suspects.

They are John Machul, 23, of 1521 East 65th street, who admitted he deserted from Camp Robinson, Arkansas, July 25, and Rudolph Dreksler, 23, of 5232 Altgeld street.

Machul had a loaded revolver in his possession when he was seized, and police found a rifle in Dreksler's room, Acting Capt. William Drury of the Town Hall station said.

Machul was arrested nearby shortly after a grocery at 3229 Broadway had been burglarized. Dreksler, who fled as detectives approached, was seized later.

Capt. Drury said the men admitted robbing about 75 stores of loot aggregating several thousands of dollars in the last nine months. Included in the robbery Wednesday night, which he said they admitted, were cigarets, bacon, and pork loins.

Both men have records, police said. Machul on June 5, 1942, was released from probation so that he could join the army, deserting a month later, Capt. Drury said.

EACH DENTIST'S PATIENT QUOTA IS SET AT 2,500

Each dentist will have to minister to the toothaches of 2,500 civilians under a war time schedule developed by the war man power commission, the American Dental association disclosed yesterday. The war time ratio of 1 to 2,500 compares with a peace time ratio of 1 to 1,835 on July 1, 1940. The scarcity of dentists will result from induction of 6,689 practicing dentists into the army and navy this year, in addition to dental school graduates.

COUNTY FIGURES MILLION INCOME ON PAUPER LIST

Relief Funds of State Actually to Pay.

BY WILLIAM SHINNICK.

Cook county officials explained yesterday the basis for their belief that a credit item of one million dollars set up in their budget would be collectible—ostensibly from other taxing bodies in the county, but in reality from the state relief funds.

The revenue item is carried as "township pauper cases" and contemplates that the city and the townships outside the city limits will pay fees for the care of their residents sent to the Oak Forest infirmary and, for persons on relief, to County hospital. Each of the governmental units has been billed for its proportionate share of the costs.

Cook County Carries Load.

Oak Forest's operating costs are figured at about $1,400,000 a year, and about 90 per cent of the sick and aged there are from Chicago. Members of the Cook county budget survey called attention to the fact that every other Illinois county assesses costs of such institutions to the smaller governmental units; here the county corporate fund has carried the burden alone.

Reports of the survey group, headed by Harland C. Stockwell of the Civic federation, indicate that the costs, under present law, should be charged to the city and the townships. However, the county board is to sponsor a slight change in the present statute on paupers as insurance against any claim of illegality.

Clayton F. Smith, president of the county board, and County Auditor Lee Howard said there was no reason for the city or the other taxing bodies to complain; that they would not have to take anything from their tax funds to pay the bills rendered; that they would only turn the bills over to the Illinois public aid commission.

Smith Explains Plan.

"We are trying to bring the conduct of the infirmary and the hospital into line with what other counties are doing," said Smith. "We must either get more revenue or get rid of some expense. Unless something is done, we will have great difficulties in raising funds to buy supplies. This seems both a just and a feasible solution."

At present indigents on some form of state relief may enter a private institution, continue to collect their checks, and use them to pay in part the costs of their care; if they enter a county institution, relief immediately ceases.

GARDENERS GET FREE WATER AND FLOOD OF IDEAS

Mayor's Step Breaks Dike on Aid Plans.

Mayor Kelly appeared before the city council finance committee yesterday to propose that the city provide free water for war gardens. The committee unanimously agreed and sent instructions to Oscar E. Hewitt, commissioner of public works, to work out a plan.

Then the mayor found out he was a piker when it came to proposing aid for gardeners. The aldermen had a variety of plans, including the following:

Proposes Hauling of Dirt.

Ald. Walter J. Orlikoski [35th] suggested the city might help the gardeners out thru a campaign against rats "which eat the gardens."

Ald. James R. Quinn [50th] proposed that the city investigate the possibility of hauling in some "good black dirt" for the gardens. He said there is good dirt along McCormick road and that the city might get permission from the sanitary district to haul it to victory gardens.

Ald. James B. Bowler [25th], committee chairman, said he had talked to Lloyd Johnson, commissioner of streets and electricity, about providing tractors and plows to help prepare ground for the gardens and that Johnson had promised to find out what tractors and plows might be obtained.

Finally some aldermen suggested that proposals were going too far. Ald. Orlikoski asserted "we're sticking our necks out by promising a lot of things we can't do." Ald. William T. Murphy [17th] said that "if we use city trucks to haul black dirt we can't get the city cleaned up." An unusually severe winter, he said, has left alleys in a "very dirty condition," and this refuse will be clogging sewers unless it is hauled away.

Only One Question.

Ald. Bowler then reminded his committee a second time that the only question before them was free water for the gardeners. He said he would write a letter to Hewitt asking him to carry out a "free water" plan.

In meeting this assignment Hewitt may encounter some problems. The aldermen suggested that gardeners be permitted to take their water from fire hydrants. Fire hydrants average 300 feet apart and proper connections and sufficient hose will be hard to find. The aldermen also said gardeners might be allowed to take water without charge from service stubs which already may be found in many vacant lots.

Pair of Very Young Sailors Go for an Evening Cruise

After two boys, each 6 years old, boarded a 40 foot motor launch moored in the river at 25th street and Ashland avenue last night, they found themselves adrift. Bridge Tender Frank Wilson noticed them and called police, who brought the young sailors and their ship back to shore. The boys, Charles Johnson of 2046 Coulter street and Leonard Koubenec, 1823 Cermak road, were turned over to their parents.

CONGRESS STOPS TAKING ORDERS; TRIES DICTATING

Goes All Out in Drive on Bungling.

BY JOHN FISHER.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., April 1.—The new congress is breaking all records in the intensity and scope of investigations it has undertaken.

In three months the 78th congress has demonstrated that it intends to regain functions yielded to the chief executive in the heyday of the New Deal. It has not only legislated to repeal the President's $25,000 salary limit and to override various other phases of executive policy, but has also ordered sweeping investigations into the operations of the executive branch.

Now Is Dictating.

Instead of accepting orders from the President, congress now seems to be trying to dictate the lead for the White House to follow. There are vivid examples of this. For instance, congress has refused to accept the post-war plans fostered by the New Deal. Showing its low regard for the national resources planning board, No. 1 agency aspiring to Utopia, congress has cut off funds to continue the board's existence, even tho headed by the President's uncle, Frederic A. Delano.

The senate has established its own special committee under Sen. Walter F. George [D., Ga.], anti-New Dealer, to study and make recommendations on post-war economic planning. Similar proposals are before the house.

Byrd Group Forceful.

Recently the joint committee on reduction of nonessential federal expenditures, headed by Sen. Harry F. Byrd [D., Va.], another anti-New Dealer, investigated and found extravagant use of automobiles and tires within the government. Shortly after recommending tire pooling and drastic restrictions on operations of government cars, the budget bureau and the President followed with appropriate orders.

The Byrd committee recommended abolition of the CCC and the WPA. They were ordered abolished. Recently the committee has been investigating the FWA, the NYA, and the HOLC, and will soon issue its recommendations.

Could Save a Billion.

In its first year of operation, the Byrd committee could show a saving of 1 billion 313 million dollars in government expenditures. Contrary to contentions that congressional investigations are costly, the Byrd committee is just now on its second $10,000 appropriation.

The Truman committee of the senate has provided the foremost congressional inquiry of the war program. Its inquiry is on a continuing basis, and its reports are current and timely. It recently lambasted the deficiencies in food administration under Secretary of Agriculture Claude R. Wickard. He has been removed as administrator. The committee has inquired into and intervened during strike difficulties. The current agitation over labor's position and demands for higher wages will be covered by a report forthcoming shortly.

The committee has acted as a public watchdog in the war agencies, sparing no burocrat in lashing at confusion and mismanagement in the war setup.

Puerto Rico Action Forced.

An investigation into chaotic conditions in Puerto Rico under the governorship of Rexford Guy Tugwell, one of the original utopian planners, by a senate subcommittee headed by Sen. Dennis Chavez [D., N. M.] along with the legislation by Sen. Arthur H. Vandenberg [R., Mich.] to oust Tugwell, forced the President to order plans for the island to choose its own governor.

A sweeping inquiry into the food situation, with its manifold evidences of mismanagement, as to labor, machinery, and price policies, is now under way in the senate committee on agriculture and forestry.

A subcommittee of the agriculture committee headed by Sen. Guy M. Gillette [D., Ia.] has also been inquiring into administration failure to consider farm products more fully in producing synthetic rubber.

House Inquiries Underway.

In the house, a number of important investigations are just getting under way, but they give promise of sensational disclosures. A special committee under Rep. Howard W. Smith [D., Va.] has been created to study complaints and evidences of abuse of powers by the executive departments and agencies.

Another special committee under Rep. Eugene E. Cox [D., Ga.] is preparing a searching inquiry into the federal communications commission and alleged abuses of authority in its operations.

A resolution by Rep. Charles A. Halleck [R., Ind.] for an investigation of the government's order cutting newsprint consumption and proposals for grade labelling and discarding of private brands, has been approved by the rules committee and is awaiting action in the house. The Dies committee on un-American activities, of course, has already established its record for public service.

A special subcommittee of the house appropriations committee has also been selected to investigate charges by Rep. Martin Dies [D., Tex.], chairman of the committee probing subversive activities, against 39 specified "crackpot burocrats" with alleged communistic leanings.

There is a resolution before the rules committee, awaiting action, for a house inquiry into the government's suit against the Associated Press. The resolution was introduced by Rep. Forest A. Harness [R., Ind.], and would create a special committee. A similar proposal by Rep. Paul W. Shafer [R., Mich.] would have the house judiciary committee conduct the investigation.

A large black dog ran wild on the Calhoun Elementary school playground, 2850 Jackson boulevard, during recess yesterday, biting seven children. The seven taken to County hospital by Warren avenue police were Beverly Dailey, 7 years old, and her sister, Virginia, 10, of 2912 Van Buren street; Herschel Barnes, 6, of 2843 Van Buren street; Shirley Bonnar, 8, of 149 South Whipple street; Mary Miller, 6, of 3112 Jackson boulevard; Edward Dugan, 6, of 327 South Richmond street, and Patsy Sherwood, 8, of 2707 Wilcox street. Virginia Dailey, Patsy Sherwood, and Shirley Bonnar were bitten on the legs; the others on the hands. The dog escaped.

MOVE REPORTED FOR U. S. ADS AS PRESS 'SUBSIDY'

Assert Bill Would Spend 25 Million a Year.

[Copyright: 1943: By the New York Times.]

Washington, D. C., April 1.—Sen. John H. Bankhead II. [D., Ala.] is preparing, in an atmosphere of secrecy, a bill which would prescribe the payment of what some congressional quarters view as government subsidies, in the form of treasury department advertising, to a large segment of the American press, it was learned today.

Provision is being made that at least one-half of a 25 million to 30 million dollar annual fund would be distributed among weekly newspapers in small town and rural areas.

It is reported that present plans call for the measure's introduction within a week, with a lobby representing sections of the rural press scheduled to be opened shortly after.

Treasury officials are said not to have been consulted on the legislation, but it is understood the project has won support in some administration quarters.

Bankhead Keeps Silent.

Bankhead refused today to discuss the bill or to identify those outside congress associated in promoting the new type advertising campaign. In other quarters it was asserted that the plan originated among publishers of Alabama and Georgia weeklies.

It was said that persons with whom the program has been discussed have advised against it.

Observers cite recent house opposition to the war security bill as indications congress is particularly suspicious of moves that might infringe upon the freedom of the press. They predict stiff opposition for the Bankhead proposal.

Fear 350 Million Spending.

It was asserted in one informed quarter today that a campaign such as the measure appears to envision would cost, not 25 to 30 million a year, but an estimated 350 million in order to be thoroly effective as an advertising program.

It was reported that the bill is divided into four sections, the first of which would provide that the secretary of the treasury pay newspapers between 25 and 30 million each fiscal year for advertising the sale of bonds and notes and for giving public information and making arguments for such sales.

Secondly, it was said, the bill would prescribe an equitable division of expenditures such as would yield the best financial results, in the judgment of the treasury head. In this section it is provided that not less than one half of the fund go to weekly newspapers.

Would Set Up Rules.

Third, the treasury secretary would make regulations to put the program into effect. The fourth section would authorize the appropriation of up to 30 million.

Fear was expressed in some quarters that the payments for advertising of material which is treated generally as news would constitute mere subsidies with possible attending influence upon the freedom of newspapers.

Apprehension also was voiced that approval of the Bankhead program would leave no guarantees against a spreading of this form of advertising to other departments.

It was pointed out that under the plan an equitable distribution of half the proposed 30 million fund would give a $1,500 advertising order to each country weekly, or approximately one fifth the annual gross advertising revenue of the average paper.

It was feared such advertising accounts would multiply until the government became the largest client of weekly papers.

At the treasury department it was emphasized that the department had operated on the basis of paying for no advertising.

In quarters where the Bankhead proposals were supported, it was pointed out that a similar program has been put into effect in Canada.

War Romance

[TRIBUNE Photo.]

Pvt. Patrick Beresford-Beck and his bride, the former Margaret Law.

A war romance yesterday united in marriage a United States army private and a blonde British WRN—a member of the women's royal naval service, the equivalent of the American WAVES.

Principals were Miss Margaret Law, 22 years old, attached to the British naval liaison service in New York City, and Pvt. Patrick Beresford-Beck, 28, of Camp Phillips, Kansas. They met a year ago in New York. Pvt. Beresford-Beck is a former New York art dealer.

They were married by Judge George L. Quilici of the Municipal court, in the office of County Clerk Michael J. Flynn, and in the presence of her father, Louis Law, and her brother, Peter. At the conclusion of the ceremony, Judge Quilici said: "This is symbolic of the unity of democracy. Our blessings go to you, along with the hope of a speedy victory, so that you may live out your lives together in peace and in good fortune."

GOVERNORS OF 11 STATES TO OPEN CHICAGO PARLEY

Post-War Work First Topic Today.

The midwest's stability as a steadying influence against quack doctrines and "isms" will be told by realists today at the governors' conference in the Palmer House. Ten governors have assured their host, Gov. Dwight H. Green, of their attendance at the two day meeting.

Unemployment, financial stresses, farm problems, educational outlooks, and after the war reconstruction days will occupy the governors' attention today.

Governors to Attend.

The governors assuring Gov. Green of their presence are:

John C. Vivian [R., Colo.], Keen Johnson [D., Ky.], Harry F. Kelly [R., Mich.], Harold E. Stassen [R., Minn.], F. C. Donnell [R., Mo.], Dwight Griswold [R., Neb.], M. Q. Sharpe [R., S. D.], John W. Bricker [R., O.], Walter S. Goodland [R., Wis.], and B. B. Hickenlooper [R., Ia.].

Gov. Green welcomed early arrivals last night in a pre-conference gathering in which the nation's more pressing problems were considered. Gov. Kelly of Michigan, a World war veteran, outlined what he believes should be the meeting's principal concern: A call on the federal government for a program so the states may be guided in deciding their respective programs.

Problems of Farmers.

Michigan's governor will lead the discussion today of post-war plans by the states on the unemployment problem. State budgets and financial conduct will be analyzed by Carl H. Chatters, executive director of the Municipal Finance Officers association, talking on "Action Now for Post-War Financial Stability." At the luncheon Gov. Bricker of Ohio will speak on "The Opportunity and Responsibility of the States."

Gov. Hickenlooper of Iowa will outline the post-war problems of agriculture and C. Tetrus Peterson, Nebraska legislator, will tell of legislative and taxing problems at the afternoon session. Clarence A. Dykstra, University of Wisconsin president, will discuss post-war educational and welfare facilities.

SPANGLER SEES 4TH TERM SNARE IN WALKER IDEA

Derides Suggestion of a 'Short Campaign.'

BY WALTER TROHAN.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., April 1.—Chairman Harrison E. Spangler of the Republican national committee, today derided as a fourth term snare the suggestion of Frank C. Walker, Democratic national committee chairman, for short presidential campaigns in 1944.

The proposal for telescoping the coming presidential campaign was advanced by Walker, who is also postmaster general, on his return from a transcontinental swing which is widely believed to have been undertaken in behalf of a fourth term.

In advancing the suggestion Walker was seen as following the President's third term strategy. On Nov. 28, 1943, during a vacation at his second home in Warm Springs, Ga., Mr. Roosevelt semi-anonymously advanced the proposal that both parties cut short the 1940 campaign.

F. D. R. Shunned Credit.

At the time, Mr. Roosevelt instructed reporters not to attribute the move to him, saying that they might credit the story to a source close to the White House. At a roadside press conference, he recalled that he had been a late campaigner in 1932 and 1936, not starting until six weeks or so before the election, exclusive of his various "nonpolitical" inspection trips.

In dismissing Walker's repetition of the plea that the party campaigns be held back until September or October of 1944, Spangler said:

"It is a matter of regret that the New Deal leaders have waited to make the proposal of late political conventions until after their candidate has already been selected. The conference of the Democratic national committee leaders at the White House, a few weeks ago, indicated that the New Deal party has already had its real convention.

Campaign Under Way.

"The announcement then made at the front door of the White House coupled with the trip of a cabinet member around the country conferring with New Deal prospective delegates, is evidence beyond any doubt that they have started their fourth term presidential campaign. The suggestion now is like shadow boxing.

"They will, of course, go thru the form as they did in their third term convention in 1940, when their delegates merely danced to the music furnished by a few New Deal band masters.

"The Republican party will conduct a free convention controled by the delegates selected by its rank and file. It will, at all times, in its activities remember that we have a tragic war to win and our campaigning will be conducted with all the dignity of a great and vital American cause."

Shuns Talk of Candidate.

Altho he revealed himself as following Mr. Roosevelt's third term strategy, Walker shied away from discussion of the President's 1944 candidacy. He was asked bluntly whether he wants the President to run for a fourth term at a hastily summoned press conference.

"I'd rather not discuss candidates at this time," he said. "It's too early. It would distract from the war."

He then ignored a question asking when will be the proper time to discuss candidates, by stating that he would like to see an agreement on short party campaigns "conducted on a high plane."

Walker spent an uncomfortable half hour with reporters. He met a barrage of questions with a worried frown which deepened as reporters assailed his evasive answers.

The party chairman insisted that Democratic prospects for 1944 appear very good to him.

LA GUARDIA HAS SECURED FUTURE FOR LA GUARDIA

He'll Be N. Y. Mayor Even in Africa.

New York, April 1 [Special]. — The war will hold no financial terrors for New York's Mayor Fiorello La Guardia. When, as and if the world's largest city's chief executive dons the uniform of the army of the United States he will draw not only the salary of his rank, probably brigadier general, but will continue to hold title to the office of mayor.

He will continue, too, as a member of the New York City employés retirement system and his war service will count toward making his already high pension still higher.

Due for $17,000 Pension.

Even if he is forced to give up his absentee lordship over New York City's government, the $25,000 a year mayor can retire at any time —even from Africa — on a pension roughly estimated at $17,000 a year. Also, he may draw his $17,000 a year pension even while he's at or near the front, while already drawing roughly $6,000 as a brigadier.

Another ingenious arrangement in the plan, said to be already agreed upon, would allow Mrs. La Guardia to remain as mistress of Gracie mansion, New York's luxurious "residential city hall" on Gracie square.

Democrats Perk Up.

Envious Democrats today pointed to a flock of recent law passing which reads as if most of it were streamlined to perpetuate the mayor on the city's pay lists. They virtually allow the mayor to run the city from Africa or wherever he happens to be assigned. He will be no further from his office at city hall than the nearest cable office. But the Democrats, meanwhile, are showing signs of revival. Plans are already being laid to challenge the Ostertag act, which gives the mayor and his Fusion party a voting trust over the city until 1945, the day the mayor joins the army.

OPA MILK QUERY STIRS WISCONSIN GOVERNOR'S IRE

Gov. Walter S. Goodland, 80 years old, could not attend the recent governors' session at Des Moines, Ia., but said last night he felt obliged to attend today's gathering. "Some one at the OPA sent Gus Fry, head of our Wisconsin research bureau, an inquiry asking how many carloads and trainloads of canned milk the OPA should send into Wisconsin," the governor explained, "so I thought I would come down here and have my say-so." Wisconsin produces more milk and cans more milk than any other state.

SOMEWHERE IN AUSTRALIA, April 1 (AP).—In a brief but impressive ceremony, 387 members of the first graduating class of the United States army officer's candidate school were commissioned second lieutenants Monday. Within an hour after Lt. Gen. Walter Krueger had finished the main address, the oath of office was administered to the new officers and they headed for active duty.

HISTORIAN PREDICTS PEOPLE WILL DOOM 3D TERM AMBITION

Fred T. Wilson.

There never will be another third term President of the United States, Fred Taylor Wilson, Washington, D. C., attorney and historical writer, predicted yesterday in a talk before the Kiwanis club at Hotel Sherman.

"Franklin D. Roosevelt will be remembered as the only man in American history to be President three times; you will not have another," said Wilson, whose subject was "The Human Side of the Presidents."

He is the author of "Pen Pictures of the Presidents" and also of "Our Constitution and Its Makers."

"Herbert Hoover will grow in historical stature when future historians compare the fact that he did not accept a penny of salary for his own use with the way certain individuals of the present era commercialize their relationships to the White House," Wilson asserted.

After the meeting, Wilson declined to amplify his allusion to present commercializing of the Presidency. "I do not have to name names," he said.

In his luncheon address, Wilson did not offer his reasons for believing there would be no future third term President, but later he gave two: The people don't like it; and it will be prevented by constitutional amendment.

RUSSIANS SEIZE MORE TOWNS ON CAUCASUS FRONT

Gain on Novorossisk; Foil Nazi Blow Near Sevsk.

LONDON, April 2 [Friday]—(AP).—Russian troops have captured several localities in the drive to wipe out the Nazi Caucasian bridgehead at Novorossisk and have reduced another stronghold on the Smolensk front, Moscow announced early today.

The midnight communique also reported German troops had penetrated to the western outskirts of a populated place in the Sevsk area, 170 miles northwest of Nazi held Kharkov, but said a Russian counterattack threw back the enemy and killed 200 Germans.

The Germans announced the capture of Sevsk, 80 miles south of Bryansk, some time ago.

Capture Much Booty.

The resumed Russian Caucasian drive presumably was in the area of captured Anastasevskaya, 33 miles north of Novorossisk. The communique recorded by the soviet monitor said much booty was captured yesterday.

South of Bely on the central front, the Russians said they forced a German garrison into a hasty retreat after threatening to encircle it and killed 150 Germans.

Soviet artillery also supported an infantry operation which toppled another stronghold on the same front.

Hold Along Donetz.

In the sector east of axis held Kharkov the Russians continued to hold their defense line along the upper Donetz river. The communique said one German infantry company had been wiped out during the day in this sector.

The position along the long front was essentially unchanged except for the western Caucasian.

ENEMY VERSION.

The Germans yesterday said powerful Russian attacks in the Caucasus near Novorossisk were repulsed and that only local fighting took place on other sectors. In the last 10 days of March, the Germans said they destroyed 456 tanks. German planes were said to have sunk an enemy ship off Murmansk.

In one of its infrequent communiques, the Finnish high command said its detachments in the western Karelian isthmus destroyed an enemy strong point.

SERVICE COUNCIL FREES FIGHTING MEN OF WORRY

Fifty thousand Illinois men who have entered military service in the last two years have been enabled to devote their time and thoughts to preparing for or fighting in the war because of the advice and counsel of the Soldiers and Sailors Service council of Chicago.

Started late in March, 1941, with a small staff and small quarters at 140 South Dearborn street, the council has had to double its staff and office space to care for the appeals of service men or their families for aid. The service provided by the council is free.

In the first few months after organization the council received a few phone calls and a few letters daily. By July, 1941, word about the service had spread until the office staff was taxed to capacity. By the end of the year 15,000 cases had been handled. In the second year, just completed, the council has handled 35,000 cases.

The council is financed by a group of 60 individuals and business organizations. It has the coöperation of the American Red Cross, the Chicago and Illinois bar associations, the Council of Social Agencies, and the American Legion's Cook County council, which donates $1,000 yearly toward expenses. Salaries and the remainder of the expenses are borne by the sponsors.

COMMONS FIXES CATERERS' PAY; DEBATES 2 DAYS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, April 1. — Parliamentary opposition to the catering bill which fixes wages, working conditions, and hours for all catering establishments in the united kingdom collapsed today. Leaders of the opposition in the house of commons surrendered after two days of discussion over only four clauses of the bill. They said that if all the nearly 200 proposed amendments were discussed the debate would require 48 hours in committee and nine normal parliamentary days.

Several oppositionists expressed disappointment at the "unconditional surrender" and the "groveling before the [labor] minister," as it was described by T. Levy, Conservative.

Comm. R. T. Bower, Conservative, who had supported the opposition, accused commons of developing a "totalitarian outlook." Irving Albery, Conservative, also complained that "if the business of this house is going to be conducted along these lines then we might as well sit only once a week to hear the prime minister and that will be sufficient."

ALLIED AIRMEN BOMB JAP BASES ON BURMA FRONT

Hit Warehouses, Oil Depots, Railroads.

NEW DELHI, India, April 1 (AP).—United States and British aerial squadrons were credited in communiques today with destructive blows yesterday against oil installations, railway trackage and warehouses serving the Japanese invaders of Burma.

Mitchell and Liberator bombers struck at Pyinmana, on the Rangoon-Mandalay railway 150 miles south of Mandalay. Japanese fighters attempted to intercept the bombers and at least two of the enemy planes were shot down.

The previous day Mitchells destroyed machine shops and repair sheds at Maymyo, 35 miles northeast of Mandalay, while Curtiss fighters, equipped with light bombs, raided installations in northern Burma. One United States plane failed to return, a 10th United States air forces communique said.

British Hit Oil Depots.

Oil installations at Bhamo and Mandalay's rail yards were R. A. F. targets yesterday, a British communique said. It also said that a light British naval craft braved Japanese fire from the shore of the Mayu river, north of Akyab, to sink three or four Japanese motor launches Tuesday night.

Ten R. A. F. Hurricanes engaged 12 Japanese fighters in aerial duels over the Buthidaung area of Burma yesterday, the British said, and one enemy aircraft was destroyed.

From this operation and other offensive patrols the British said that three R. A. F. planes failed to return.

Chinese Stabilize Front.

CHUNGKING, China, April 1 (AP).—A Chinese army spokesman said today that the situation on the front in southern Hupeh province had been "very much stabilized and improved" in the last week.

One enemy force south of the former treaty port of Shasi on the Yangtze river has been "more or less destroyed," altho the Japanese still cling to Hwajung in Hunan province, near the shore of Lake Tungting, the spokesman said.

He reported severe fighting south of the Burma road where the Japanese attempted to take the town of Talo in Yunnan province near the Burma border.

JAPS TELL OF RAIDS.

A Japanese imperial headquarters announcement broadcast by the Tokio radio yesterday asserted that Japanese air units raiding in eastern India and along the Arakan coast in Burma destroyed 20 allied planes between March 26 and 30, sank one ship and damaged four others besides setting allied military installations ablaze. The claims were not confirmed by any allied source.

Report F. D. R. Approves Senators' African Trip

Washington, D. C., April 1 (AP).—President Roosevelt was reported today to have given tentative approval to a proposal that members of the senate war investigating committee make an inspection trip to the American-held front in North Africa. In letters to congressional leaders, the President was said to have urged that if such a trip is made, the inspection group be limited to four members of the committee, which is headed by Sen. Harry S. Truman [D., Mo.].

U. S. POST-WAR POLICIES WORRY ALLIES: WELLES

Says Other Nations Fear Repetition of 1919.

New York, April 1 (AP).—Undersecretary of State Sumner Welles today termed United States post-war policy a source of "one of the gravest doubts in the minds of the united nations."

Welles said in a broadcast address before the New York state chamber of commerce that the allies recall that after the 1918 victory the United States "withdrew from almost every form of practical coöperation" in reconstruction tasks.

Says Allies Seek Our Aims.

"Our allies are asking themselves now whether we will again follow that same course," Welles said. "In a very real sense the decision that will be made with regard to the renewal of the trade agreements act will be regarded by peoples thruout the world as an acid test of our future intentions."

Creation of a permanent peace is the nation's greatest single objective, Welles said, but added that "one of the gravest doubts that exists in the minds of the partners of the united nations today is the doubt as to what the policy of the United States will be when the victory is won."

Calls for Aid to Destitute.

He expressed conviction that unless the nation will help maintain peace "by joining in the exercise of police powers when that may be determined by international agreement to be necessary" and by joining in other forms of international coöperation, permanent peace is impossible.

This country must aid those made destitute by the war, "not only for humanitarian reasons but for reasons of purest self-interest," Welles said. He urged that devastated nations be placed on "a self-reliant and a self-sustaining basis as rapidly as possible," adding:

"From this standpoint, wise trade policies are essential. Foreign countries can attain a self-sustaining basis only if there are markets for their products. Full employment of our men and resources can be maintained only if there are markets for our products. In a larger sense, also, sound international trade policies are essential in relation to our vital interests."

170 ALLIED SHIPS BAGGED DURING MARCH — BERLIN

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

The German high command yesterday said Nazi naval and air forces sank at least 149 allied merchantmen, totaling 926,600 tons, three destroyers, eight submarines, and 10 lighter war craft in March. Of this total of 170 ships, which was without allied confirmation, submarines were said to have accounted for 138 merchant vessels, aggregating 851,600 tons, and one destroyer.

In addition, the two German services damaged 57 merchant ships, the communique said.

Allies Bag 8 Million Tons.

LONDON, April 1 (AP).—The allies sank, captured, or damaged an estimated 8,018,000 gross tons of axis merchant shipping from the start of the war until the end of February, the house of lords was told today. Undersecretary to the Admiralty Bruntisfield said the estimate included 4,027,000 gross tons of Italian shipping, 3,365,000 gross tons of German shipping, and 626,000 tons of ships belonging to axis satellites.

HONOR GUN CREW FOR RIPPING SUB; ONE CHICAGOAN

Washington, D. C., April 1 (AP).—The gun crew—one member of which was a Chicagoan—of a 30 year old American merchant ship seriously damaged a submarine at point-blank range in the Atlantic several months ago, the navy disclosed today in announcing decorations and citations for the gun crew's officer and men.

As the surfaced submarine closed on the ship, the Columbian, machine guns drove the Nazi crewmen from its deck and a heavy shell blasted the conning tower.

Ensign Merrill R. Stone, Nashville, Tenn., and William H. Albright, coxswain, Elizabeth, N. J., were awarded the silver star medal for directing the fight, and nine members of the crew were awarded letters of commendation. One of them was Joseph S. Lambert, seaman 1st class, 1538 Milwaukee avenue, Chicago.

FULL TIME WAR CABINET FOR BRITAIN URGED

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, April 1.—Demands for a reconstituted war cabinet composed entirely of ministers without other governmental duties were revived in the house of lords today by Publisher Beaverbrook. He filed notice that he would bring the subject before the peers for debate.

Beaverbrook's move marked the first time he has come out in direct opposition to one of Prime Minister Churchill's policies. The prime minister has vigorously opposed reconstitution of his cabinet along such lines and has told the house of commons that the present setup is superior to the system under David Lloyd George in the last war.

Lloyd George urged the premier a year ago, after the fall of Singapore, to change the war cabinet. The government narrowly averted a crisis over the issue at that time.

EDEN CALLS FOR FULL DISARMING OF AXIS POWERS

'It's Our Duty to Prevent More War,' He Says.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

OTTAWA, Ont., April 1.—Only security for mankind will lie in the complete disarmament of Germany, Italy, and Japan, and in keeping them in a position so they can never again endanger the world, Anthony Eden, British foreign minister, told a joint assembly of parliament here this afternoon.

"The experience thru which I have lived is similar to that which many of you have known. I have taken part, as you have done, in one war, which we had hoped was a war to end war. I now watch my son preparing [in the R. A. F.] to take part in a second war.

"It is our duty to see that this cruel and inhuman lot is not also the heritage of our children's children. For my part, therefore, I say definitely that I am not prepared to take risks again with either Germany, Italy, or Japan.

No Faith in Promises.

"I have no faith in the promises of their statesmen nor in the smooth assurances of their apologists. There is only one security for mankind in respect of them, to ensure that they are totally disarmed, and in no position ever to try their strength again.

"It is our duty to hand on to our children a world in which freedom can live and man command his soul; free from the constant dread that has shadowed our own time."

Eden referred to the league of nations by saying "what, above all, it lacked was a sufficiently wide international authority to express its decisions with conviction, and an adequate force to see them executed. So it was that the gangster nations, Germany, Italy, and Japan, could test their strength and work their will.

Urges Post-War Policing.

"It is essential that when this war is over the united nations should maintain sufficient force to insure that neither Germany, nor Italy, nor Japan can ever again plunge the world into war."

Eden again warned against over optimism because of good war news, and stressed particularly the battle of the Atlantic. "Even as I speak, the battle of the Atlantic is raging.

"Me must still regard the U-boat as our greatest menace. It is the ceaseless task of our navies to protect our life lines, and to fight a way thru for our convoys. The enemy is clearly staking heavily upon his U-boat offensive. We must not only continue but intensify our efforts against this desperate challenge. You may be confident we shall do so."

CREW BLOWS UP TORPEDOED HULK OF 'MIGHTY A'

Watch Naval Fight from Guadalcanal.

(The battle of Guadalcanal thunders on in today's, the 13th installment of "The Log of the Mighty A." The gallant U. S. S. Atlanta, battered by torpedoes and heavy shells, is deemed beyond saving and is scuttled. And in the night that follows the Japs stage a mad attempt to land their thousands of troops on Guadalcanal. The fate of those thousands and the accompanying action by American ships and planes is described here by the author, a Chicagoan, who at 23 is full lieutenant in the navy.)

BY AN OFFICER OF U. S. S. ATLANTA.
As told to Charles Leavelle.

[Copyright: 1943: By The Chicago Tribune.]

As the dawn of Nov. 13 came up over Savo sound there were unmistakable signs of the thundering battle that had raged there a few hours before. Near our battered cruiser, the U. S. S. Atlanta, lay three other ships, two of them still smoking.

In the oily waters of the sound floated the dead, the wounded, and the life-jacketed survivors of the American and Japanese ships that had gone down during the fight. I was amazed by the absence of sharks. It was said the gun fire had frightened them away.

On the Atlanta the officers and men who had come thru the battle uninjured were fighting to save the ship. Of our 45 officers, 19 had been killed and seven wounded. Of the 700 enlisted men, 139 were dead, 76 wounded, and 14 were missing.

Hammered by Many Ships.

In addition to two water line hits by torpedoes, we had been hammered from bow to stern by half a dozen heavy ships of the Jap fleet. The Atlanta was without power. We had thrown overboard practically everything movable to lighten her. All auxiliary pumps were going, but the water was gushing in.

Capt. Jenkins, assisted by Comm. Emory, was directing our efforts despite his leg wounds. The fires that had raged in the superstructure, compartments, and magazines had been extinguished by bucket brigades under Lt. Comm. W. R. D. Nickelson, the gunnery officer. Lt. Comm. John T. Wulff, assistant engineer officer, and his crew had closed off the watertight compartments.

We got our auxiliary radio set into operation and asked the sailors on Guadalcanal to send out boats for our wounded. They started immediately afterward and the transfer continued all morning.

Find Jap Ship Near By.

Shortly after daylight, the mists lifted sufficiently to permit identification of the three ships that lay crippled near by. One of them was a Japanese destroyer. There was great activity on her decks and she apparently was trying to get under way.

We semaphored this intelligence to the nearest ship, an American heavy cruiser, which still had not identified its neighbor. On receiving our message, the cruiser slewed her great turrets around. When they were on the target, the cruiser threw two salvos into the Jap ship, which blew up and sank immediately. We felt a little better.

But it was obvious we were fighting a losing battle for the Atlanta. At 2 p. m. Capt. Jenkins decided she could not be saved.

Prepare to Sink Ship.

Lt. Comm. Wulff and the gun boss went thru the ship opening up all the watertight compartments. Demolition charges were set near the stern and the wires were led up to a detonating box on the forecastle.

The wounded were all off and the crew followed them. At length only six of us were left, standing up in the eyes of the ship, with Capt. Jenkins. Boats waited for us alongside.

Capt. Jenkins gave the order. Lt. Comm. Wulff shoved down the plunger of the detonator. There was a dull shock and a heavy rumble astern. We went down a cargo net, hanging over the side, and entered the launches. The captain came down last. He would not leave his ship. He stayed near her in his boat until she had gone down. This was at 8 p. m.

It was a beautiful day, but we had eyes only for the Mighty A. She still was a striking figure, despite the pounding she had taken. During the afternoon she began to list, settling by the stern.

An Interrupted Sleep.

After four days and three nights without rest we were practically out on our feet. Several of us were assigned quarters in the chaplain's tent on Guadalcanal. A staff officer assured we were in for a quiet night.

"Get a good sleep," he told us. "Get a good sleep and forget all about it."

We were asleep almost before we hit our cots. And in two hours we were up, galloping for foxholes. Heavy shells were jarring the beach from end to end. The Japs had attempted a move that to them seemed pretty clever. And it might have worked had they not been still shellshocked from the battle of 18 hours before.

Led by a spearhead of fighting ships, the transports with their thousands of soldiers had headed in again. The warships now were executing the strategy planned for the first attack; they were softening up our defenses with a heavy cannonade. They apparently were firing, however, with one eye on the target and the other on their corridor of escape.

And they had reckoned without our fleet of PT boats. These now roared out into the sound, throwing torpedoes. When a PT scored a damaging torpedo hit on a Jap cruiser, the hour's bombardment ended abruptly. The transports ran for it. A second cruiser and three or four destroyers lagged behind to escort the damaged warship.

At dawn our planes went out again and gave the Japs their bloodiest Saturday of the war. On Friday these planes had pounded a crippled enemy warship until its crew was forced to open its seacocks. Now they quickly found the crippled cruiser and sank it, together with the cruiser left to escort it. The destroyers ran for it.

Invasion Force Shattered.

A few hours later our planes found the eight Japanese transports and the four cargo ships, again heading for Guadalcanal with an escort of fighting ships. The slaughter began at once and continued all day. From morning until dark our planes were taking off and roaring out to sea, returning in a couple of hours to reload their empty bombracks and take off again.

All day long our heaviest bombs rained down on those Jap transports, which early in the attack had been deserted and left defenseless by their armored escort! Before sunset all eight had been literally blown apart and had plunged beneath the waters of the Coral sea. Most of the 30,000 to 45,000 Jap troops had been blown to bits, burned to death, or drowned.

Two of the cargo ships were in flames and all had been hit repeatedly. Less than half a dozen of our aircraft were missing. As darkness settled, we again were assured that the Jap invasion forces had been shattered; that this night we would sleep undisturbed.

And we did, until just after 11 p. m. Then all hell broke loose again. It was a naval battle in the sound, rivaling in fury the action of early Nov. 13. It was not until later in the day that we learned what had happened.

Japs Try Again.

The Jap warship force, carrying such surviving troops as had been picked up after the transports had gone down, had tried a third desperate assault upon Guadalcanal. But a United States battleship task force was behind them this time, stalking the prey. When the enemy line started moving into the sound, between the southwest tip of Florida Island and north of Savo Island, our ships sped around Savo and came in between it and Guadalcanal. It was in effect an ambush; a new and staggering blow to Tokio.

The fight raged more than 20 minutes. We watched it all from the shore. Jap ships were blowing up everywhere. We saw two of our destroyers go down.

Then, as on that other night, the attackers began churning around amid a hail of shells and heading out to the open sea. And again our ships steamed right after them, keeping up a steady pounding. For hours there was heavy cannonading out beyond Savo. The low hanging clouds were lighted up like pillars of fire by the flares and lurid flashes.

Dawn revealed that four Jap transports had slipped thru and rammed themselves on the beach at Tassafaronga in a suicidal attempt to get supplies to their troops. Our shore dive bombers, and destroyers reduced them to four funeral pyres.

Blast Jap Supplies.

The little men worked furiously to unload the supplies that remained undamaged, but as fast as the goods were set ashore our diving bombers blew them to bits and set fire to the débris. Four black pillars of smoke rose to the skies.

Meanwhile, the survivors of our ships reached shore and were taken to the Lunga river to wash off their coatings of oil. The marines supplied us with uniforms and a change of linen. There were no more alligators in the Lunga, which once had been alive with them. The story was that the 'gators discreetly moved to safer waters when the marines started bathing there.

We found that there were no snakes on the island and no tarantulas. Only the wild pigs remained. They were wild because of the marines' habit of chasing them down and barbecuing them, it was explained.

The Atlanta's gunners were assigned to the marine shore batteries during the week we remained at Henderson field. On Guadalcanal all three services work together like a team. The army has nothing but praise for the navy and marines. The sailors can't speak too highly of the marines and the soldiers. And the marines have kind words for the soldiers and sailors.

Hot Baths, Iced Drinks.

Within a few days all the wounded had been flown out to less advanced bases. The air transports had started their ambulance shuttle service on the morning of Nov. 14.

My two least warlike memories of Guadalcanal concern the hot showers and iced drinks we had there. The fleeing Japs had abandoned a diesel operated dynamo. The hot water from the engine's cooling system spilled out thru a pipe into the Lunga river and we stood under it and bathed.

The Japs also left intact a small ice plant, which now bears a sign: "The Tojo Ice Co.—Under New Management." One morning as we were on our way to the hot showers a marine popped out of a foxhole, offering us a sip of "O Be Joyful." We invited him over to the dugout and there we had iced sake rickeys—thanks to Tojo. Guadalcanal had its discomforts, but there were compensations, if one was lucky.

A week after we went ashore we were boarding transports for home. We passed thru the Golden Gate on Jan. 1, 1943.

YANK AIRMEN TWICE RAID JAP BASE AT KISKA

Washington, D. C., April 1 (AP).—American bombers and fighters raided Japanese positions on Kiska Island in the Aleutians twice Tuesday and attacked Attu Island once, the navy reported today. One bomber was lost to anti-aircraft fire at Kiska.

Lightning fighters made the first attack on Kiska during the morning, then accompanied Liberator bombers in an afternoon raid on the main Japanese camp area, the communique said.

Liberators and Lightnings also composed the force which raided Holtz bay at Attu in the early afternoon.

A raid by Dauntless dive bombers and Wildcat fighters on the Japanese air base at Munda, New Georgia Island, also was reported in the war bulletin. Fires were started by the raiders, the communique said. All planes returned, it added.

Munda, which is 180 nautical miles from Guadalcanal, has been attacked more than 100 times in the last four months.

CLAIM BRITISH CHUTISTS WRECK DANISH PLANTS

New York, April 1 (AP).—A German broadcast heard tonight by CBS said that "British parachutists" and Danish citizens have been committing acts of sabotage in industrial plants in Copenhagen, capital of Nazi occupied Denmark.

"Things have got to such a pitch," the broadcast said, "that armed British parachutists can force their way into Danish industrial plants, and persuade the guards to keep quiet while they plant bombs."

Stockholm reports to London newspapers today reported that the Germans are engaging in a big man hunt for British parachute troops reported to have set up headquarters in western Norway.

R.A.F. OBSERVES BIRTHDAY WITH A DAY OF RAIDS

Attacks Germany, France and Belgium.

LONDON, April 1 (AP).—The royal air force celebrated its 25th anniversary today by attacking two towns in western Germany where startled Germans gaped at swift British Mosquito bombers which dipped as low as 50 feet to plant explosives on industrial objectives.

Squadrons of fighters also attacked railways and other axis held transportation in France and Belgium by daylight.

The Mosquitoes, the R. A. F.'s fastest bombers, which twice have attacked Berlin by daylight, blasted a power station and important railway workshops at Trier and Ehrang near the German-Luxemburg frontier. With bombs fused to explode a few seconds after the Mosquitoes were safely away, the airmen attacked at altitudes from 50 to 200 feet.

Smash Railway Workshop.

At Trier bombs smashed into a railway workshop, and débris was thrown high into the air. The Trier power station also was bombed. At Ehrang the crews reported their bombs caused a "terrific explosion." It was believed a gasoline dump was hit.

The pilots told how they saw the surprised Germans looking up from the streets as they streaked across the towns.

Four British planes were missing from the sweeps over France and Belgium. A fifth plane failed to return from reconnaissance over northwest Germany.

Enemy raiders retaliated by bombing and machine gunning a south coast town this afternoon.

King Hails R. A. F.

King George, in an anniversary message of congratulation, said that in the quarter century since the R. A. F. assumed its present name "it won — and daily continues to win—imperishable renown."

Prime Minister Winston Churchill, who has frequently taken over the controls on long flights, was given the honorary wings of the R. A. F. on its anniversary.

Coincidentally, the new month opened with the announcement that in making 12 major attacks during March, including three raids on Berlin, the R. A. F. lost 162 bombers and 27 fighters and shot down 36 enemy planes over the continent.

M'ARTHUR MEN BLAST ANEW AT 3 JAP BASES

ALLIED HDQ. IN AUSTRALIA, April 2 [Friday]—(AP).—Gen. Douglas MacArthur announced today that allied planes have made new raids on Jap bases at Mubo, Finschhafen, and Saumlaki.

Medium bombers attacked the town of Saumlaki, which is on Tanimbar Island, 300 miles north of Darwin, Australia.

Finschhafen, on the Huon peninsula of New Guinea, where earlier in the week fires started on the water front by allied planes flamed more than eight hours, was visited by a single four motored bomber which dropped its bombs in the same harbor area.

Attack planes bombed and strafed Japanese troop positions around Mumbo, which is 15 miles south of Salamaua, New Guinea.

In northwestern [Dutch] New Guinea a medium allied bomber was intercepted by two Japanese fighter planes and shot them both out of the sky.

NAVY PATROL PLANE CRASHES IN SOUND; CREW OF 8 MISSING

Arrow indicates Albemarle Sound.

Search for the plane and its crew was still in progress late today, following location of parts of the wreckage. The navy listed the missing men as:

Hoosier Pilot Killed.

New York, April 1 (AP).—The third naval district reported tonight that one pilot was killed in the crash of his plane and two others were missing after encountering bad flying weather Wednesday night in the vicinity of Floyd Bennett field. A fourth flyer in the formation landed safely. The navy identified the dead pilot as Ensign Leonard Byrer, 320 South 15th street, Terre Haute, Ind.

CHICAGO TRADE ASKS QUIZ ON BRAZIL RIVALRY

Cotton Duck Shipments Protested to Brooks.

Chicago cotton goods jobbers asked Sen. Wayland Brooks [R., Ill.] yesterday to make an inquiry into the use of ships for the transportation of cotton duck manufactured in Brazil and sold in this country in competition with the domestic product.

Contending sufficient cotton duck manufactured in the United States is available for all military, agricultural, and other essential purposes, they sought to learn to what extent the Brazilian imports were using shipping space that might be more advantageously devoted to the shipment of coffee to relieve the United States shortage.

Under Ceilings, on Priority.

The Brazilian fabric is being offered at prices below those which American jobbers are able to quote and still realize a moderate profit, it was said.

Cotton duck, used in large quantities for covering army trucks and for other army and navy purposes, is under federal price ceilings. Some widths are available only on priorities.

One jobber, who withheld his name until his identity is disclosed by Sen. Brooks, wrote:

"Why should we be importing cotton duck when we are informed there is no available shipping space to bring in much needed coffee?"

Civilian Sales Restricted.

He explained that all cotton duck classified as numbered duck was restricted for sale to civilians in widths up to 87 inches and obtainable only on high priorities.

"In view of the restrictions," the letter said, "certain industrial firms which need cotton duck for special purposes are willing to pay almost any price for this product in order to continue in business."

The American capacity for manufacturing the product has been increased by carpet companies.

FIRST OFFICIAL INSPECTION OF SUBWAY TODAY

An eight car special elevated train, seating 416 persons, will carry Mayor Kelly, M. E. Gilmore, federal works agency commissioner of public works, and other dignitaries into the State street subway this morning for the "first official inspection" of the tubes.

The train will leave the North Water street elevated stub terminal at 10 a. m., enter the subway at its north portal just south of the Armitage elevated station, and wind up the tour about noon at the Adams-Jackson subway station.

At the Clark-Division station Kelly, Gilmore, and Joshua D'Esposito, federal project engineer, will speak. Charles E. De Leuw, chief engineer of the department of subways and superhighways, will explain the structure at other stops.

The same trip will be made by civic groups at 2 p. m. today and by a group of engineers and contractors at 10 a. m. tomorrow. The general public can get tickets for trips to be made each hour from 1 to 10 p. m. tomorrow by purchasing war bonds.

AXIS FLIES FRESH TROOPS TO HELP ROMMEL ARMIES

Met by Powerful Allied Aerial Armada.

tween 20 and 30 enemy vehicles afire in the same region.

It was announced that 31 enemy planes were shot down in combat over North Africa yesterday, while 12 allied planes were lost.

Praise Fighting of Goums.

As the campaign picture in northern Tunisia becomes clearer it is possible to realize the important part the French Moroccan Goums [native troops] are playing. They and crack British troops accounted for hundreds of Italian captives.

"They are wonderful operators," a British officer said of these fierce warriors. "They disappear and nobody hears anything at all from them, and suddenly there is a sound of marching feet and a Goum patrol is seen coming back with a couple hundred prisoners.

"They moved out silently at night and when the sun came up the Italians would find them right in the middle of their position."

For a time prisoners were coming in so fast that noncommissioned officers among the captives had to be appointed to form their comrades into companies for a march to the rear.

"The Italians coöperated very well in this work," said this officer. "There were several cases of companies surrendering intact with all their officers."

French Occupy Kebili.

LONDON, April 1 (AP).—A French communique broadcast by the Algiers radio and recorded by the Associated Press today announced that French camel corps troops had occupied Kebili, a road junction near the eastern edge of the Chott Djerid salt lake and 68 miles southwest of Gabes.

[This apparently was a mopping up process of such axis forces as may have been trapped by the thrust of the British 8th army into the Gabes gap.]

French patrols were reported progressing in the Qued el Kebir valley southwest of Pont du Fahs, and farther south the French were reported in control of the Kairouan road.

"In the Ousseltia plain our advanced elements have progressed up to within some miles of Pichon," the communique said, but did not state the exact position of the forces moving upon that axis city 24 miles west of Kairouan.

BATTLE NEAR CLIMAX.

The Rome radio said in a broadcast recorded by the Associated Press that the battle of Tunisia was approaching a climax and that it was probable "the British 1st army and the American army in their turn will soon assume tasks of no less importance than those of the 8th army."

The Italian high command said that fighting was continuing "with particular fierceness in the northern and central sectors of Tunisia." The communique said Gabes and El Hamma had been evacuated to shorten axis lines and asserted that 172 allied prisoners were taken in counterattacks.

Eleven allied planes were reported shot down in aerial battles. Three more allied planes were destroyed during an attack on an axis convoy in the Mediterranean, the communique said.

"Heavy Defensive Struggles."

A German high command communique said "In Tunisia our troops on Wednesday were engaged again in heavy defensive struggles. Superior British and American formations vainly tried to cut off parts of German and Italian troops by outflanking movements. The superior command and achievements of our troops so far have frustrated all these enemy intentions."

A broadcast by the Nazi controled Paris radio said American troops had made a new advance toward Kairouan, while axis forces attacked in the region of Pichon. Presumably the United States drive was a continuation of the week-end push from the southwest which overran Fondouk.

Axis radios continued to make much of naval activity around Gibraltar. The Vichy radio reported that strong convoys had sailed into the Mediterranean in the last few days with escorts of small aircraft carriers and other warships.

Mass Ships Around Italy.

A Tass [soviet] news agency dispatch from Lausanne, Switzerland, broadcast by the Moscow radio, said transport and hospital ships and railway trains were being concentrated at ports in southern Italy, adding that "there is every indication that Italian authorities are preparing for mass evacuation of axis troops from Tunisia." It said also that hospitals which would accommodate at least 90,000 patients had been set up in Naples, according to Italian reports.

The Russian army newspaper Red Star said that Rommel was in serious danger, adding that "our allies possess sufficient power and battle means to squeeze the ring of their troops around the Italian and German units and exterminate them."

The London Daily Mail said in a dispatch from Madrid that 350,000 tons of French shipping immobilized in Mediterranean ports had been ordered sent to Genoa, Spezia, and ports in Sardinia and Sicily. "The obvious inference is that a 'Dunkirk' fleet is being collected for Rommel," the paper said.

A broadcast by the Morocco [allied controled] radio which was recorded in London said that the axis rear guard in the El Guetar area was now withdrawing in an effort to reach the main forces.

The Morocco radio said the Germans did not have time to destroy harbor installations at Gabes and the port would be used immediately to the fullest extent possible by the British navy. Rommel, the broadcast said, had motor transport for only 40,000 of the force of at least 80,000 used in the Mareth line.

WHEN YOU FIGHT FOR PATTON IN TUNISIA, WEAR YOUR LEGGINGS

WITH U. S. FORCES AT EL GUETAR, Tunisia, March 30 [Delayed]—(AP).—Even in the height of battle, Lt. Gen. George S. Patton Jr., is a stickler for the rules, because he believes that the best disciplined troops are the best fighters. Technician Kenneth Rothenbuehler, 23 years old, of Garretson, S. D., told the latest story of the general's passion for detail. He said:

"We were on one observation post and Gen. Patton was on another a few hundred feet behind us. Right in the midst of battle a messenger ran up to one lieutenant and said he had a message for him from Gen. Patton.

"'What is the message?' the lieutenant asked, looking highly pleased and undoubtedly expecting a compliment. 'The general said for you to put your leggins on,' the messenger replied."

Patton recently commanded all soldiers in the battle area to wear leggings and helmets.

ROMMEL'S FORCE STILL IS NEARLY INTACT: STIMSON

Sees Union with Axis Army in North.

Washington, D. C., April 1 (AP).—Secretary of War Henry L. Stimson today said Marshal Erwin Rommel apparently still has the bulk of his Tunisian force intact and that a strong chance remains that he can effect a union with axis forces under Col. Gen. Jurgen von Arnim in the north.

In such an event, Stimson said, the enemy in Tunisia could offer strong resistance and before the final phases of the North African campaign, "there will in all probability be a good deal of heavy fighting."

Rommel suffered an important defeat at the Mareth line, the war secretary said.

Air Forces Hailed.

Stimson said the close coöperation of allied air forces in North Africa had contributed substantially to the defeat of Rommel's forces and promised the relentless air attacks would continue. Allied air mastery over that area, he said, would be of great importance in the final phases of the fighting there.

The secretary reported the advance of American forces under Lt. Gen. George S. Patton Jr., in central Tunisia, and the attacks by the British 1st army in northern Tunisia were timed to coincide with the 8th army's assault on the Mareth line.

No New Data on Losses.

He said he had no report on allied casualties in Tunisia beyond those already received in front line news dispatches.

Estimates of axis losses are incomplete, Stimson continued, but large numbers of German and Italian soldiers have been killed, several thousands wounded and taken prisoner, and the allies have captured and destroyed much axis equipment.

DELIVERY BOY ROBBED.

Two Negro gunmen yesterday compelled Paul Fonteyne, 17 years old, a delivery boy for the Myers Publishing company of 7519 North Ashland avenue, to give up $200 in cash and $500 in checks he was taking to the Uptown National bank for deposit, he reported to police.

BOMBS DROPPED, HE READS BIBLE ON FLIGHT HOME

Yank Flyers Tell of 100 Fort Raid on Sardinia.

BY SEYMOUR KORMAN.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

ALLIED HDQ., North Africa, April 1. — Stories of the havoc wrought in southern Sardinia yesterday by nearly a hundred Flying Fortresses—the largest such force ever sent on a single mission in any theater of the war—took precedence over war news from here today.

Midwesterners again gained a goodly share of the laurels in this all-American bombing show.

For 2d Lt. Joseph Minarik of Chicago, it was a busy day. He was the junior intelligence officer on the first mission and not only briefed the whole group in the formation, but went along as observer on the bombing of Cagliari harbor. On their return Minarik took the reports of the crews.

"Still in Their Raid Shelters."

Among those going to Cagliari was 2d Lt. J. H. Gant of Clarksville, Tenn., former ministerial student, now a bombardier.

On his return he pulled a soiled Bible from his flying jacket and explained:

"When the bombs have been dropped, my job is done. Coming back I always read my Bible."

Sergt. Edsell Werner of Port Huron, Mich., a ball turret gunner, told how the avalanche of bombs smashed everything in the region of the harbor. He said he would bet that the Italians were still in their air raid shelters.

"Over the harbor I told my pilot over the intercommunication phone, 'This is just like shooting ducks,'" Werner related. "He replied, 'Better keep at the guns.' I said, 'Hell, I just knocked off a Reggiane 2001—that's no duck.'"

The smash at Decimomannu airdrome was the 33d sortie for Lt. George E. Ludolph, a bombardier of St. Paul Park, Minn.

His Best Show.

"This is the best show I ever saw and I'm glad I'm seeing it from the balcony instead of the orchestra rows," Ludolph said. "We dropped hell on them. There were fires and great rolling columns of smoke over the target."

Besides Werner two other middle western gunners, Sergeants William J. Genya of Oshkosh, Wis., and John D. Sullivan of Minneapolis, Minn., destroyed enemy aircraft over Sardinia. A Nazi plane also fell to Sergt. G. H. Turner of Council Bluffs, Ia., gunner of a Mitchell bomber, participating in an attack on enemy ships bound for Tunis.

FLAG SENT HOME FROM AFRICA IS GIVEN TO SCHOOL

An American flag, a present from their soldier father in North Africa, was presented to Gompers School for Crippled Children at 12302 State street yesterday by Edwin Larson, 13, and his brother, Raymond, 8, of 19 East 123d street.

The flag was accepted by Miss Mary E. Courtenay, principal of the school, and was raised on the stage and dedicated with a program of songs. Mothers, teachers and 350 children were present at the ceremony.

Lt. Edwin B. Larson told his sons, before he left for overseas duty, that he would send them a souvenir from Africa. The souvenir arrived, and it was the large American flag they gave to the school.

VICTIM OF FALL UNIDENTIFIED.

Chicago avenue police tried yesterday to learn the identity of a poorly dressed woman about 50 years old found fatally injured in the doorway at 721 North Clark street. Police said apparently she had fallen down the stairs.

How Much Should We Pay For Shoes?

There is absolutely no necessity to pay high prices for shoes. In fact, Government leather restrictions reduce the wear of higher priced shoes most severely, since all the top five grades of sole leather are taken by the Armed Forces and Lend-Lease. Today, there is less difference than ever before between Thom McAns and the highest priced shoes you can buy. Thom McAn, using the best selection he can possibly get of the good soles left for civilian shoes, offers you, now more than ever, dollar for dollar your best buy in shoes.

CAN'T KEEP GRANDMA IN HER CHAIR

She's as Lively as a Youngster—Now her Backache is better

Many sufferers relieve nagging backache quickly, once they discover that the real cause of their trouble may be tired kidneys.

The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking the excess acids and waste out of the blood. They help most people pass about 3 pints a day.

When disorder of kidney function permits poisonous matter to remain in your blood, it may cause nagging backache, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills.

FINDS NO SIGNS AXIS IS READY TO FLEE TUNISIA

Huge Planes and Ferries Supply Rommel.

BY HANSON W. BALDWIN.

[Correspondent of New York Times.]

ALLIED HDQ. IN NORTH AFRICA, April 1.—Despite their defeat at the Mareth line, axis armies in Tunisia still are virtually intact and fighting strongly.

The armies of Marshal Erwin Rommel in the south have retired northward from Gabes gap and apparently are making a stand along the Wadi Akarit. Because of the flanking threat to his communications represented by American positions in the El Guetar-Maknassy-Fondouk areas, Rommel may be compelled to withdraw further northward.

But whether the axis stand at the Wadi Akarit [24 miles north of Gabes] means only a delaying action or a full fledged battle there is yet no reason to believe the enemy's retirement northward is preparatory to an attempted evacuation of Tunisia.

Still United Fighting Force.

For now it seems evident that Rommel's African corps, tho defeated and forced from its position in the Mareth line, still is an integrated fighting force. The 10th, 15th, and 21st panzer [armored] divisions plus German infantry of the 90th German light division, the 164th infantry division, and several Italian divisions are still capable of strong fighting.

Despite allied air and naval superiority the axis is still in position to ferry considerable troops and equipment across the 90 mile stretch of water between Sicily and Cape Bon. In the past the Germans have exercised considerable ingenuity in improving means of supplying their armies in Tunisia. They have been reënforced by air and sea.

They have in use a new type giant six engined plane—the Messerschmitt 323—which is believed capable of carrying 130 men. This plane has an unusual six wheeled landing gear and on the ground its fuselage almost hugs the earth.

Made for Easy Loading.

The forward portion of the fuselage has a great bulbous ramp shaped bow with folding doors permitting easy loading of various decks in which the huge transport craft is divided. The ME323 is slow and vulnerable but a great weight carrier.

For sea communications the Germans have been using a considerable number of so called "Siebel ferries." The hulls of these craft consist of double pontoons of shallow draft, decked over. They are about 80 feet long with a 50 foot beam and handle about 300 tons or about 200 troops. Propelled by Diesels, they are capable of a speed of about 9 knots.

The ferries are heavily armed with one to three 88 millimeter anti-aircraft guns and perhaps two 20 millimeter cannon. They are small, difficult, dangerous targets for low flying aircraft. Because of their shallow draft they are hard to attack effectively with torpedoes.

Considerable Flow of Men.

By using planes, Siebel ferries, and all other means of transport the axis in the past obviously has been able to maintain a considerable flow of men and material to Tunis from Sicily and Sardinia.

Probably 20 to 30 per cent of axis craft have been destroyed by allied attacks but it is nevertheless probable the Germans and Italians have been able to transport an average of 500 to 1,000 men daily and perhaps 75 to 125 tanks monthly to North Africa. The axis has constructed a series of jetties—useful either for supply, reënforcement, or evacuation—around the Cape Bon peninsula from Hammamet in the south around to the northern coast.

It is therefore clear that the axis defeat at the Mareth line is by no means final and that the Tunisian campaign is by no means over if the enemy chooses to stand and fight.

But if he does he will be encircled not only by the British 1st and 8th armies and the courageous French troops but also by American divisions—veterans of recent fighting—the famous Fighting 1st infantry division, 1st armored division, 34th infantry division, and the 9th division.

French Leaders Confer in Algiers

LEADER OF FRENCH COMMANDOS SEEKS MORE U.S. EQUIPMENT

Washington, D. C., April 1 (AP).—An American leader of Fighting French commando troops, Capt. Douglas M. Smith, is here in quest of equipment for wider operations and to promote the idea of hitting the Germans harder behind their own lines.

At a Fighting French press conference, Smith described today a raid which last autumn took him and his men across 1,970 miles of African desert for a hit and run attack on Bengazi. Their object was to slip into Bengazi by night and destroy docks and other installations, but they were intercepted by a German force just outside the town. They wiped out this enemy force, but the noise of battle aroused the Bengazi garrison and they were forced to withdraw.

During their two months' trek across the desert, however, they destroyed much axis equipment, including 300 planes parked on desert fields and "many hundreds" of enemy trucks.

"If we had had a force of 3,000 or 4,000 men on this job, instead of the 250 French and British volunteers we did have," Smith said, "we could have wrecked Marshal Rommel's rearward lines of supplies and communications, and he never would have been able to get to Tripoli."

BRITISH REFUSE TO LET LEADERS TALK TO GANDHI

NEW DELHI, India, April 1 (AP).—Viceroy Linlithgow has refused the appeal of a group of nonparty leaders to see the imprisoned Mohandas K. Gandhi as a prelude to peace negotiations between the Congress party and the government, it was announced today.

The viceroy said he had detected "no change of heart in Gandhi" since last August when the Congress leader was confined to the Aga Khan's palace at Poona after indorsing a Congress party resolution calling for a civil disobedience campaign against British rule.

If Gandhi is prepared to recant completely, "then the matter can be considered further," Linlithgow told the group.

Peers Told Britain Mixes Pure and Tubercular Milk

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, April 1.—Charges that tuberculin tested milk is being mixed at government milk depots with milk "infected with bovine tuberculosis" were made in the house of lords today. Food Minister Lord Woolton, while unwilling to say the government "is deliberately contaminating milk for children," admitted he was not satisfied with the present position.

YANKS IN AFRICA FIND NAZI FREAK: A 2 HEADED AUTO

It Can Retreat as Fast as It Advances.

WITH THE U. S. FORCES IN SOUTHERN TUNISIA, March 29 [Delayed]—(AP).—An eight wheeled German scout car with two front ends—it has a driver aft as well as forward and can speed in either direction at more than 50 miles an hour—was in the military loot taken by United States forces in their latest push.

After being repaired, the heavily armored scout car and captured light German tanks were road tested by the Americans before being put back in use on the battlefield with the white star of the Americans painted over the German cross.

"Ordnance said this scout car is very battle-worthy for reconnaissance purposes," said Lt. Walter F. Nye, 25 years old, of Lincoln, Neb.

Car Weighs 8 Tons.

"It weighs 8½ tons and was knocked out by hits of our 37 millimeter shells in the driving mechanism and the transmission gears to the front wheels.

"It carries a gun fixed forward with a slight traverse. But the best feature is the fact that it can be driven from either end. It has two steering wheels and two separate sets of controls, one at each end of the car.

"It can go forward into battle, firing, and if the opposition gets too tough they can slam on the brakes, throw a lever switching the controls from the front to rear driver and the car scoots out as fast as it came.

Iowans Help Test Car.

"The two drivers face in opposite directions, of course, and between them are the other two members of the crew—gunner and loader."

Among those helping Nye test the captured vehicles were: Sergt. John Walsh, 20 years old, of Des Moines, Ia.; Sergt. Ed Thompson, 23, Des Moines; Corp. Ray Rutledge, 21, Tacoma, Ia.; Technician Wilbur L. Gallup, Neola, Ia., and Pvt. Robert Chesser, 24, Rock Rapids, Ia.

TOT KILLED BY TRUCK.

Dubuque, Ia., April 1 [Special].—John Walter Uthe, 3 year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur Uthe, was killed today when struck by a truck driven by Joseph Stratton, 26, of Dubuque. It was Dubuque's first traffic fatality of the year.

FADED TRICOLOR FLIES AGAIN IN SCARRED GABES

Allies Arrive Four Hours After Nazis' Flight.

BY DON WHITEHEAD.

WITH THE BRITISH 8TH ARMY AT GABES, March 30 [Delayed]—(AP).—Two Spitfires roared low over the bomb ripped streets of this town shortly after the British moved in, and a litle old lady sitting in the shade of a mimosa bush looked frightened.

"We're afraid of planes," she said. "The Germans said they would come back and bomb us when the British arrived. But we're happy to see the British. And bombing—c'est la guerre. . . ."

Once upon a time this garden must have been a lovely spot. Now it was ugly and barren except for the mimosa bush in the corner where the old lady sat.

Once Beautiful Oasis.

"Gabes was beautiful before the war," she said. "My home and garden were beautiful too. But look at them now."

I did not have to look. I already had seen them. The cottage was windowless and scarred by shrapnel. An air raid shelter filled the garden.

Gabes was pocked and torn by British planes. Buildings were wrecked, too, by the Germans and Italians, who tore out the roofs and walls for firewood. Not one house was left intact.

Anti-tank ditches were littered with débris. The palm shaded parks were scarred by trenches and bare mounds of dirt covering air raid shelters.

All Quiet for Four Hours.

The enemy left at 8 a. m. yesterday morning. For four hours Gabes was quiet and belonged to neither side.

Then the advance guard of the British 8th army rolled out of the desert. Tanks, guns, and trucks swarmed thru the streets. A faded French tricolor flag adorned the principal building.

Gabes' European population of about 400, virtually all French, were jubilant. They fraternized with the British in the streets, in the few restaurants which still served cheap wine, and in their homes.

The British troops rode laughing children about on the handlebars of their motorcycles and piled them into jeeps for joyrides. They gave them hard biscuits and jams. They shared cigarets with men and women who had not tasted tobacco for four months.

First Bath in Days.

The oasis that is Gabes looked good to these troops who had come along the dusty, wind whipped fringe of the Sahara to turn the Mareth line in a swift and brilliant flanking move. Hundreds hurried to the beach for their first bath in days.

The beach resembled a resort playground, and happy voices echoed among the ruins of the town in a holiday spirit.

Even the little old lady could look into the future again with hope.

"Come back after the war," she invited. "Then Gabes will be beautiful—and my garden will bloom again."

Soldier from Canton, Ill., Held in Woman's Death

Bucyrus, O., April 1 (AP).—Glore Bevard, a 33 year old soldier stationed at Camp Millard, was indicted today on a charge of second degree murder. Prosecutor Leo Scanlon said Bevard signed a confession that he strangled Mrs. Milma Reed, 40, in her apartment here March 22. Bevard and Mrs. Reed both came from Canton, Ill.

SEARCH FRANCE, ROOM BY ROOM, FOR NAZI LABOR

Police Stage Raids in All Large Towns.

[By Wireless to the New York Times and The Chicago Tribune.]

BERNE, Switzerland, April 1.—Police raids are being made periodically in all large French towns to facilitate the process of finding workers for Germany. The raids began in Marseilles.

The operation is simple in view of the curfew imposed by the Germans, generally at 9 p. m. Once citizens are in their homes, each block is visited, apartment by apartment and room by room. The French are compelled to carry so many identification papers that it is difficult for those with forged documents to avoid detection.

Chief of Government Pierre Laval, on behalf of the Germans, wishes to index every man, woman, and child in France. Preliminary steps were taken months ago, but in the former free zone they were applied half-heartedly. The Nazi occupation is hastening the work.

Warns of Food Shortage.

Henceforth, for instance, every French worker between 18 and 50 years of age must carry a "labor certificate" and cannot change occupation without consent of the department of labor.

Agriculture Minister Max Bonnafous today warned that bread will be scarce this year, adding that "next year many other foods are likely to be scarce also." He has ordered the proportion of moisture in a loaf of bread increased to 34 per cent.

Sale of Radios Halted.

A new order prohibits the sale of radio receiving sets or spare parts. The order represents the final phase of a long process intended to prevent the French from listening to broadcasts of the allied nations. The first step was to forbid listening to foreign broadcasts—exclusive of the axis—under penalty of fine and confiscation of the radio. The French shrugged their shoulders and went on listening.

More effective measures followed—prohibition of the manufacture of new sets and compulsory purchase of sets and spare parts from registered retailers, with the government controling the delivery of orders by wholesalers.

SCORE OF AFRICA AIR WAR: ALLIES BAG 922 PLANES TO FOE'S 394

[By Wireless to the New York Times and The Chicago Tribune.]

ALLIED HDQ. IN NORTH AFRICA, April 1.—Figures indicating allied air superiority in North Africa were made public today. To March 26, 862 enemy aircraft were destroyed by aircraft and ground defenses. A total of 554 were shot down by United States aircraft and 308 by royal air force planes and British ground defenses. An additional 60 aircraft have been listed as destroyed by western desert air forces during the period since their operations have been included in Africa headquarters communiques. Allied losses in the same period were 394. Up to and including Feb. 18, when it was merged with the northwest African air forces, the 12th United States air force lost 181 planes. In the same time the R. A. F. lost 89.

Assert De Gaulle Wants to Meet Giraud Soon

LONDON, April 1 (AP).—French national committee headquarters said today that Gen. Charles De Gaulle "earnestly desires to leave immediately" for Algiers to confer with Gen. Henri Giraud. The committee yesterday confirmed reports that De Gaulle might delay his departure for Algiers, but today's statement said this was a mistake.

CEILING PRICES WILL BE PUT ON BEEF, VEAL, LAMB

Packers Ask Lend-Lease for Co-ordination.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., April 1.—Dollars and cents retail ceiling prices on beef, veal, lamb, and mutton will be announced Monday afternoon by the office of price administration, it was learned today. Similar ceilings on pork products were announced this week.

This action is expected to solve one of the meat industry's great problems of the last year. Meat packers will confer with live stock producers in Chicago tomorrow and Saturday in attempt to solve another major problem—"how to get the government to coördinate its meat buying." Solution of this would go far toward wiping out illegal "black" markets, the packers say.

Charges that the lend-lease meat buyers in the department of agriculture have caused greater confusion and given more cause for growth of black markets in meat than some of the other "haphazard" actions by the burocrats, were made today by a man high in the meat industry who wished to remain anonymous.

Seek 120% of Supply.

He said right now lend-lease buyers are trying to purchase "about 120 per cent of the available meat supply." He asserted that now that the civilian meat quota is determined by ration points, the lend-lease buyers could at least coördinate their purchases with the army and navy buyers, the only other factors in the meat market.

He said meat packers have called the meeting with the live stock producers to discuss this program which they believe will "take the pressure" off the meat industry. He pointed out that unfavorable federal price ceilings have cut meat production and have caught packers in a vise between low retail ceilings and rising live stock costs.

Asks Coördination.

"All we want in our program is for the government to coördinate its buying," he said. "Let some semblance of a balance develop between supply and demand. We want the army and navy to have all the meat they require. What civilians can have is determined by the ration points. Lend-lease is supposed to have whatever is left.

"But that most definitely isn't the case. Right now it is seeking about 120 per cent of the available supply. We say, let the lend-lease buyers get together with the army and navy and work out a system."

$100 BRAKE PUT ON HUSBAND IN TRIANGLE

High support to keep a husband away from another woman was set yesterday by Judge Thomas J. Lynch of Circuit court after hearing the troubles of Mrs. Lauretta Davis, 52 years old, 2719 Eleanor street, and her husband, Raleigh Davis, 55, a fire department engineer, whom she is suing for separate maintenance. They were married in 1919, and have a young son, Ronald.

"For 24 years I have led a miserable life," said Davis. "I have had no love, no affection from my wife since our marriage. We have been separated for periods of one year, two years, and six years. She is always accusing me of associating with other women."

Then Mrs. Davis, represented by Attorneys Joseph H. and Norman Becker, said: "We separated when he told me he had been in love with another woman for 10 years and wanted a divorce." Davis named the other woman as "A Miss Hall." Judge Lynch fixed temporary support at $100 a month. Davis protested that figure because his salary is $244 a month. "I'm purposely setting it high to force you to give up this other woman," said Judge Lynch.

F. D. R. DEPLORES 'UNFAIR ATTACKS' ON GINSBURG

Washington, D. C., April 1 (AP).—President Roosevelt has deplored what he called "unfair attacks" on David Ginsburg, recently resigned general counsel of the OPA, the Washington Post said tonight.

A house subcommittee heard testimony last month that Ginsburg, 30 years old, was being considered for an army commission after he was deferred from the draft as an irreplacable official. Ginsburg has asked to be inducted into the army in the usual manner, Mr. Roosevelt was reported as saying.

The President, in a letter to Prentiss Brown, OPA administrator, said Ginsburg is "a young man who was working day and night on our war effort long before some who now attack him realized the danger to which our country was exposed," the Post reported.

The war department refused Ginsburg a commission "because of the present restrictions against granting a commission to any one of his age," Mr. Roosevelt said.

KOSHER BUTCHER GETS BEEF FOR A FEW MINUTES

96 Pounds Vanish to Eager Customers.

Max Baime, kosher butcher in the Kedzie-Milwaukee community for 25 years, yesterday got a shoulder of beef, his first in three weeks.

The shoulder weighed 96 pounds. Baime has 150 customers. Twenty-five were in his shop at 2645 North Kedzie avenue when the meat arrived. Others hurried in. The results were as expected, altho at last report all contestants weathered the flurry.

The turmoil in the Baime shop was repeated in scores of shops around the city. A check showed that one shop, closed three days, opened to sell 90 pounds of beef. It lasted one hour. Another proprietor was hopefully telling customers he expected some beef tomorrow. Not one kosher butcher checked said he had been able to buy more meat this week than last.

Claim Losses on Pork.

Most regular shops reported meat piling up in counters under rationing. Lunch meat was scorned by ration buyers. Pork ceilings went into effect and butchers claimed new losses. The food distribution administration took over distribution problems from the OPA. Licensing became effective for all slaughterers who sell meat.

The OPA said it had no control over the plight of kosher butchers and said it arose because slaughterers profit more by selling nonkosher meats.

"This is a fine thing," Baime said in wry humor. "The OPA says meat counters are full. Look at mine—not one piece of meat! Ask these people when they last had meat." Baime pointed with a cleaver at the women gathered around him.

The women didn't wait to be asked. "Three weeks," one said.

"Last night my three children said, 'Mamma, aren't we ever going to have a piece of meat?'" another added.

"All we have is chicken, chicken, chicken," said a third.

One Way to Get Meat.

"Hear them all holler for meat," Baime said. "But I can't give it to them. I stay awake nights thinking! Why do I sell meat here? I could sell it all in the alley and get good prices. The OPA is making everybody crooked. If I went crooked the OPA would put me in jail."

The last thought amused him. He stopped, rubbed an ear with the back of the cleaver and said: "Maybe in jail I get a piece of meat to eat."

Davis Names Jay Taylor to Run Farm Labor Unit

Washington, D. C., April 1 (AP).—A spokesman for Chester Davis, war food administrator, said today Lt. Col. Jay Taylor, Amarillo, Tex., banker, has been appointed by Davis to direct the farm labor branch of the newly established food production and distribution program. Taylor, it was said, has been released from army duty.

7,500 ESSENTIAL JOBS AWAIT TAKERS IN U. S. EMPLOYMENT OFFICE

Seven thousand five hundred jobs in essential industry, from those requiring the highest technical skills down to common labor, are available in Chicago thru the United States Employment service.

Despite availability of work only 206 draft age men who now hold nonessential jobs applied for replacement Wednesday, the deadline for nonessential workers who have a 3-A draft classification by reason of dependency.

Yesterday was the beginning of the new fiscal year for beneficiaries of Illinois unemployment compensation, altho applications for renewals were taken two days previously. In the office of Sam C. Bernstein, commissioner of placement and unemployment compensation, it was estimated that 25,000 men and women would register in the Chicago area.

Some of the idleness among the 25,000 compensation seekers is the result of inability to perform jobs in essential industry, but Francis B. Murphy, director of the Illinois department of labor, said many skilled tradesmen in Illinois are refusing to take jobs in war plants because they fear they may be frozen in them at wages lower than they could obtain if working at their trades.

PREDICTS STATE TO SET RECORD WITH 1943 CROP

Springfield, Ill., April 1 [Special].—Predictions that Illinois farmers will set new production records this year, despite man power and machinery shortages, if weather is favorable during the crop season, were made today by A. J. Surratt, statistician for the state and federal departments of agriculture, and Lee M. Gentry, state food administrator for the federal department of agriculture.

"Of course, there aren't as many farm workers as there used to be," Surratt said, "but any one who thinks that means record smashing crops aren't going to be planted and harvested — granted decent weather—doesn't know the Illinois farmer."

Gentry announced at Decatur that farmers' pledges to AAA committee men point to a 5 per cent increase in acreage to be planted in essential war crops and a 10 per cent increase this year in live stock, poultry, and dairy products.

Official Deplores Drop in Tin Can Collections

Lt. Gov. Hugh W. Cross, conservation chairman of the Illinois State Council of Defense, yesterday deplored the decline in tin can collections as the result of canned goods rationing. He urged housewives to redouble their efforts to maintain the tin salvage program at recent levels. He said shipments of tin cans by Illinois cities outside the Chicago area in February totaled 901,260 pounds and that in the first 20 days of March shipments were only 678,570 pounds.

MEAT RATIONING IS UNNECESSARY, SAY CANADIANS

Toronto Dealer Asserts There Is No Shortage.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

TORONTO, Ont., April 1.—"There's no necessity for meat rationing."

Thus did Toronto live stock dealers today greet the announcement of J. L. Ilsley, minister of finance, that meat would be rationed in the dominion in May. The rationing announcement said each resident of Canada, child and adult, will receive 2 pounds of meat weekly

Joseph McCurdy, of McCurdy & McCurdy, Ltd., said at the Union Stockyards: "There's no scarcity of it [meat]. We see that Mr. Ilsley says Canada is going to send meat to Britain. Well, they better be quick about it. If the shipping isn't started along with the rationing, one-third of the meat in Canada will go bad."

"Never a Meat Shortage."

McCurdy remarked caustically that it's hard for live stock men to see the need for meat rationing "when the principal buyers don't come out on the market until 11 a. m."

"Every day this week cattle have been left over to the next day," he said. "Meat rationing looks funny to everybody in the live stock business. There never has been a meat shortage—just a difference in price between what the government will let us pay, and what the farmer is willing to take."

Butchers Eager for Details.

Toronto retail butchers are anxious for details of the meat rationing. They want to know whether the 2 pound weekly allowance is to include fat and bone.

They are also awaiting word as to whether cooked meats will come under the ration.

John King, president of the retail meat dealers' association, said that an executive meeting has been called to consider the situation. Full details of the rationing are to be announced in Ottawa in two weeks.

AXIS RENEWING SPY ACTIVITIES, ADMIRAL WARNS

Says Japs and Nazis Geared in Plot.

New York, April 1 (AP).—Rear Adm. Harold C. Train, chief of naval intelligence, said tonight the axis is gearing for a "desperate, last ditch fight," and has its spies in this country "combing the bars, restaurants, and shipping centers for every stray bit of information that might fit into the Nazi or Japanese espionage pattern."

In an address over the Columbia Broadcasting system, Adm. Train said he had definite information that axis spies "are still operating in this country."

It is no secret, he declared, that before Hitler marched into Poland he boasted that he knew more about that country's military strength than most members of the Polish high command.

"Hitler," he continued, "has made similar boasts about America, and about the army of saboteurs his henchmen had built up here while we ostensibly were sleeping."

He warned Americans to be extremely cautious, especially in discussing letters received from their relatives in the service, lest the enemy obtain information to use "against your sons and brothers and husbands."

Reports Sharp Reduction in Court Traffic Cases

Chief Justice Edward S. Scheffler of the Municipal court yesterday reported a sharp reduction in the number of traffic cases handled in Safety court during March, compared with March last year. Last month only 266 cases were heard, against 428 docketed during March, 1942, he said. During last month, three motorists were sent to the county jail, one to the Bridewell, and fines assessed against 85.

MINERS PROTEST MEAT RATION AS PERIL TO HEALTH

Wilkes Barre, Pa., April 1 [Special]. — Local 6765, United Mine Workers of America, today protested the meat allowance of approximately two pounds weekly under the government's rationing program. The union has a membership of 1,300 employés at Wanamie colliery of the Glen Alden Coal company. Frank Beeunas, chairman of the resolutions committee, said a mine worker requires between six and seven pounds of meat weekly.

"The mine workers use up more energy than men in practically all other industries," he declared. "Coal being an essential product to the war effort, our men feel they should have more meat to carry on their work and prevent a general breakdown in health."

The miners, he added, did not want meat that should be going to the army and navy.

FIND BURMESE ADD JAPAN TO THEIR HATE LIST

China Land of 'Plentee' to Escaped Indians.

[By Wireless to the New York Times and The Chicago Tribune.]

PAOSHAN, China, March 16 [Delayed].—Altho 31 Indians who escaped from a Japanese prison camp in mid-February are still waiting for transportation home, they see everything in this pinched, ruin cluttered town thru rose colored glasses.

Having been prisoners for 11 to 13 months, they find everything in China delightful. Is the food all right? "O, plentee, plentee," they reply laughing with the exuberance of a bevy of schoolgirls. Do they like the Chinese?

"O, plentee, plentee. We can never forget all they did for us when we were coming out of the jungle on the other side of the river."

Helped Like Brothers.

Their leader, Dr. I. C. Choudhury of Bengal says:

"They never left us unprotected. They told us when it was safe to go and took care of us like brothers."

Do they manage to keep warm? "O, plentee, plentee," they reply under the blankets in which they huddle after the sun is down. As prisoners of war they would not have had a chance to play games since Burma fell, but yesterday afternoon they took off their shoes, pants, and turbans, and divided two highly unconventional basketball games with Chinese soldiers, who are always in practice.

One of the things the Indians relish most is telling of the American bombing of Japanese supply centers. They laugh in genuine happiness over the death and destruction they saw during the bombings of towns in which they were quartered.

Tell About Japs.

Since they are so overjoyed to be out of the prison camp, where they built a road for 10 hours a day, they probably are not the most disinterested bearers of tidings from the other side of the Japanese lines. But here are some of the things they say:

Japanese soldiers have not been home in a long time and they see no prospect of going there. They complain that the Japanese lines are now too long and cannot be reenforced. Also, they have no air support in northern Burma.

Altho the Japanese still have large dumps of ammunition and booty captured last spring, they complain that everything is going outward and nothing coming in. Now also they are beginning to feel a shortage of fuel, according to the Indians, who used to go to work in trucks but later were forced to walk.

Moreover, the Burmese, who used to hate only the British, Indians, and Chinese, now hate the Japanese also, who take everything in sight, spread Japanese rupees everywhere, and abuse the natives. The Indians regard the Japanese as smart fighters, but say they do not take kindly to bayonet combat.

Soldiers to the Core.

These Indians are dressed in makeshift attire, from Australian to Rangoon police uniforms to ragged skirts, and some of them are forever combing their long black hair. But they are bred in bone soldiers. They salute with great formality frequently. When they go for a bath they march in formation with the heavy tread of battle troops.

Since most of them have families in India who had had no news of them for a year, they want to go home to visit for a while. But one of them said today, "We are soldiers and we don't care where we fight."

ARRESTED AS HE AIDS IN FUNERAL AS PALLBEARER

Elmer Gyurin, 38 years old, 1823 Cleveland avenue, was arrested yesterday while serving as a pallbearer at the funeral of his brother-in-law, Michael Graff, assistant superintendent of Orchestra hall. Graff shot and killed himself Monday after killing Mrs. Carla Steeb, with whom he had been living.

Gyurin was in the chapel at 525 Armitage avenue with other pallbearers and relatives when Deputy Sheriffs Frank Colucci and Frank Gay seized him on a body attachment issued earlier in the day by Judge Joseph Sabath of the Superior court.

The attachment was obtained by Gyurin's former wife, Maidie, who charged that he was $6,300 in arrears on alimony and child support accumulated at the rate of $12 a week since their divorce in 1930. Deputies Gay and Colucci permitted Gyurin to help carry Graff's casket to the hearse, but not to go to the cemetery.

Wallace Tells Chile World Is Grateful for Its Nitrate

SANTIAGO, Chile, April 1 (AP).—Speaking in a park built in the Vina Delmar resort area by the nitrate interests, Henry A. Wallace, Vice President of the United States, declared today that Chile's nitrate, used for both fertilizer and explosives, "long ago won a decoration of gratitude from free peoples of the world." Accompanied by President Juan Antonio Rios and other officials of Chile, Wallace visited the resort district after inspecting naval facilities at Valparaiso. He will leave tomorrow for a three day visit to Antofagasta and other northern cities.

VERDICT FAVORS SISTER OF NITTI IN DAMAGE SUIT

A not guilty verdict was returned yesterday by a mixed jury in favor of Mrs. Marie Capezio, wife of "Tough Tony" Capezio, and sister of the late Frank Nitti, gang leader, in the $10,000 personal injury suit brought against her by Dr. Harry J. Dooley, 715 Lake street, Oak Park, a physician.

Dr. Dooley sought the damages for injuries and financial loss suffered in a collision between his car and one driven by Mrs. Capezio in River Forest in 1940. Judge John P. McGoorty, of the Superior court, set a motion for a new trial for April 16, and indicated he would allow the motion.

"I can't let a verdict like that stand," he said. "It is against the weight of the evidence, which clearly shows that Mrs. Capezio was driving approximately 50 miles an hour when the accident happened."

Dog Seizes Girl's Dress and Saves Her from Car

St. Louis, Mo., April 1 (AP).—Mike, an Irish setter, was the hero of the neighborhood today. Three year old Dorene Forslund was playing between the tracks when a street car bore down on her. "I heard Mike bark and the street car bell clang," said Mrs. L. R. Compton, whose soldier son owns the dog. "I looked up just in time to see Mike seize the child's dress in his teeth and drag her off the track."

"So glad they laid it away in peace time"

PRIVATE PILOTS FACE LOSS OF THEIR PERMITS

Rental Ban Cuts Chances to Get Flying Hours.

Washington, D. C., April 1 (AP).—Many holders of private pilot licenses who do not own their own airplanes may lose their permits, a civil aeronautics official said today, under a plane rental restriction now beginning to be felt.

This official, who withheld use of his name, explained that the holder of a private license must show that he made at least five takeoffs and five landings during the six months preceding his application for renewal. Additional flying is required for holders of higher rated licenses.

Pleasure Flying Hit.

The war production board issued an order Jan. 26 prohibiting the sale, leasing, renting, giving away or delivering of single engine airplanes of less than 500 horsepower except thru the CAA or with permission of the WPB.

The effect of this order as interpreted in the aviation field is virtually to halt so-called pleasure flying and private student instruction, since the great bulk of such flying and instruction has been in rented planes. The order does not affect planes owned by pilots, however.

Vital Trips Approved.

There are 133,000 licensed pilots and possibly 100,000 of these are not participating in war service flying, such as civil air patrol or civilian pilot instruction, the CAA official said.

Prior to the ban on sales and rentals of light planes, licensed pilots could make the required takeoffs and landings at airports by obtaining permission at the field.

A WPB official said that rumors were widespread over the country that the board had banned private flying, but added that this was not true because "any one who shows his flying serves the war effort can get permission to rent a plane."

BABY 10 HOURS OLD SURVIVES TUMOR REMOVAL

The infant son of Mr. and Mrs. Harrison Martz of 3029 Allen avenue was alive and "dong well" last night despite an emergency operation for the removal of an abdominal tumor, performed when the child was only 10 hours old. The child was born several days ago at St. Elizabeth's hospital. The attending physician called in Dr. J. Lavieri of 3835 West Chicago avenue, who performed the operation. The father is a worker in a war plant.

Friend of the Yanks' Kin

BY SALLY JOY BROWN

[This department answers questions covering problems related to the social welfare of relatives of service men, both in the column and by mail, if stamped, addressed envelopes are sent with inquiries.]

Mrs. C. J. writes: "My son is an aviation cadet. I asked if he had taken out insurance, and he wrote that the government provides such protection for cadets during their training period, and that I am named as his beneficiary. However, a friend recently told me that such insurance would be effective, if he lost his life, only if I can prove that I am actually dependent upon him. Since my husband's death I have been supporting myself and my son and am still able to work, but I am not young and may not always be steadily employed. I hope you won't think me mercenary, but if my friend's information is correct I feel he should have some other form of insurance."

ANSWER: You have been misinformed. The insurance provided by the government for aviation cadets is similar to that which other service men pay for, and in the event of your son's death during his training period, you, as his beneficiary, would be entitled to the full benefits provided by national service insurance. It would not be necessary for you to prove dependency. Your friend has probably heard of the insurance benefits granted by the government to dependents of men who were killed at Pearl Harbor. It was found at that time that many service men were not covered by insurance, and in some cases, where families were actually dependent, benefits were granted even tho the soldier or sailor had not taken out or paid for insurance.

R. N. writes: "My brother, who is overseas, recently asked me to renew his subscription to a magazine he has been receiving. Will it be necessary for me to send his letter to the publishers as proof of his request? We've been making a scrapbook of all his mail and hate to risk the possible loss of even one letter."

ANSWER: For the very reason you mention, postal authorities have informed me that a request to the publisher, accompanied by information that you have a written request from the service man, which you can and will produce upon request, will be sufficient.

STATE SCHOOL RUNAWAYS LOOT AS THEY FLEE

Four young inmates who fled the Illinois State Training School for Boys near St. Charles Wednesday night were apparently making their way westward yesterday, leaving a trail of stolen automobiles to mark their route.

Sheriffs of Kane, De Kalb, and Lee counties believe three automobiles, stolen and driven until they were out of gas, were taken by the four St. Charles fugitives. They point to the fact that two of the four were sentenced to the reformatory for auto theft and said one of the boys, Harvey Deaton, 16 years old, of Joliet, was familiar with Maple Park, 12 miles west of the school, where the first car was stolen.

In addition to Deaton the fugitives are Henry Wandrow, 15, of 3307 Hirsch street, Chicago; Albert Hodowsky, 17, of Pana, Ill., and Allen Knox, 17, of Springfield.

The boys fled the institution as they were being marched back to their quarters after attending an entertainment in the school's auditorium.

COMPLETEPLANS ON SALE OF CIVIC OPERA BUILDING

Music Foundation to Vote on Proposal Today.

said. He did not divulge the terms but said they were an important consideration in the transaction. There will be no increase in the moderate rental that the opera company has paid in the last three years, it is understood.

The transaction under which title to the opera building passes to the finance company is one of the largest real estate operations in Chicago in recent years.

Building Fully Rented.

The building is fully rented. About one-third of its space is occupied by government agencies. Among the tenants are a number of large industrial corporations some of which occupy a floor or more of space. The building has 739,600 square feet of rentable space in addition to auditoriums, shops, and basement. It is second in size only to the Merchandise Mart in Chicago.

General Finance, of which Owen L. Coon is chairman, has been engaged in the personal loan and instalment finance business. Like many other companies in its field it is expanding into other lines because of the war time restrictions on credit financing.

COLLABORATION STUDIED

BY CLAUDIA CASSIDY.

Plans were under discussion yesterday for a further collaboration between the Chicago Opera company and the Metropolitan Opera association, which ends its first Chicago season in 33 years at the Civic Opera house tomorrow night, a season unofficially reported to have taken in more than $160,000 for 14 performances.

The executive committee of the Chicago Opera company gave a luncheon in the Chicago club yesterday in honor of Edward Johnson, general manager of the Metropolitan, who is ill at Michael Reese hospital and was unable to attend. However, the luncheon was attended by 25 widely known Chicagoans, and Johnson was represented by his assistant managers, Edward Ziegler and Earle Lewis, and by the Metropolitan's musical secretary, Frank St. Leger. Announcement was made of the sale of the Civic Opera building and it was unanimously agreed that the executive committee of the Chicago Opera meet as soon as possible with representatives of the Metropolitan Opera's board of directors to work out some plan of collaboration.

Asserts Conditions Different.

Speaking for the Chicago group, Arthur Cable said: "In this year of 1943 we are living under conditions different from those of 10 or 20 years ago, and to get the best opera we might as well pool our resources."

St. Leger said: "This does not necessarily mean the Chicago Opera would have to lose its identity. There has been no such thought on the part of the Metropolitan. It was never the intention of the Metropolitan to interrupt the functions of those responsible for opera in Chicago."

Later Johnson said: "The exchange of views that took place at the luncheon today interests me enormously. It will give me the greatest pleasure to present to directors of the Metropolitan at their next meeting an outline of the thought expressed by the Chicago group. I will do my utmost to further whatever plan seems best for the promotion and extension of opera in America. I am extremely grateful for the reception given us in Chicago and most enthusiastic about the full coöperation extended us by everyone concerned. This means the theater, the public, and the press."

CITY OFFICIALS ARRAIGNED ON RIOT CHARGES

Lincoln, Ill., April 1 (AP).—H. B. McGregor, Lincoln city policeman, and Edgar N. Britton, custodian of the city crematory, pleaded innocent today to rout and riot charges filed by Larry B. Shroyer, city editor of the Lincoln Evening Courier. Logan County Judge William S. Ellis set May 3 as the trial date.

McGregor and Britton previously had pleaded guilty before a police magistrate and paid fines of $3 each on charges of assault and battery, disturbing the peace and disorderly conduct. They admitted they attacked and beat Shroyer March 18 near the Lincoln city hall.

Mayor Ralph F. Koehnle later requested in a letter to the Courier's publisher, Mrs. Allyne V. Nugent, that the Courier replace Shroyer as a city hall reporter "in view of the personal antagonism which exists between your reporter and various city officials and employés."

The Courier, in a front page editorial, flatly denied the mayor's request and rebuked him for "an almost unbelievable expression of arrogance."

MAY LIFT DRAFT, BAN ON FATHERS JULY 1: HERSHEY

Knows of No Parents Being Taken Now.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., April 1.—Maj. Gen. Lewis B. Hershey, selective service director, said today that a prohibition on drafting fathers for military service will be lifted about July 1 "or possibly a little beyond that date."

Hershey was questioned at a press conference on reports that fathers already are being taken by some local boards, and replied that his office has no evidence of such inductions except under conditions already specified by selective service regulations.

A general prohibition against drafting fathers has been in force since last July 13, he said. However, he added that it does not apply if the father is not living with his family, is not supporting his family, or if the child dependent was conceived after Pearl Harbor, or when the man's induction was imminent.

Study Draft Revision.

Hershey said studies are being made by his office and war man power commission officials on the possible revision of draft classifications, but denied that any decision has been reached.

Gen. Hershey asserted that speculation as to draft changes "tends to disturb people," adding that revisions will be announced as soon as they are decided.

His statement was made in response to reports that selective service is drawing plans to abolish dependency classifications, 3-A, 3-B, and 3-C, for all men with dependents, other than married men with children.

Now Single Men's Classes.

Under such a plan, registrants would be reclassified 1-A — eligible for induction—if not entitled to occupational deferment; 2-A if necessary men in essential civilian industries, 2-B if necessary men in war production, and 2-C if essential agricultural workers.

The 2-A, 2-B, and 2-C groupings are occupational deferment classes in which single men eligible for deferment have been placed.

Hershey denied that a decision has been made to abolish the 3-B status, which is granted men with dependents and engaged in war production or essential civilian activities whether or not they are "necessary" men. The 3-A status includes men with dependents and not in war production or essential civilian activities, and 3-C applies to men with dependents and engaged in farming.

There now are between 7 and 8 million registrants in 3-A and about 2 million in 3-B, Hershey said. Selective service officials also estimated that slightly less than 1 million registrants have been granted industrial occupational deferments and placed in 2-A and 2-B and that about 3 million agricultural workers have been granted deferments.

ANTI-LYNCHING RIDER WILL BE SOUGHT FOR HOUSE GESTAPO BILL

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., April 1.—The house will be asked tomorrow to approve an amendment to the administration's so called Gestapo or war security bill making lynching punishable by death. Proponents of the amendment said tonight that mob killings of American citizens at home are as dangerous to national security in war time as the activities of foreign saboteurs. Previous attempts to bring anti-lynching legislation on the house floor have been blocked by southern Democrats.

Edgar G. Brown, president of the National Negro council, predicted that the amendment will be supported by Republicans and northern Democrats and will be adopted by an overwhelming margin. Congressional observers, however, predict the southern bloc would oppose the bill if the amendment carries.

It is charged that the measure is designed to promote snooping and would endanger freedom of the press. If the bill is passed, opponents assert, the way would be open for widespread persecution of civilians to silence critics of the administration.

Taxi Driver Fined $10 for Refusing Policeman

Nathan Leventhal, 36 years old, who made the mistake of refusing to take a policeman and his wife as passengers in his taxicab, was fined $10 yesterday by Judge Cecil Smith in South State street court on charges of resisting arrest and refusal to accept passengers. Complainant against him was Traffic Policeman James Bittner, who hailed the cab Wednesday in front of a loop theater. Leventhal, who lives at 3217 Belle Plaine avenue, said he had reached his day's mileage limit when the policeman hailed him.

REPORT GENERAL OBEDIENCE TO 48 HOUR ORDER

WMC Officials Find No Open Defiance.

Washington, D. C., April 1 (AP).—War man power officials expressed satisfaction today over initial reports of compliance with the order for a 48 hour work week in 32 labor shortage areas and thruout the nation in lumber and nonferrous mining industries.

Field reports on this program brought no word of open defiance. Employers were described generally as coöperating fully.

As surveys had indicated earlier, it appeared few workers would be released immediately for other jobs. Most war plants in the areas where the order became effective today already were on at least a 48 hour week.

Cite 3 Types of Compliance.

Compliance did not necessarily mean immediate institution of a 48 hour week. Under WMC regulations, employers were deemed to be in compliance if: [1] They went on a 48 hour week; [2] filed with WMC a schedule showing how many workers could be released by a 48 hour week, or [3] filed a request for exemption from the order.

Since those plants instituting a 48 hour week were not required to report, it was expected to be some time before the order's full effect would be known.

Likewise, it may be months before employers who would release workers by going on a longer work week will be directed to make the change. WMC ordered that no employer should drop workers until the United States employment service advised it had other jobs for them.

Doubt Nation-Wide Order.

Officials said the longer week would be ordered in other communities as need developed, but that it probably would never be applied on a nation-wide basis.

Where the 48 hour week does not free many workers for new jobs, they said, it will help alleviate a tight labor situation by allowing many firms to continue normal operations without replacing employés drafted or departing for other reasons.

The WMC granted broad discretionary authority to regional and local offices in allowing exemptions from the order. They were directed to seek compliance by persuasion and, this failing, to report the case to the proper government department.

President Roosevelt's order for the 48 hour week set forth no specific penalty for noncompliance, but the government could take action in several ways, including withholding materials from a manufacturer.

18 SO. ILLINOIS COUNTIES HAVE LABOR SURPLUS

Carbondale, Ill., April 1 (AP).—The 18 southernmost counties of Illinois, which have more than 20,000 unemployed persons, called on the government today to consider possible utilization of their man power supply in war production.

Three hundred civic and labor leaders discussed the situation at a meeting with representatives of the war labor board, the army, the smaller war plants corporation and several divisions of the war production board.

Many Skilled Workers.

Evan Dale of Carbondale, president of district 37 of the American Federation of Labor, said at least 14,000 of the unemployed were semiskilled and skilled workmen.

Availability of man power was one of the reasons for the erection of the Illinois ordnance works near Carbondale, but it was pointed out the plant had failed to take up all the slack of unemployment in the area.

Francis B. Murphy, director of the state department of labor, proposed conversion of existing facilities for war work and suggested that several scattered small plants be put into operation, rather than another large plant like the ordnance works.

Ample Facilities Told.

In addition to the man power supply, government officials were told the area offered ample water, electric power, and housing facilities for industrial expansion.

Among those at the meeting were John Nuveen, assistant regional director of the WPB; L. A. Miller, representing the smaller war plants corporation; E. Z. McNatt, WLB assistant regional director; Frank Gridder, area director of the WPB labor production division, and William Whetro, its regional labor representative, all of Chicago.

ARMY-NAVY RULE OF ENTIRE WAR PROGRAM ASKED

Maas Gives Master Plan to End Confusion.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., April 1.—Warning that confused and conflicting burocracy may lose the war, Rep. Melvin J. Maas [R., Minn.] introduced a bill in the house today to give the joint chiefs of staffs of the army and navy control over the entire war program.

Under the bill, the final decision on man power, procurement, production, and military strategy and operations would be in the province of the joint chiefs of staff.

Production, Rep. Maas explained, would still be managed by civilians, and the economy of the nation would not be turned over to the military. But the last word on the balanced program, as it affects the conduct and operation of the war, would be given to the chiefs of staff.

Would Eliminate Conflicts.

This, the Minnesota congressman said, would eliminate such fundamental conflicts as the rubber program versus the high octane gasoline and escort vessels.

"The number of escort vessels to be built and the schedule of their completion and going into service," he explained, "vitally affects not only military operations but the grand, overall military strategy of the war.

"Therefore, when the rubber program conflicts with the escort program, the rubber program itself becomes a matter of military decision. The war cannot be fought without high octane gasoline. The balancing of the program of high octane gasoline, escort vessels, and the production of rubber is, in the final analysis, a military decision, and this decision can be made only by the joint chiefs of staff if the whole program is to be properly coördinated.

Setup Now Too Complex.

"We may win the war with our present confused, complicated, and conflicting burocracy," Maas said, "but if we do, it will be in spite of rather than because of burocracy.

"The structure of the federal government, and particularly of the war agencies, is now so complex that no one human being can possibly understand the workings of the government. Bureau has been piled upon bureau, and office upon office, and commission upon comsion. And they have become so scrambled that no chart could even begin to show a clear cut picture.

No One Heads It All.

"So the easy way out has been taken and new bureaus have been created to avoid solving new problems. New organizations are superimposed upon old ones without canceling the powers of the original office and without clearly defining the scope of the new one. Boards, bureaus, and commissions overlap and have conflicting authority, and the whole mess is headed by no one."

Rep. Maas said many government agencies are working at cross purposes and that the war program is being hopelessly enmeshed in confusion.

"If we are to fight this war as efficiently and expeditiously as possible," he said, "and win a victory with a minimum of cost in lives and property, we must immediately use the entire war program thru the master war plan."

SUSPEND WORK ON 1 ORE DOCK AT ESCANABA

Escanaba, Mich., April 1 [Special].—Construction work on one of the two government ore docks here has been suspended because of shortage of cross ties and structural timber, and work will be speeded on the other dock to bring it to completion by May 1, the war production board has announced. The supplementary rail rehabilitation program also has been ordered suspended.

The first phase of the project is designed to bring the dock to within 60 days of completion. The project never contemplated total completion unless use of the docks is necessitated by damage to the Soo locks so that Lake Superior ore would have to be diverted here by rail. Donald M. Nelson, WPB chairman, in ordering suspension of work on one of the docks, declared that cross ties and structural timber were needed for safety maintenance of the nation's railroads and docks.

FEWER JOKERS USE PHONE ON ALL FOOLS' DAY

April fool jokes requiring the use of telephone lines reached the lowest point in 20 years yesterday, it was reported by a spokesman for the Illinois Bell Telephone company. He said that the drop in pranksters' calls is due chiefly to civilians' wish to aid war communications by releasing the wires for calls important to the prosecution of the war. Robert Bean, assistant director of Brookfield zoo, said that, altho the zoo yesterday received several hundred calls for "Mr. Fox," "Mr. Wolf," and other fictitious names, there was a 50 per cent drop in calls from April fools' funny men. Similar drops in that type of calls were noted at Lincoln park and the County morgue.

Demands Her Ring

MRS. EVELYN WADLER.

When Mrs. Evelyn Wadler, 24 years old, 3610 North Avers avenue, divorced her husband, Lester, 31, of 4233 North Hermitage avenue, last Jan. 15, she waived alimony on condition that he give her back her $2,000 engagement ring.

And she wants all of the ring, if possible, her lawyer, Maurice L. Marcus, told Judge Joseph Sabath in the Superior court yesterday. Three weeks ago, Marcus said, she got the main stone—a 2½ carat diamond—by threatening a contempt action, but she was still missing six little stones and the mounting, the latter valued at $200.

Wadler, a printer, when asked about the missing parts, said he had sold the little stones for $40, but still had the mounting. Judge Sabath ordered him to turn over the $40 and the mounting. Mrs. Wadler is a former model.

SEEK AUTHORITY FOR GAS REFUND GIFT TO CHARITY

More than $70,000 in unclaimed gas rebate funds will be distributed among national and local charities under an order to be presented for approval today before Judge Julius H. Miner of the Circuit court.

The distribution was suggested by Mayor Kelly. The order will be presented thru Barnet Hodes, corporation counsel, and Atty. Gen. George F. Barrett.

The American Red Cross would receive $40,364, the Community Fund of Chicago, $10,000, and the United Charities, the Catholic Charities, the Jewish Charities and the Illinois Children's home, $5,000 each.

PREVIEW OF THE NEXT PEACE.

When Mr. Wilson arrived in Paris in 1918 he had in his pocket a document which might have been thought to guarantee with certainty the success of his plans for a peace woven tendril by tendril into a new world order safe for democracy and safe from war.

The guaranty was a note signed by Great Britain, France, and Italy before the armistice accepting the fourteen points and supplemental conditions as a specific formula for the peace. It was a sort of shotgun wedding, inasmuch as Lloyd George and Clemenceau had been told that Mr. Wilson might go to congress for a separate peace on that formula if they undertook to disappoint the hopes they had raised. Shotgun or not, the diplomatic rites had been solemnized and the pledge was holy.

In the exchange of vows the points had been accepted with only two reservations. Col. House told Mr. Wilson it was good the conditions had been written in the document. Thus it followed that for everything else the acceptance was without qualification. One reservation preserved without restriction the right to discuss and interpret freedom of the seas. The other recorded an agreement that German reparations should include compensation for damage done civilian property. That was understood not to include the war costs of the allies. In common sense it couldn't be so construed.

By the pre-armistice agreement the statesmen of the allied governments might reasonably have been supposed to cancel all their secret treaties and promises. But Mr. Wilson was no sooner landed in Europe than the pre-armistice agreement began to melt away in the glorious sun of victory and the prior and particular accords of the allies flourished again in the heat of self-interest. If Mr. Wilson had not been an austere, self-centered, and infallible man he might have been astonished on learning how unpopular he had become over night and what names he was called—he, the great liberator and defender of democratic faith.

The signers of the peace formula almost immediately ganged on him. He was scorned as a Puritan autocrat, a Presbyterian theocrat, a Methodist revivalist, a self-conscious saint, and—to top it off—what contribution to the war had his country made to justify his impertinent dogmatism? It required only the surrender of the Germans on Wilson's terms to bring about this change in spirit and intention. When neither he nor his country was needed any longer on the European scene he was interfering with the traditional procedure of declaring dividends after a successful joint enterprise.

Mr. Wilson was no man to tolerate contumacy in other men, or an intrigue against his purposes, or an indignity to his pride, but when he discovered what was going on his dilemma was agonizing. One impulse was to go home, denounce the bad faith, and make a separate treaty with Germany. He threatened to do so but was calmed. The bitter reflection was that if he defended himself by denouncing his deceivers he would lose the league of nations, which was uppermost in his thoughts and desires. Mr. Wilson did come home—to test the ground under his feet. He found it infirm. A month before he sailed for the conference he had lost the congressional elections. Europeans could be forgiven for thinking that he no longer represented the people or the government of the United States.

Returning to fight the Battle of Paris, Mr. Wilson proposed amendments to the covenant in hope of disarming criticism at home, principally by making it clear that the league could not interfere in the domestic affairs of a nation. That should have helped him more than it did. Mr. Roosevelt might find it well worth his while to recall, detail by detail, what happened to his commander in chief in 1919. Mr. Roosevelt has not as yet lost both houses of congress, but his small margin in the house of representatives will stand very little leaning on. He is now in Mr. Wilson's shoes. He has been given a suggestion of what is coming. Mr. Churchill has been fairer than Lloyd George thus far. He hasn't concealed the strings on his promises. Mr. Stalin has been candor itself regarding at least part of his annexation program. The man who speaks no English at all has been more explicit than the man who speaks it so well. All of the understandings and agreements may not be known now. There may be some surprises in store, but already there are many cancellations of the Atlantic Charter, which seems to apply only where it is not needed. Mr. Eden may have reconciled Mr. Roosevelt to these facts of life. Mr. Roosevelt says their minds have met.

Mr. Wilson was a good fighter, but it availed not. Part of the time he had the bull by the horns and part of the time by the tail. He returned to the arena each time he was tossed over the wall into the seats, but he could not prevail against the combinations raised against him.

Mr. Roosevelt is recommended to his recollections of what happened to his commander in chief in 1919. And he is advised to correct his memory. In discussing Mr. Eden's visit he told reporters that we entered the other peace conference without a plan. That would astonish Mr. Wilson if he were alive. He had a complete plan and, moreover, he had the signatures to it before the armistice. The signatures were dishonored. The peace became merely a war breeding truce.

THE PERJURY BILL.

The Chicago crime commission has urged upon the legislature the desirability of passing the bill introduced by Rep. William G. Thon to change the requirements for conviction on charges of perjury. A long and disgraceful series of courtroom fiascoes in which the state has been unable to prove its case because witnesses, knowing that punishment was unlikely, have changed or retracted testimony previously given has proved the necessity of a new law governing perjury.

As the law now stands, it is not possible to convict a person who makes contradictory statements under oath unless the prosecutor is able to prove which statement is true and which is false. This is an obviously senseless requirement. Rep. Thon's bill follows the pattern of the New York perjury law establishing perjury by simple proof of the defendant's having made contradictory statements under oath, without proof of which statement was true.

When Mr. Thon's bill has been enacted, the perfidy of fewer scoundrels will be rewarded with freedom.

REAPPORTIONMENT.

A resolution calling for the appointment of a committee to prepare a legislative redistricting has been introduced at Springfield by Rep. Cilella of Chicago, a Democrat. We hope it is adopted.

The state constitution requires that all the districts in the state be of approximately equal population, and that there be a reapportionment after each census. There has been no reapportionment in Illinois in more than 40 years, with the result that Cook county, with well over half the population of the state, has only a little more than a third of the representation in the general assembly. The movement of population within Cook county has made for even more glaring inequalities. Areas close to the center of the city that were heavily populated in 1900 have since been largely deserted while new neighborhoods have sprung up where in 1900 there were empty prairies.

As might have been expected, the author of the resolution is a Democrat. The Democrats are now in the minority in the legislature. When they were in power a few years ago they could have effected a redistricting, but chose not to disturb a situation that was favorable to them, especially in Chicago. It is a curious fact that we fight our wars and sacrifice our sons in the name of democracy, but allow the representative principle that is the essence of democratic government to decay in our own state.

Mr. Cilella's resolution deals only with the reapportionment of the legislative districts, and says nothing about the congressional districts which are also 40 years behind the times. Practically speaking, it should be less difficult to bring the congressional districts up to date if only because the members of the general assembly should find it easier to make trouble for the sitting congressmen than for themselves.

From the partisan viewpoint a redistricting might cost the Republicans a few seats in congress. Downstate is now solidly Republican and, therefore, the reapportionment, by taking a few seats from that area, would deprive the Republicans of that many easy victories. On the other hand, a fair apportionment would almost certainly cost the Democrats some of their sure things within Cook county. Cook county in recent elections has given rather narrow margins to the Democrats and they have been able to hold a substantial majority of the congressional delegation from the metropolitan area only by virtue of their control of the river wards which are tremendously overrepresented in congress. A reapportionment would take away this advantage and give the heavy Republican vote in the newer and better residential areas its voice.

A SUGGESTION FOR MR. BROWN.

It has long been an axiom in the newspaper business that the weather forecast is the most widely read piece of news in the paper. THE TRIBUNE has a new daily feature which promises to outstrip even the weather in reader interest. It is Mary Meade's daily bulletin informing housewives when their various ration stamps expire.

Right now a scattered minority of shoppers are bewailing the fact that they forgot to read the paper Wednesday and thereby let some of their first batch of canned goods stamps go unused. Their present blue stamps for these purchases are good for the rest of the month. Their new red stamps for the purchase of meat, cheese, and fats become valid on a weekly basis, but all they get this month are good until April 30. Their present sugar coupon is good for 5 pounds any time between now and May 31. They can buy a pound of coffee with coupon 26 any time between now and April 25, but if they mix that one with the meat coupons and wait until the end of the month they are out of luck.

The confusion that rationing has inflicted on housewives is bad enough of itself, but there is no reason why it should be worse confounded by the irregular dates on which the rationing coupons expire. All of the ration books should be put on a monthly basis and this should be done before any further rationing schemes add to the present unnecessary disorder.

This would not be a difficult task. The canned goods rationing is already on a monthly basis. Meat rationing could be made so by lowering point requirements to make the present 64 points stretch over a month instead of four weeks. If it is desirable to prevent buying rushes that might result from making a whole month's stamps valid at once, they could be validated on fixed dates instead of the present weekly system. Sugar would present no problem and all that would be necessary to include coffee, would be to allow a pound a month, instead of one every five weeks.

Of course, it may be the policy of the office of price administration to make things as difficult as possible for every one in the country. The actions of some of its employés indicate that this is so, but Administrator Prentiss Brown gives evidence from time to time that he doesn't hold with that theory. Anyway, the suggestion is his for the taking.

YOU CAN'T BEAT IT.

[Daily Oklahoman, Oklahoma City.]

According to the New Deal formula we had to reelect Mr. Roosevelt in 1940 because we were going to have a war, we must reëlect him in 1944 because we shall be having a war, and we must reëlect him in 1948 because we shall have had a war. They used to run their politics that way down in old Mexico in the days of Diaz, but the formula is something new for the United States.

THE SOFT UNDERBELLY.

When Winston Churchill spoke of "the soft underbelly of the axis," he was thinking of the enemy as a beast with dangerous horns and deadly hooves, to be attacked with the upward slash of a wolf's fangs or the thrust from below of a wild boar's tusk. Only four-footed animals have underbellies; the similar region in man is the bay window or the front porch.

* * *

"Underbelly" is given in Webster on a long list of words carrying that prefix. There is no definition. Mr. Churchill's figure of speech had an edge of novelty for city folks, but may have been familiar to farmers, dog-breeders, veterinarians, and big game hunters.

* * *

Mr. Churchill, like all Englishmen of his class and generation, had a classical education, and it is likely that when he wrote the famous phrase his subconscious mind was dwelling upon the Roman army's first encounter with elephants. Pyrrhus, king of Epirus in Greece, invaded Italy in 281 B. C. with 25,000 men—foot, horse, and elephants. He defeated the Romans several times, but suffered such heavy losses that "a Pyrrhic victory" became familiar as a phrase, and is still alive. The elephants broke the Roman heart until the legionaries were taught to run under the great beasts and stab upward with sword or spear. Before the campaign ended Pyrrhus had no more elephants.

* * *

This was the first appearance of the "soft underbelly" idea in European military affairs. You will find a reference to it somewhere in Macaulay's "Lays of Ancient Rome."

IN SUPPLICATION.

(For D. O.)

There will come a time when I
Will know these scenes no more,
And other hands will beach their boat
Upon this wind-swept shore;

And other feet will follow far
This path where lichens creep;
And other hearts will seek this peace
Deep where the willows weep.

And they will know the wood duck's young;
They'll hear the hermit thrush
Close in upon the briary coombe
Thru which the foxes rush.

And they will see, as I have seen,
God's face beyond a hill
When shafts of saffron sunset glow
Bend to His awful will.

And all I ask is that those hearts,
Those questing hearts, will see
On shore, on path, in sunset glow,
A little bit of me.

Education of a New Chicagoan.

My two young reporter friends, Roy and Mike [March 26] have lately been continuing my Chicago education.

We wandered one fine evening recently along Michigan avenue, and I remarked upon its splendid sweep.

"There is one thing you must avoid," said Roy, the red-haired one, "and that is of falling into the habit of comparing Chicago with New York to the detriment of the latter. So this little scene interests you?"

"It's magnificent," I replied.

"That's just what we mean," said Mike, the dark-haired one. "You must rate all this at its proper value. It cannot compare with anything in New York."

"O, but——"

"It cannot, and that's all there is to it. Why, it's positively un-Chicagoan to say that it does. Every one agrees that all this beauty of lake, park, and skyline is not to be compared, in the matter of true metropolitan glamor, with, say, a section of New York's lower east side, with its noise, dirt, and smells. We simply don't have the glamor here," he added sadly.

"But——"

"Mr. Hoosier," said Roy, "there is only one proper attitude for a true Chicagoan—inferiority in the presence of a New Yorker."

I wonder what I should have done to get acclimated so soon had I not by good fortune met these two bright young men so soon after leaving my sequestered existence among the Indiana simplicities. Paul D. the Hatter.

YOURS IS THE HAND.

(To a diamond-drill runner.)

Yours is the hand that guides long fangs of steel,
Water-venomed, beneath the earthen crust
To treasure troves locked with a timeless seal
Since the days when mankind was naught but dust.

Yours is the hand that builds the stock piles high
And fills long ships below their waterline,
For the crude shack which sprawls against the sky
Houses the one who finds rich ores to mine.

Yours was the hand that turned the battle's tide
And caused bright peaceful days to come about,
So if you are not praised or glorified,
My song of praise will swell into a shout.

HOPE FOR A CHEMICAL CURE OF TUBERCULOSIS.

CHEMISTRY, that sleight of hand performer, has revolutionized industry. In like fashion it has influenced the lives of each of us. Its contributions to the profession of medicine have been numerous and the most recent advance has to do with the destruction of virulent organisms thruout the body. Ever since Koch discovered the tubercle bacillus in 1882, experts in this field have hoped to work out some formula which would deliver a knockout blow to the causative "bug." We are all familiar with the failure that attended the use of tuberculin and the serum from turtles announced as a cure by German investigators.

But the search has continued and recently an American scientist prepared a complex organic compound which contains sulfur. In order to avoid a long technical name, the chemical has been christened "promin," or "promanide." In many respects it bears a real similarity to the sulfonamide derivatives.

Not long ago, Tyler and Lapp described its behavior with 10 victims of tuberculosis. Thus far they have limited trial to local applications where the lesions could be reached. In one case involving disease of the spine they were able to withdraw a large quantity of pus from an abscess in the lumbar region and introduce a 5 per cent solution of promin in glycerine. They were induced to make these clinical tests because the drug appeared to demolish the bacteria when employed with experimental animals. For example, guinea pigs apparently were freed from the microbes.

Lung tuberculosis cannot be managed in this manner but when the malady attacks a bone or some organ, and when a channel leading to the outside permits access to the source, injection has brought about marked improvement.

One of the patients cited—a man of 28—was suffering from tuberculous peritonitis. Healing occurred quickly, with a firm scar. Another instance was a 31 year old male who exhibited an abscess in the left thigh. The discharging pus was foul and relief followed a few treatments.

Early in 1942, workers of the Mayo Foundation reported that they inoculated guinea pigs with human tubercle bacilli which they obtained from the Saranac Lake laboratories. The animals were then given promin by adding it to the diet. The procedure was continued for nearly three months. Despite the virulence of the disease which was thus established, 24 remained alive. In fact, all that failed to receive the medicine succumbed.

The conclusion is inescapable that something stopped the growth of the germs. It is to be hoped that this new pathway to the control of the great white plague will end in victory.

Needless to say, much remains to be done. While the dye does not have quite the same effect when given to human beings, further modification may bring a remedy which will be of value. Even now, its usefulness in bone disease has been authenticated.

CALLING ALL BLEEDING HEARTS.

Chicago, March 30.—One of your contemporaries devotes three columns in a recent issue to righteous indignation because the Jews in Algeria, like 1st ward Republicans, are denied the franchise. Another is worried about the post-war boundaries of Latvia, Lithuania, and Poland.

May I suggest that we are all overlooking, in our selfish and parochial isolationism, an all-out, first chop problem, the contemplation whereof, under proper directives, objectively, free from obscurantism and with the proper approach, ought to be the first order of the day for every well meaning American.

What are we doing about the problem of Andorra? What is the post-war future of brave little Andorra? What do we know about Andorra, that heroic little island of democracy, completely surrounded by man eating totalitarians?

Do we realize that under our archaic immigration restrictions less than six and seven-eighths Andorreans may reach our shores in a period of 100 years?

What have we sacrificed for Andorra? Which of the institutions of Andorra have we adopted in exchange for our own moth eaten and antiquated traditions?

To the end that Andorreans may be understood and appreciated, that they may eat meat, tho we go vegetarian, the following organizations of forward looking Americans have undertaken to function for the duration and after:

The committee to substitute Andorrean culture for American prejudice; the committee of 1,000 to repeal Andorrean immigration restrictions; the committee to avoid wounding the sensibilities of Andorra; the committee to foster Andorrean art; the committee for free trade with Andorra; the committee for free food for Andorra; the committee for free drinks for Andorra; Andirons for Andorra, Inc., All For Andorra, Not Inc.

Let us hope that after these organizations get under way we shall salute the historic emblem of brave little Andorra, the six legged Willopus-Wallopus, pale pink on a field of seasick green, as it waves in triumph over the city hall. CAMERON LATTER.

A LOWDEN MEMORIAL.

Oregon, Ill., March 30.—In the death of Frank O. Lowden, one of Illinois' greatest governors and one of the nation's foremost statesmen passed into history.

Would it not be fitting and proper for the state to erect a suitable memorial to Col. Lowden, probably placed here in Oregon on his beloved Sinnissippi farms?

Frank O. Lowden's name will grow greater as time goes on and as his sterling statesmanship stands out in comparison with and contrast to what the country is experiencing in governmental and political leadership. C. E. W.

HAPPY COSTA RICA.

Chicago, March 29.—Costa Rica, our neighboring republic, is a small country of 23,000 square miles and 472,000 people. They must be real people. Their president is ineligible for even a second term. Some time ago an unpopular president was called upon at his residence, or institution, by a crowd of 2,000 school children who staged a demonstration, protesting something he had done. The hose was turned upon them, but they cut the hose. The president resigned the following day! HY GUNTER.

PROMOTING ABSENTEEISM.

Chicago, March 30.—One branch of the government never seems to know what the other is doing. Congress is enacting stern measures to curb absenteeism among war workers. The revenue service, however, encourages absenteeism among workers by calling workers during the day for tax audit conferences. Branch offices have been opened, supposedly for the convenience of the public, but seem only to harass the individual taxpayer.

If one million day workers of the 40 million taxpayers are called for a tax conference during one year, the loss to American industry is 8 million man hours.

The bureau of internal revenue should be streamlined for the important task of winning the war. It should revise its archaic procedure. Now the taxpayer receives a letter the purpose of which is to give him a mental "third degree," to scare and confuse him. All he learns from the letter is that he must attend a tax conference with all his records. This department should dispose of most of its cases by correspondence with the taxpayer. The letters should be intelligently written, plainly asking for the information the department is seeking. The taxpayer can reply by mail. If conferences are necessary, the department should stagger its office hours so the day worker can be interviewed in the evenings.

The procedure of staggering office hours should be applied to all governmental agencies, local, state, or federal, including the courts. Absenteeism among war workers can be reduced materially if every worker, whether day or night, can transact his or her business after working hours.

THEY'VE CAUGHT KAISER AGAIN.

Evanston, Ill., March 19.—The WPB has indicted Henry J. Kaiser on 31 charges of violating priority decrees. If that is the only way Mr. Kaiser can continue his masterful production record, I am in favor of him continuing his methods, whatever they are, WPB or no WPB. If ever I had to choose between obeying burocratic decrees and preserving our nation, I would not hesitate to cut the red tape. And were I on the jury trying Henry J. Kaiser, my verdict would read, "The prosecution is hereby found guilty." ALBERT KLINGER.

YOUTHFUL IDLERS.

Chicago, March 27.—Living in the loop this winter, I have been much surprised at the number of teen age boys I see—especially in movie houses—during school hours. Do the high schools have no truant laws? I should think these boys would be in school, in uniform, or in defense work. They seem to be from 18 years up, and are very numerous at all times. Who can explain? CURIOUS.

WHAT MAKES A GOOD LAW.

Wichita, Kas., March 23.—The grandiose promises of the Atlantic Charter are but a gesture of good will for health, wealth, prosperity, and long lives for every one everywhere. But justice, like charity, begins at home and practical measures of a concrete nature are what are urgently needed at this time. For example, we should have freedom from interference with international free trade, freedom from regulation by crackpot economists at Washington, freedom from the scourge of price and rental regulation, and freedom from inequitable taxation. Repeal of those laws which interfere with our unalienable rights and liberties is what is most needed at this time. Buckle, in his "History of Civilization," stated the case in these words: "Every great reform which has been effected has consisted not in doing something new, but in undoing something old . . . the best laws which have been passed have been those by which some former laws have been repealed." HENRY WARE ALLEN.

PROFITS FROM TIN CANS.

Chicago, March 29.—The newspapers say that Chicago leads the country in tin can salvage. In January we shipped 917,236 pounds of cans. This is as it should be.

A friend employed in a large corporation recently told me that they sell their tin cans at $8 a ton. I presume there would be some small cost to the city for collection. However, even allowing a dollar or two per ton for the garbage truck there would still be several dollars per ton payable to some one.

As I wash, dry, and flatten my tin cans and put them out to be picked up by the truck I can't help wondering just who does get that money. Because we want to win the war, and quickly, we housewives will continue to salvage every ounce of tin and fats, but we would feel better while so doing if somebody would tell us where the profits go. MRS. HENRY C. DORMITZER.

DIDN'T GET IT IN WRITING.

Tulsa, Okla., March 26.—At Casablanca Winston Churchill promised Franklin Roosevelt that after Hitler was knocked out the entire resources of the British empire would be used in helping us to knock out Hirohito. Mr. Roosevelt said to him, "You need not put that pledge in writing. I rely on your honor as a fine British gentleman."

On March 21 Churchill told the world that as soon as Hitler was defeated there would be a partial demobilization of the British forces.

ICKES ACCUSED OF STALLING ON OIL PRODUCTION

Blocks State Expansion Plans, Says Searcy.

BY JOHNSON KANADY.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Springfield, Ill., April 1.—Sen. Earle Benjamin Searcy [R., Springfield], chairman of the legislature's committee to investigate the rationing of fuel oil, today accused Harold L. Ickes, petroleum administrator for war, of "deliberately discouraging new oil well expansion in Illinois."

Searcy, in discussing the work of his committee, said that thus far the members of the committee had been unable to discover that Ickes and his associates have exerted "one iota of thought or performance toward an increase in America's crude oil production."

"Some of us are beginning to wonder just what Administrator Ickes is really driving at," Searcy said when asked about the results of inquiries he made on behalf of the committee relative to a decreased quota leveled by Ickes on Illinois production.

Data Sent to Members.

Copies of replies to queries by Robert M. Medill, state director of mines and minerals, and Wirt Franklin, of the petroleum administration for war, have been mailed to members of the committee, Searcy said.

"Franklin, who has been very cooperative in our investigation, verified the reduction of the quota, but laid it to the reduction in Illinois production in general," Searcy said.

He declined to release the information contained in either answer until after the copies are in the hands of members of the committee, but said Medill laid the reduction in Illinois production directly to the wider spacing of wells made necessary by the Ickes' orders and by the refusal of Washington to allow enough steel for drilling purposes.

Equipment for Brazil.

Sen. Walker Butler [R., Chicago], a member of the investigating committee, has asked that the committee seek information on what lend-lease authorities are going to do about the recent request from Brazil for 15,000 tons of oil drilling equipment, in the face of repeated Washington claims that the same materials cannot be spared for the development of oil fields and the search for new fields in America.

"The committee will want to look into that," Searcy said today, "and it is likely that we will follow the request of Rep. Lottie Holman O'Neill [R., Downers Grove] that further hearings be held by the committee with members of local oil rationing boards present. Mrs. O'Neill said this week that she had several requests from local board members to be allowed to explain their views on oil rationing."

"Ickes has scolded the Illinois legislature," Searcy said. "His lungs fairly explode as he demands conservation of oil. It may be that no one can claim Illinois has done its utmost to conserve crude oil production, but Illinois has already reduced its oil production seriously thru well spacing in conformity with Ickes' preachments and production is still dropping off.

Questions Ickes' Motives.

"What I want to know is what is behind Ickes' plan, Is it a formula with him that everything is expendable except oil? Is it his purpose that, altho oil is needed now as never before, the gross production in this country must be kept on the down grade? Is oil being husbanded, as something sacred, for some as yet unexplained post-war monopoly?

"A year ago Washington planners dealt America's motorization all but a death blow, despite the fact that this country is the only fully motorized nation on earth. These planners said we had to save rubber, yet they have consistently refused to encourage any real development of synthetic rubber. Is Ickes interested? Are farm grains and wood pulp, and other synthetic rubber ingredients to be strangled to await some mysterious deal centering around oil?

Asks If Oil Is Sacred.

"Automobiles, some experts say, are rapidly deteriorating, particularly those of high compression type. Little business is being allowed to approach the same merciless slaughter that Wallace's pigs underwent during the early days of the New Deal Roman holiday. But oil—sacred oil—more important apparently than the life blood of American boys, must be 'conserved.'"

Searcy asserted that Ickes apparently believes it possible "to hold down oil production with one hand, and create more oil for war and civilian use with the other."

"Ickes evidently shares the stated conviction of Harry 'Hardship' [Belshazzar] Hopkins that the public is 'too dumb' to comprehend," he said. "There are some items related not only to oil, but to synthetic rubber, that the American public will one day demand to know about.

"Commenting personally, not for the committee, I am beginning to feel that one of these days Mr. Ickes is going to have much to explain to the people he is now exploiting. His blusterings smack of intrigue."

BERNICE WILLIAMS.

Denver, Colo., April 1 [Special].—A young, unmarried mother was reported by police today to have confessed that she drowned her three babies immediately after they were born a year apart and had kept the bodies in her hope chest.

The girl is Bernice Williams, 23 years old, a chain store employé. She was arrested this afternoon at her home where she lives with her mother after their apartment house janitor had summoned police to investigate the contents of the hope chest in a basement locker.

Miss Williams was said to have related that the babies were born without medical attention and without knowledge of her mother. The first was born in April, 1941, the second in February, 1942, and the third last February. She said she drowned the babies in the bath tub, then wrapped them in heavy blankets and stowed them in her hope chest. She took them with her when she and her mother moved several times, she said.

SENATORS VIEW ALL SYNTHETIC TIRE FOR TRUCK

Jeffers Tells of Hopes for Heavy Duty Type.

BY HAL FOUST.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., April 1.—America's first all synthetic rubber truck tire was displayed to a senate investigating committee today by William M. Jeffers, rubber director. It was in the nature of evidence sustaining his decision of last week that the rubber outlook has improved to a point where it is no longer advisable to plant additional acres of guayule rubber shrub on irrigated California land producing a high yield of foodstuffs.

The tire was a six ply, 6.00x16 casing with a cleated tread designed for an army jeep. It was made by the Goodyear Tire and Rubber company, using butadiene converted from alcohol in a government owned plant at Institute, W. Va., operated by the Carbide and Carbon Chemicals corporation.

Tested on Army Jeeps.

"We have found we can make passenger car tires with synthetic rubber alone and now the war department is testing to see whether the jeep tire is O. K. without using any crude rubber," said Jeffers. "So far we have had to use a mixture of natural rubber in making a heavy duty tire because the synthetic alone has generated destructive heat.

"We have in sight enough rubber, synthetic and crude, to carry us thru the crisis next winter so that the rubber director's office can not justify planting guayule for harvest in the fall of 1944 on acres that are needed for food in 1943. Whether they are needed for food is a question for the secretary of agriculture to decide."

"We accept the rubber director's opinion on whether the acreage is needed for guayule," testified Grover B. Hill, assistant secretary of agriculture. "Actually, for food production, rubber for farm trucks is needed more than acreage. Three acres of guayule will grow in two years a ton of natural rubber. The ton of natural rubber, mixed with synthetic, will equip a hundred farm trucks with tires to haul corn and live stock.

Still Critical, Says Senator.

"I understand that we can't make a tire big enough for farm duty without using some natural rubber. I'm relieved to hear Mr. Jeffers say that the rubber outlook is no longer critical."

"It's critical to those of us denied tires," said Sen. Ellison D. Smith [D., S. C.].

"Mr. Jeffers' opinion is based upon anticipations," was the way Sen. Guy M. Gillette [D., Ia.], chairman of the inquiry, interpreted the testimony of the rubber director, who had left the room.

"How are we going to justify the skimpy gasoline rations in my state of abundant petroleum if we tell the people the guayule program is being curtailed because the rubber shortage has been relieved?" asked Rep. Alfred J. Elliott [D.], one of three California members of the house who attended the session.

Raps Rubber Cartel.

"The guayule should be planted on bench land rather than in the rich valleys," said Rep. John Z. Anderson [R., Cal.]. "It should be grown as a national rubber reserve so that America never again will be endangered by a blockade of imports by belligerent enemies. The reserve also would be protection against this country being mulcted by an international rubber cartel."

The Dutch-British monopoly of rubber plantations, captured last year by the Japanese, inflated prices in the 1920s and America, as the principal buyer, was the principal victim.

"The criticism of the guayule program," said Rep. John Phillips [R., Cal.], "has been based mainly upon administrative bungling. One branch of the agricultural department says acreage must be used for food and another says the same acreage must be used for rubber. If some one in authority higher than these competing bureaus will let us know what is wanted, California will deliver."

MOSQUITO, NOT JAPS, PUTS SERGT. HANSEN OUT OF PACIFIC WAR

It wasn't Jap bullets but malaria which put Sergt. Philip Hansen temporarily out of action, he said yesterday while home on furlough with his mother, Mrs. Eva Hansen, 805 Greenleaf street, Evanston.

Sergt. Philip Hansen.

Sergt. Hansen, 22 years old, ball turret gunner on a Flying Fortress, participated in virtually every large scale battle in the Pacific from Midway Island to final victory at Guadalcanal. Bullets by the scores and shrapnel in dozens of bursts struck all around him, and killed or wounded his comrades, but always missed him. The malarial mosquitoes took better aim at him, he admitted ruefully.

"Then I got malaria—a light case," he said. "But I'll be back there soon." One of his most thrilling moments came Nov. 13, 1942, when he poured 80 to 100 rounds of .50 caliber bullets into an enemy plane. He was credited with a hit.

BETTY'S MILLION LEGACY SHRINKS TO $75 A MONTH

She'll Get $100,000 in 11 Years.

Washington, D. C., April 1 [Special].—Blithely forgetting the cares that beset a pretty young soda jerker when she inherits a fortune, 19 year old Betty Louise Taylor went sightseeing in Washington today.

While Miss Taylor basked in the warm spring sunshine her lawyers labored over legal documents which will give her an estate left by her grandmother, Mrs. Louise Taylor, who died here in December, 1935.

The estate will amount to about $100,000, it was learned today, after home town rumors had placed the fortune at a million. The total consists of $63,000 in cash, bonds and securities, and real estate assessed at $34,000.

Estate Held in Trust.

Miss Taylor left her soda jerking job in Marion, Ill., last week and came to Washington for the funeral of her father, Sylvan P. Taylor.

In her will the grandmother directed that her estate be held in trust for her son and after his death it was to go to his daughter.

But Mrs. Taylor stipulated that Betty was not to get the $100,000 until she was 30 years old. In the meantime, trustees will pay the pretty young heiress only $75 a month.

Friends said the publicity shy young heiress did not appear perturbed over the age limitation her grandmother placed on her bequest. She would rather not be known as an heiress.

Hometown Boys Agog.

Back in Marion, a quiet little coal mining town with a population of 10,000, the boys at the corner drug store were more excited about Betty's fortune than Betty herself.

When Betty left Marion she did not tell the boys she was an heiress and when news of the bequest filtered back home the story spread that the bequest amounted to at least $1,000,000.

Mrs. Taylor, in her will, stipulated that Betty was to receive $35 a month while she stayed in school and then her allowance was to be increased to $75.

Mrs. Taylor, when she died, left $2,000 apiece to the two children of her daughter, the late Clara Elizabeth Sterling Cholmondeley.

NAVAL OFFICER TELLS OF FEES ON WAR DEALS

Made $24,345 on Jobs for Manufacturers.

Washington, D. C., April 1 (AP).—Lt. Luther M. Bolton, a commission agent before he entered the navy, testified today that he realized a net of $24,345 after expenses and federal taxes in 1942 for obtaining government war contracts for manufacturers.

As the house naval committee pressed its inquiry into activities of war brokers, Robert E. Kline, committee counsel, said that he would show that Bolton, upon entering the navy, turned over his interest in pending contracts to his father.

Bolton, for three years secretary to a former Democratic congressman from California, acknowledged that a part of a $7,480 item for entertainment in 1942 had gone for "business gratuities," for such things as "smoked turkeys for purchasing agents and their families at Christmas time."

Gave Nothing to U. S. Aids.

But he emphasized that those Christmas gifts, which he said cost him from $600 to $800, had gone only to commercial purchasing agents—not to government employés.

The navy officer told the committee that his principal client was the Monroe Auto Equipment company of Monroe, Mich., now engaged in war work which he estimated ran to $15,000,000 annually. He said that he had acted for the Monroe company originally on a 3 per cent basis, but voluntarily reduced that commission to 1½ per cent late in 1941 or early in 1942, when it developed that increased orders were making his profits "excessive."

Went on Straight Salary.

Later, he said, he went on a straight salary arrangement with the Monroe company after the naval committee began its investigation of profits being made by manufacturers' commission agents on war work.

Under questioning, he said that arrangement called for a $10,000 salary a month for himself, $1,600 a month for one of his associates, and $1,200 a month for another, plus an allowance for expenses.

He acknowledged that the total was approximately the amount that he would have received from that company had his firm continued on a commission basis.

Foreign Attaches See Nazi Coast Defenses, Swiss Say

BERNE, Switzerland, April 1.—A group of foreign military, naval, and air attachés stationed in Berlin are making a tour of inspection of Germany's coastal defenses in the Netherlands, Belgium, and France, a dispatch from Berlin said today. The party is traveling as guests of the German high command, which is extending a similar invitation to foreign journalists in Berlin. The defenses, according to earlier information, extend from Flushing to the south of France, and their construction required demolition of well known seaside resorts and coastal towns.

WOMAN BEGINS FIGHT TO SELL $300,000 HOME

Asks Court to Order Sale at Auction.

A court fight over a $300,000 Winnetka mansion was opened yesterday between the thrice married Mrs. Eunice Brach Brewer Stough and her first husband, Frank V. Brach, millionaire candy manufacturer, with the filing of a suit in the Superior court seeking to sell the place at auction. The home is at 175 Sheridan road, in the suburb.

The case goes back to 1931 when Mrs. Stough—then Mrs. Brach—obtained a divorce from Brach. In settlement she was given the income from a $1,000,000 trust fund and the Winnetka home.

Both Must Consent.

Under the agreement the written consent of both was required for sale. It was stipulated, however, that the then Mrs. Brach would get half the sale price, but not less than $75,000.

Now Mrs. Stough complains the mansion is a white elephant, costing $7,000 a year to run, plus $1,600 taxes, and she hasn't lived in it for a year. She wants to sell; the best offer is $75,000 and her ex-husband refuses to consent unless, she charges, she gives him half the net proceeds. That would be about $37,500 and she wants the full $75,000 as per agreement.

Locked Out Second Husband.

Once before the old Brach mansion made the news. That was in September, 1939, when Mrs. Stough locked out her second husband, Robert C. Brewer, a former ship engineer whom she married in 1937 after they had met on a Caribbean cruise. He was arrested when he tried to get in, but was freed in court.

Brewer sued for an injunction to enter the house and also sought $50,000 damages for false arrest. The injunction, damage suit, and all other difficulties ended in July, 1940, when Mrs. Stough—then Mrs. Brewer—obtained a divorce.

Since then she has become the wife of James Stough, a lawyer. Their address is not given in yesterday's suit, but is definitely not the white elephant Winnetka mansion.

JUDGE REFUSES TO CLOSE VICE CHIEF'S ESTATE

Judge John F. O'Connell of the Probate court, yesterday declined to close the estate of the late Denis F. Cooney, vice boss of the 1st ward, which is claimed by two women, and set a further hearing on the dispute for April 28.

The claimants are Mrs. Mamie Kempton Cooney, executor of the estate, who says she was Cooney's wife at his death and is his legal widow, and Mrs. Ray Cooney, who says she was his common law wife as far back as 1903 and likewise is his legal widow. The estate is valued at $150,000. Mrs. Mamie Cooney is named as beneficiary under terms of Cooney's "dream will," so-called because she found it 13 months after his death thru a clew in a dream.

Her attorney, James W. Cotter, petitioned yesterday to close the estate, saying all claims had been paid, and there were no further assets. Leonard W. Stearns, counsel for Mrs. Ray Cooney, protested, saying she is contesting the suit in another court; that the "dream will" had only recently been uncovered, and that his client still has considerable time to file her intended claim.

DR. BARR, WHO FOUNDED OLIVET INSTITUTE, DIES

Dr. Norman B. Barr, 75 years old, founder of Olivet institute at 1441 Cleveland avenue, died early yesterday of a heart attack.

There he got nurses to care for underprivileged children, organized a clinic for prenatal supervision, and provided free lunches and milk for the destitute.

Olivet institute grew from a little mission to a $750,000 institution. Dr. Barr retired several years ago from its active direction. It was the only church he had served in 40 years in the Presbyterian ministry.

NEGRO LEADERS CITE PREJUDICE IN WAR WORK

Washington, D. C., April 1 (AP).—Representatives of Negro organizations told the senate military committee today that war industry has failed to utilize "huge man and woman power pools" because of race prejudice.

Opposing as unnecessary the Austin-Wadsworth bill to conscript labor for war work, Walter White, secretary of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, and Morris Milgram, national secretary of the Workers Defense league, testified that discrimination both in war industry and government constitutes the greatest loss of man power.

"The manner and extent to which we have been extorted, relegated and frozen in the categories of underpaid domestics, agricultural and unskilled workers: Intimidated, mobbed, and lynched if we resented those encroachments on our fundamental rights," White said, "will forever remain a blot on America and democracy as it is practiced here."

DIES OF INJURIES IN AUTO CRASH AFTER 2½ YEARS

Ernest H. Myer, 29 years old, of Volo, Lake county, died yesterday in the Lake County General hospital at Waukegan of injuries suffered in an automobile accident two and a half years ago.

Myer was injured Aug. 16, 1940, when his car crashed into a tree in Round Lake. He had been confined in the hospital since that date. Henry Howell, 24, also of Volo, who was riding with Myer, was killed in the crash.

Dr. John L. Taylor, Lake county coroner, who conducted an inquest into Myer's death, said that it was the first traffic fatality in Lake county in 1943. In the first quarter of 1942 there were 10 traffic deaths, he said.

Jack Valcarne, 75, Negro, of 5952 Calumet avenue, died in County hospital of injuries received Wednesday when he was struck by an automobile at 57th and State streets.

CHARGES STATE TIME CHANGES ARE CONFUSING

Washington, D. C., April 1 (AP).—The action of some state legislatures in changing from war time to normal time was deplored today by Rep. Thad F. Wasielewski [D., Wis.]. He said many state legislators "have confused their citizens by making changes of the time within the borders of their state in this national crisis."

His statement was in reply to a request by the Wisconsin senate military affairs committee that he do what he could to have the time for states in the central standard time zone restored to normal time. The committee told Wasielewski that the Wisconsin house had passed a measure to restore central standard time in Wisconsin and was awaiting his reply before considering the bill in committee.

EXPERT CHARTS YOUR CHANCES IN AN AIR RAID

If a man has a 100 per cent chance of being injured by standing in the open during an air raid, the risk is reduced to 50 per cent if he lies down, to 30 per cent is he goes into a frame house, to 12 per cent in a protected brick house, and to 5 per cent in a reinforced basement.

Maj. W. L. Gilliland, instructor at the civilian protection school of Purdue university, stated these bomb risk rates yesterday at a conference of plant protection officers conducted in the Medinah club by the 6th regional headquarters of the office of civilian defense. One thousand delegates were registered. They will adjourn this afternoon.

O'CONNELL JURY TO DECIDE ON 2D TRIAL TODAY

Former Examiner Denies Embezzlement Charge.

The second embezzlement trial of Lawrence J. O'Connell, former chief securities examiner for the Illinois industrial commission during the previous Democratic regime, will go to a Criminal court jury today. In his first trial last November, O'Connell was acquitted on a similar charge.

Evidence was completed yesterday in the second trial, in which O'Connell was accused of converting to his own use $6,000 in bonds posted with the commission by the Chicago Sanitary Rag company. The case is being heard by a jury of nine women and three men before Judge Stanley H. Klarkowski.

Maintains Innocence.

O'Connell, other than several character witnesses, including Judge Philip J. Finnegan of the Circuit court and Fred Lindstrom, former baseball player, was his own chief witness. The chubby faced defendant contended he was innocent of embezzlement because he had used the $6,000 in bonds as collateral for personal loans with the knowledge and permission of the rag company officials.

O'Connell testified that, when the company sought to post an insurance bond, he told Julian S. Goldberg, the assistant manager, that the company would need $25,000 in securities. He said that Goldberg protested the company was expanding and could not post that amount but would deposit $6,000.

O'Connell testified Goldberg said he knew he [O'Connell] had a lot of doctor and medical bills and told him, "You're a good fellow and I'm a good fellow, so go ahead and use the bonds."

Wife Produces Bond.

The defendant said he told Goldberg that when the bonds were wanted he would return them. In fact, he added, his wife had one of the bonds with her now. At this point, Mrs. O'Connell, one of the few spectators in court, drew out a $1,000 bond and handed it to Atty. Simon Herr.

Under cross-examination by Clement Cody, assistant state's attorney, O'Connell insisted the money was always available for repayment of the loan, but that the company had never asked him for it.

"You've never given any of the money back?" asked Cody. "No, they've never asked for it," O'Connell answered.

Goldberg, who was called as a rebuttal witness by the state, denied O'Connell's testimony concerning himself. He said he had never given O'Connell permission to use the bonds and that he had desposited them with the commission in a business transaction. He also denied that O'Connell had first asked for $25,000 in securities.

ASSAIL RELIEF DENIAL BEFORE CASE IS HEARD

Springfield, Ill., April 1 (AP).—A resolution declaring the Illinois public aid commission has withheld relief funds from some townships in the state "without a bill of particulars or charges" was adopted today by officers and executive board members of the Illinois Association of County Officials and the Illinois Association of Township Officials meeting jointly here.

Taylor Wilhelm, La Salle county state's attorney and head of a committee delegated to draft the resolution, said it was the result of the commission's action yesterday in withholding relief funds from Frankfort township in Franklin county. The commission alleged there had been irregularities in expenditure of the funds.

The resolution said the commission "has in effect, without bill of particulars on charges, acted as investigator, prosecutor, judge and executioner," and said relief funds should not be thus withheld from needy persons "until full hearing has been had, and until the official concerned has had opportunity in open court to face his accusers and until the charges have been duly proved."

THREE INDICTED FOR PLOT TO GET GOLD FOR ENEMY

Hint $100,000 Total in Chicagoans' Plan.

Three Chicagoans, one accused of being a German born enemy agent, were indicted by the federal grand jury yesterday on charges of conspiracy to acquire and export gold in violation of the enemy trading act. The three men were arrested March 16 by federal bureau of investigation agents.

J. Albert Woll, United States attorney, would not discuss details of the indictment, but indicated the three defendants were accused of conspiracy to obtain gold for shipment to Germany. Federal officials intimated more than $100,000 in gold may be involved. At the time of their arrest, the three men pleaded not guilty before United States Commissioner Edwin K. Walker.

Counterfeiting Plan Charged.

The indictment charges them with conspiracy, [1] to acquire gold bullion in quantities exceeding a thousand ounces, [2] to earmark for export the gold bullion, [3] to export the gold bullion and bullion made into likeness of gold coins, [4] to make and counterfeit $20 gold coins, and [5] to have in possession dies for making the counterfeit coins.

The indictment charges that one of the defendants, Kurt Erich Schimkus, 37 years old, 14139 South Western avenue, Blue Island, a German alien, acted as an agent of a foreign country and accepted gold drillings from Elbridge G. Bates, 42, of 571 Hill avenue, Glen Ellyn, a sales representative, and another of the defendants.

One Heads Coin Firm.

The third defendant named in the indictment was Frank S. Smith, 51, of 2267 Clybourn avenue, owner of the Perfection Furniture company, and head of a coin company. The indictment charges that since Sept. 1, 1942, Smith and Bates conferred several times with officials of a New York jewelry concern.

Federal officials said the three men had been under government surveillance since last September. They indicated it had been planned to ship the gold to Germany by submarine. Bonds of $5,000 each were set for the defendants, who are at liberty on similar bonds set before Commissioner Walker last month.

ALASKA FARM PROJECT PROSPERS.

ANCHORAGE, Alaska, April 1 (AP).—The government sponsored Mantanuska Valley Farm project, which had only 5 per cent of its colonists in good standing three years ago, rapidly is becoming solvent, Dr. H. C. Hansen, director of the Alaska Rural Rehabilitation corporation, reports. More than 60 per cent of the colonists now are in good standing financially and making adequate payment on their indebtedness.

LAST OF BRIDGE CONVERSIONS TO GET TEST TODAY

Western Avenue Lift Span Completes Project.

Test lifts will be made today and tomorrow at the Western avenue bridge, marking virtual completion of a 1½ million dollar naval project to facilitate passage of government vessels thru the Chicago Sanitary and Ship canal to the Illinois waterway and on to the Gulf of Mexico.

The Western avenue bridge, converted from a fixed to a lift span at an estimated cost of $550,000, is one of 18 bridges along the sanitary and ship canal made movable under the program. Work on the other 17 bridges was completed several weeks ago.

Ships Can Move to Gulf.

As a result of the project many boats which previously couldn't be moved from the Great Lakes area at all now can pass thru to the Gulf of Mexico, and others can be moved more conveniently. Virtually any ship now operating on the Great Lakes can pass thru the waterway, altho some must use pontoons.

Completion of the Western avenue bridge clears the way for movement of several million dollars' worth of government vessels this year.

The navy financed the program, which was carried out by owners of the bridges, and will pay most maintenance and operation costs for the duration of the war.

The city, in addition to the Western avenue project, installed new machinery or rehabilitated old equipment at the California avenue, Pulaski road, Cicero avenue, and Harlem avenue bridges, all of the bascule type, and at the Kedzie avenue bridge, a swing type. All are operated by the city except the Harlem avenue bridge, which is owned by the sanitary district. The sanitary district made its Summit-Lyons road and Willow Springs road bridges movable.

Railroads Own 10.

The other 10 bridges are owned by the Chicago Junction, Baltimore and Ohio, Pennsylvania, Illinois Central, and Santa Fe railroads and the Belt Railway company of Chicago.

The Western avenue project, "bottleneck" of the entire naval program, originally was to have been completed Jan. 1, but the work was held up by steel delays. Stephen Michuda, city bridge engineer, said most of the actual construction work was done in the last two months. Principal contractors were William J. Howard, Inc., alteration contractor, and Divane Brothers, handling electrical work.

All bridges affected had been built for some time, and in many cases lacked only lift operating machinery or needed rehabilitation of old machinery.

SMOKING CHIEF CAUSE OF FIRES, BOARD REPORTS

Chief cause of fires in Chicago during 1942 was careless smoking habits, according to a report issued yesterday by the Chicago Board of Underwriters on work done by the Chicago fire patrol.

Burning matches or tobacco accounted for 2,456 of the fires reported. Second place on the original list was tied by electric wiring and rubbish, each causing 1,200 fires. Careless cooking and laundry work started 500 fires. Among some 70 other causes was lightning, with 84 fires.

The seven patrol companies maintained by the board of underwriters responded to an average of 38 alarms per day during 1942, actually answering 26,000 alarms and attending nearly 13,500 fires. E. B. Vickery, chairman of the board's fire patrol committee, praised Chief Frank McAuliffe and his men for their work.

SEES WAR PLANT TRANSIT CRISIS IN ODT COURSE

Mayor's Aid Asks Bus Lines to New Sites.

Mass transportation needs of mammoth new war plants which will go into production in a few months on the rim of the Chicago area have been ignored by the office of defense transportation and may result in a critical transit breakdown, Edward A. Kelly, special representative of Mayor Kelly, said yesterday.

Mayor Kelly's mass transportation committee recently reported to the ODT local transport division that unless 100 buses are provided to move 15,000 war workers or new homes are built within walking distance, full operation of the new plants will be impossible.

Names Two Plants.

Edward A. Kelly, a former Chicago congressman, asserted that the Douglas aircraft plant on the northwest and the Aluminum Company of America rolling mill on the west will encounter serious man power recruiting problems. He compared the positions of these plants to the predicament of the Willow Run plant in Detroit, which he said has run into critical labor shortages and absenteeism because inadequate provision was made for housing and transporting workers.

"We can prevent the crisis in man power supply to these plants if we act early and avoid the pitfalls which befell the Willow Run and other such projects," Kelly said. "Apparently the Chicago regional ODT office has done nothing about providing for the transportation needs of the plants."

Herbert B. Potter, regional ODT director of local transport, has insisted that no additional buses can be provided in the Chicago area, that present facilities are adequate, and that the only solution would be car sharing.

Opposes Diversion of Buses.

Kelly declared that elimination of such motor bus lines as the Washington or Jackson boulevard routes and the diversion of buses to transport war workers as reported contemplated by ODT would disrupt the city's transit system.

"The only sensible solution is construction of more homes on the northwest, west, and southwest rims of the city and the addition of buses," Kelly said. He suggested that buses could be obtained by discontinuing semi-luxury service from the suburbs and by drawing upon equipment frozen by the ODT's recent order banning special buses.

Kelly noted that the mayor's mass transportation committee last Dec. 23 suggested to Potter that 31 buses could be released for war plant service by curtailing the operations of intercity bus lines from communities near Chicago.

Would Halt at Outskirts.

He said the report advised the ODT that 2 million bus miles could be saved if the bus lines were terminated near the outskirts of Chicago, where passengers could transfer to one of the city's transit systems.

Among the bus lines which the committee recommended for curtailment were the Blue Bird system operating from Joliet, Lyons, and Maywood into the loop; the Chicago and Calumet District Transit company from Gary and Lansing to the loop; the South Suburban Safeway lines from Blue Island, Chicago Heights, and Lansing to the loop; the American Coach company from Glenview, Lake Villa, Antioch, and Channel lake to the loop, and the Suburban Transit System, Inc., from Orland Park, Palos Heights, and Oak Lawn to 63d and Halsted streets.

SYNOPSIS: Mary Jo Laurence has been happy with her husband, Tony, during their 15 years of marriage, in spite of his deformed foot and his many failures as a builder. Two years ago they came to Key West and bought land for speculation, which they have been unable to sell. Now Col. and Mrs. Bassett, retired army people, want to buy a lot and have Tony build them a house. Mary Jo has invited them to dinner. While housecleaning she hears a shot and, from her window, she sees a dead man lying back of Cinqua's tavern and another man crouching in the bushes near by. En route to Chan's, her Chinese grocer, Sibyl Cartwright, an old actress, stops Mary Jo and tells her the dead man was Ed Tutwiller, brother of Pop, the fisherman. It seems he committed suicide over money problems. Mary Jo decides not to mention the man she saw in the bushes, as she is afraid any such publicity might hurt Tony in his business. At Chan's she sees a luscious looking woman selling stolen milk bottles to buy gin. Her dinner for the Bassetts is a success. They are to close the deal the next day. But shortly after they leave, Col. Bassett returns and says he has been called back into service and cannot go thru with the deal. Tony decides to find Don Waterman, a none too scrupulous rival, and try to do business with him, as Waterman needs land to build cheap houses. Tony finds him and brings him home, accompanied by his girl friend, Maisie Bergen, all three tipsy. Mary Jo recognizes Maisie as the woman she saw at Chan's, and notices that Tony is smitten with her. Waterman agrees to a partnership with Tony and has Tony drive him and Maisie to a roadhouse. Returning, Tony sees Button, Maisie's 6 year old son, outside a saloon and brings the child home. Maisie and her husband, Culver, ask Mary Jo to keep Button for awhile, as they have no money to buy food for him. Mary Jo consents, but is shocked when she recognizes Culver as the man crouching near Ed Tutwiller's body. Later, after a fight with Maisie, Culver moves in on the Laurences. Maisie follows suit when she is evicted from her home. Then Pete, Mary Jo's 18 year old brother, arrives. Laura Wills, his girl friend, has ditched him and he wants to get a job job in Key West. In the meantime, Mary Jo has decided to help the family budget by making pies. Sibyl Cartwright gives her $10 to help get started. Chan agrees to furnish the outlet and Pop Tutwiller agrees to furnish the pineapples. Pop calls Mary Jo and tells her Ed committed suicide because he cashed a large, worthless check for a man and was unable to make it good. Pop is determined to find the man and kill him. While Pop is there, Mary Jo picks up a bundle of laundry belonging to the Bergens, and the rubber check Ed cashed falls out. Pop grabs the check and leaves, swearing he will kill Culver. But Mary Jo tells Culver of Pop's threat and helps him get a ride out of town on Danny Mullen's truck. He is to go to his mother, who lives in Baltimore. Fed up with Maisie, Mary Jo writes Maisie's mother to come down for a visit, as Button needs her. Button gets an infected tooth, and Mary Jo takes him to Miami for treatment. When she returns Waterman and Tony are in a drunken brawl, fighting about Maisie. Mary Jo loses her temper and tells Maisie off. Tony defends Maisie and takes her away.

INSTALMENT XXIX.

ADVICE.

The aroma of fresh made coffee greeted her as she came down the stairs. Pete was in the kitchen. He had fed Button, who was vigorously protesting having to remain in bed. Pete had a broken chair leg in one hand and was brandishing it like a sword when Mary Jo came in. He stopped rather sheepishly when he saw her.

"Say, sis, what goes on here?" he demanded. "This is part of that desk chair, isn't it? And there's a lamp broken, too. Did I miss a battle?"

"We had an Indian uprising," said Mary Jo.

"All right, Buffalo Bill!" he said scornfully. "I know brawl marks when I see them. Where's Tony and how about the girl friend?"

"Maisie's gone up to the Keys to stay with some people for a spell. Tony drove her up last night."

"Huh! I hoped maybe Culver had sent for her."

"Why? I thought you liked her, Pete?"

"You know exactly how a feller likes that type," he said in a worldly manner.

"She's mighty pretty and young," Mary Jo said.

Pete frowned at his coffee, stirring it uneasily, his long, sensitive face that was so like her own troubled by his thoughts. At last the big blue eyes shot up at hers with understanding and a heart-touching sympathy.

"I know what you're thinking sis," he said, "you think Tony's stuck on her; but you mustn't let it get you. Why, Tony'd be a fool if he preferred a girl like that to you. He don't—not really. I'm a man and I know how he feels. Maisie is all right to fool around with, but for anything serious—nix! That's out!"

He was so young and so earnest and so plainly talking out of his own recent experience with that Cuban girl he'd been running around with that except for the tight feeling in her heart she could have laughed.

"Look, Pete," she said gently. "I appreciate your wanting to help, but I don't want to talk about Tony and Maisie. If Tony has any feelings about her, he'll tell me himself. And anything he said would be a private matter. Hear me?"

"You're a good scout to stick up for him, and I'm a fresh egg. But I tell you sis, Culver Bergen can't come back any too soon for me!"

"Bergen come back?" The idea was startling, when she remembered what Pop had said. "Did you hear he was back?"

"Why, no!" said Pete. "I guess I just meant I wish he was."

As the morning dragged along and there was still no word from Tony, the hurt in her heart began to change into anger. If anything had happened to Tony, if there had been an accident or a sudden illness she would have heard by now. He was just plain staying away. With that woman. Tony had said he was taking Maisie to friends. What friends and where? What kind of people did he know now, people he'd met casually in bars, people she had never seen? Where had he slept? Half-drunk, furiously angry with her, feeling sorry for Maisie—well, there didn't seem to be but one thing to think. An agony of prayer arose in her.

"O, God, dear God, he's mine I tell you, mine! Remember, God, whom Thou hast joined together! Have Tony remember it, too, please, God!" Then there followed a flood of anger at Tony.

"If it's true, I could kill him if he was here right now! How could he, how dare he do such a thing to me?"

But the anger didn't last. Presently it melted into an overwhelming wish that he'd come home—come home and explain things in a way she could believe. And while these conflicting storms swept over her in reasonless succession, she worked at her commonplace tasks. She swept and dusted and baked, but there was no outlet in doing it.

"Hey, there!" Button yelled as she bathed him. "Take that soapsuds outer my mouth! I ain't told any lies today!"

"God forgive me!" said Mary Jo. "I wasn't thinking!"

"Do you think He will?"

"Who?"

"God," said Button. "Do you think He will forgive you for putting the soap in my mouth? Do you think God has a long, white beard, Mother Jo? And a long, white nightgown? Wouldn't He rather have clothes?"

"Does it matter what kind of clothes you think He has?"

"You mean He's inside you?" said Button comfortably. "I think God must be inside you because you never see Him, you only feel Him."

"Thanks for reminding me of that, pardner," Mary Jo found the long-delayed tears very close to shedding.

"You're welcome," said Button politely. "And now could I have some cookies to keep God company?"

When she had put him back to bed again in accordance with the doctor's orders and brought him not only the cookies but Jerusalem and her family of kittens to play on the coverlet, she went down to find Alice Smithers at the door.

"I got kinda worried," Alice said, "not seeing Tony or the car around, or even Button. So I thought I'd drop over and find out how things were."

"They're all right I guess, except Button had a bad tooth. Come in, Alice."

Alice sank into the chair Mary Jo offered and looked about her with wise old eyes, instantly noting the missing pieces of furniture.

"Frannie had her pups last night," she said. "Three boys and a girl. I've got one of the boys marked for Tony. He needs a dog."

"That's real good of you, Alice."

"I was up late with Frannie," Alice went on. "She likes me to hold her paw when she has her babies. And I couldn't help but hearing what sounded like trouble over here. Were you home?"

"I just got back in time for it," Mary Jo's voice was bitter. "It must have sounded like a shootin' party in an old time saloon. I'm sorry if it worried you, Alice."

"It didn't worry me exactly," Alice told her, "but I made up my mind to come and talk to you. Is that Bergen woman any place around where she can hear?"

"I don't know where Maisie is—and I don't care."

"Well dear me, sis! How about Tony? Don't tell me you don't know where he is, either?" As tho a whip had lashed her Mary Jo sprang to her feet.

"I didn't say that!" she said sharply.

"You didn't have to," Alice said calmly. "I could read your face. There's some reason why Tony isn't here, why the car ain't been outside all night—and now you say Maisie is gone and you don't know where. I'm not blind, Mary Jo. I've seen what's been going on."

"I don't figure on talking about that with anybody," Mary Jo said fiercely.

"You'd better had," said Alice. "I know how you feel. You're a loyal person, Mary Jo. But there are times when a woman has to talk or break. I'm no gossip and I've lived long enough to have learned it's a bad thing to go busting into private lives. I'm making an exception in your case because I love you and I won't sit by and see your life and Tony's ruined without I can help. Are things pretty bad?"

"Bad as a sage-hen's nest when the old bird has got killed and left the eggs," said Mary Jo. "I guess there's nothing to do but throw the whole business out."

"You mean you might divorce Tony?"

Mary Jo hadn't thought of that but she did now. It was a pretty bitter thought, but she considered it seriously.

"I guess I do," she said at last.

"Don't you want your husband any more?"

"I don't know, Alice. I—I hate him right this minute. O, I hadn't ought to talk but I guess you're right, I can't help it. We were about as happy and cooing as a pair of ground-doves before Maisie rode into this outfit. And the very minute he saw her, things changed. They've been getting worse steady. And then last night he didn't come home." Alice Smithers folded her arms over her stomach and rocked comfortably, nodding.

"I know how it is," she said. "I know exactly how you feel." Mary Jo could hardly believe her ears.

"You know?" she exclaimed. "Why, I always thought you and Alan . . ."

"We are," Alice declared, "just about as happy as people get to be in this weary world. But that's because I had the sense to put up the right kind of a fight for him. There was a waitress once, a redhead, at the luncheon Alan went to. I thought the heart was going to drop out of me."

"What did you do about it, Alice?"

"I took a good squint down that lonesome road that leads away from the divorce court. And I didn't care for the looks of it."

"And so you didn't leave him?"

"I didn't. And look how good it's worked out for us, Mary Jo. How we are together the way only people who have stuck by each other can be together. Alan is safe now. He wouldn't know a pretty leg from an apple stump—and sometimes I wonder if he really ever did.

PAY-AS-GO TAX UNLIKELY IN '43 —MORGENTHAU

Hopes for a Withholding Levy Next Year.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., April 1.—Chances are slim now that any pay-as-you-go income tax plan can be put into operation this year, Secretary of the Treasury Henry Morgenthau said today. He expressed hope that some form of a withholding tax could be made effective at least by Jan. 1, 1944.

Morgenthau made the statements at a press conference at which he also revealed that the treasury and the state departments have invited the various finance ministers of the allied nations to send their best monetary experts to Washington to confer on post-war economics.

No Time for "Forgiveness."

Of the tax prablem, the secretary said:

"Well, naturally I am pleased that they [the house] defeated the Carlson bill. I thought it was a very bad bill, and most unfortunate when we are in the middle of a war to bring up a bill which only differed from the committee bill in forgiveness. I don't think this is any time to talk about forgiveness of taxes.

"I am also very sorry that they recommitted the so-called committee or Doughton bill because if they had passed that we had hoped to be able to start by the first of July to have the 20 per cent withholding tax, and it would have been a most helpful instrument to curb inflation at the source.

Slim Chance This Year.

"Now, if we don't take up the tax bill right away—and I understand from Mr. Doughton that most likely we won't—I doubt if we can get anything on a withholding tax much before—I doubt if we can get it working this year.

"Mr. Doughton and I have talked it over, and I think we see eye to eye that when they do take up a revenue measure again it will be a complete tax bill."

Morgenthau explained that the new tax bill will contain provisions for raising the additional 16 billion dollars in new revenue sought by the President, and a 20 per cent withholding tax. He said it would be at least two months before the house ways and means committee could go into the tax question again.

Study Post-War Stabilization.

Of the post-war finance conferences, he revealed the treasury had been working for a year on a plan for stabilization of currency after the war is over. That plan was submitted to the various finance ministers of the allied nations. It was transmitted to them thru their embassies and legations in Washington. "We have asked them to send technicians here to Washington to discuss plans with us," he said.

Morgenthau said he will appear Monday before an executive session of the senate foreign relations, finance, and post-war planning committees and discuss with them what the treasury is doing toward post-war planning and will seek their advice on the subject.

It is known that the British will have a well formulated program to bring to Washington when their representatives are ready to confer. They have maintained a monetary expert in the United States ever since early in the war. He has held regular conferences with treasury officials. Some indications of British intentions were revealed in THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE Monday in a story from London on the proposals of John Maynard Keynes, British monetary expert.

STARS STOP IN CITY EN ROUTE TO N. Y. RALLY

Dick Powell and Miss Merle Oberon, motion picture stars, paid a brief visit to Chicago yesterday as they passed thru the city en route from Hollywood to New York.

Powell will appear Monday night in the Red Cross benefit show in New York's Madison Square Garden and then will depart on a U. S. O. tour of southern army camps. He said that he and his wife, Joan Blondell, soon hope to tour American bases overseas to entertain the troops. Miss Oberon will spend two weeks in New York with her husband, Alexander Korda, British film producer, before he departs for England.

The actress' first question upon her arrival in Chicago was "Where can I get some shoes?" When she said she had left her No. 17 coupon in California, Miss Oberon was told that she would have to get along with the shoes she wore until she returned to the west coast.

Her next picture will be "Attack by Night," a picturization of Elliot Arnold's book, "The Commandos." Following that she will make "Cry Havoc," after which she will go to England, returning only once each year to the United States.

THE QUESTION.

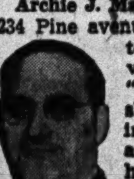
Are you bringing up your children as you had planned?

WHERE ASKED.

Madison and Crawford bank building, 4010 Madison street.

THE ANSWERS.

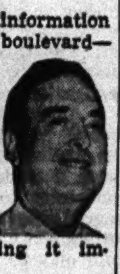
Harry J. Klaas, real estate broker, 165 Pine avenue—Whenever I saw other people's children on their worst behavior I was sure that above all else our children would not be spoiled. Now I will admit that my 4 year old daughter can have anything she wants from her daddy.



Archie J. Marschak, bank cashier, 234 Pine avenue—When my daughter was ready for advanced study I had "decided" that she should take a course in domestic science and dietetics. But she had ideas of her own, namely, a course in journalism, and is doing very well at it, I must admit.

I. Harris Sutton, optician, 3821 Congress street—My children were to be brought up in a house and not in an apartment, with plenty of room and a big backyard. I pictured myself working in the garden and bringing them up in the great outdoors. Now I guess an apartment will have to do until the war is ended.

Mrs. Peter J. Dunn, housewife, 829 North Harvey avenue, Oak Park—Among the first plans I made about a family of children was that there were going to be six and they would attend a public school. Instead, I have one son and he has been enrolled in a private school.



Peter McDermott, information clerk, 4213 Washington boulevard—Before we had any children at all there was one thing I was quite definite about. One of the first things I would not do was to push a baby buggy. I didn't think it was a man's job. Later on I found myself enjoying it immensely.

Dr. Harry Mottlowitz, chiropodist, 1442 South Kolin avenue—My 17 year old son is following every plan I had for him, but it seems my daughter had more interesting ideas of her own. Instead of finishing her college course she met and married a very nice young man. Now I consider that my job is finished.

BOND WILL BUY RIDE TOMORROW IN NEW SUBWAY

A war bond buys a ride on the subway tomorrow. Special eight car trains will run every hour on the hour from 1 to 10 p. m. with the first train reserved for purchasers of $1,000 or larger bonds. The last minute rush will be handled at booths to be set up at Quincy and State streets, bond train loading point. The souvenir bonds are available at banks and at the headquarters of the women's division, Illinois war savings staff, 105 West Adams street. Bonds of any denomination will be good for tickets on any except the first train.

A total of $4,719,693.75 was added to the cruiser Chicago drive in the last three days of March, altho the campaign closed on Monday, Oscar G. Mayor, executive chairman of the drive, announced yesterday. "The official total for the 40 days remains at $42,298,873," he said, "but so many companies asked to have their month-end figures included that Chicago contributions thru series E bonds are now more than $47,000,000.

All of the buying was actually done in the 40 days period, but reports were late because many plants clear their pay rolls at the last of the month."

March Fire Alarms Rise 66 Per Cent Over 1942

NEW TAX MOVE PROVOKES CLASH BY DEMOCRATS

M'Cormack Asks Action; Doughton Assails Plea.

BY WILLIAM STRAND.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., April 1.—The congressional kettle seethed today as house leaders reacted to a new drive for withholding tax legislation to take effect by July 1.

Democratic leaders clashed over proposals to resurrect legislation killed when the chamber earlier this week rejected the Ruml plan and recommitted a ways and means committee bill.

Republican members of the committee issued a statement denouncing the administration for causing the downfall of the Ruml proposal, contained in a bill introduced by Rep. Frank Carlson [R., Kas.].

McCormack Issues Plea.

Then Majority Leader John McCormack [D., Mass.] issued one urging the committee to prepare a new plan without further hearings and predicting that a reasonable bill "would pass the house with speed."

Finally, Chairman Robert L. Doughton [D., N. C.] of the committee, issued his own communique, chiding McCormack for making a statement without consulting him. He reaffirmed his previous stand that work on withholding tax legislation is impossible before the committee begins consideration of a complete new tax program later in the year.

The program would include increased rates to satisfy President Roosevelt's request for 16 billion dollars in new revenue in the next fiscal year. Meanwhile, Secretary of the Treasury Henry Morgenthau said a new tax bill also would attempt to deal with a 20 per cent withholding tax such as that turned down by the house in the two bills.

Doughton Goes Home.

After making his pronouncement, Doughton boarded a train for his North Carolina farm, announcing the planting season is at hand.

"I did not have any advance information about Mr. McCormack's statement regarding tax matters," he said. "He did not consult me, as chairman of the committee; neither, so far as I know, did he consult any majority member of the committee before issuing his statement.

"I feel that, on account of previous understandings and commitments made, and the importance of the subject, that we should take up next in the ways and means commitee, the consideration of the extension of the reciprocal trade agreement act, and the bituminous coal act, both of which expire in the near future."

Sees Partial Abatement.

McCormack earlier had said that the house action showed a willingness to grant partial forgiveness of back taxes to put the nation on a pay-as-you-go basis. The Ruml plan calling for complete forgiveness of 1941 levies went too far, he continued, while the committee bill did not go far enough.

He urged committee members "to agree upon some reasonable plan that will prevent the making of war millionaires, which the Ruml plan did."

McCormack's support of "partial forgiveness" was the furthest any administration spokesman has been willing to go in compromising on a current collection plan. It gave rise to reports that a plan conceived by Rep. A. Willis Robertson [D., Va.] calling for forgiveness of 1942 taxes for everybody thru the normal tax and first surtax bracket might receive favorable consideration by the committee.

OFFICERS' CLUB OPENS IN LOOP; ALL IS FREE

Chicago's first free officers' club opened yesterday in the old Auditorium hotel, Congress street and Michigan avenue. Many army and navy officers spent their lunch hours at the club, sandwiching a bite to eat into the tour of the club's quarters.

Junior officers from the army's unit No. 2, which formerly was the Congress hotel, walked across the street to try their hand at the club's billiard tables. Most of the naval officers who visited the club on its opening day were from Navy pier. The club boasts a library, ping-pong tables, reading room, and a ballroom. Refreshments are free.

An official open house will be held from 5 p. m. to midnight tomorrow at the club. High ranking officers from the army, navy, marine corps, and women's services are expected to be present.

COURT UPHOLDS BOND HOLDERS IN TAX SALES

South Bend, Ind., April 1 [Special].—The first test of Indiana's new laws governing the sale of tax delinquent property was made here today when Superior Judge J. Elmer Peak ruled that St. Joseph county's purchase of 4,515 parcels of delinquent property in December, 1941, was invalid.

The judge declared that the laws, passed in 1941 and amended in 1943, are constitutional when applied after the dates they went into effect, but he held that the county had applied them to property that was tax delinquent prior to 1941. His ruling upheld the rights of bond holders to 3 million dollars worth of improvement mortgages on the delinquent property.

Prior to 1941, the court said, the law provided that all tax sales should include Barrett law assessments as well as taxes. The new act made it possible to offer delinquent property for sale for taxes only. The court said the county's purchase was made on the basis of taxes only.

An Orange reveals a Juicy Story ABOUT "VICTORY VITAMIN C"

NO
No...you want the most juice ...the most vitamin C

This is not a Florida orange—not an orange with all that extra juice and extra vitamin C you want. Your government urges you to fortify yourself with "Victory Vitamin C" every day ... to help build strong tissues, red blood vessels and firm bone. But this is not your Florida. It is a navel-type orange.

YES
FLORIDAS give most juice... therefore most vitamin C

This is a Florida orange...the prize of them all... for flavor, for extra juice, and for extra vitamin C. Note the thinness of its skin—the almost total lack of that white, inedible pulp. Because you get so much more juice for your money in these most juicy Floridas now in market, you get more "Victory Vitamin C!"

White Collar GIRL

Streamlined Thinking.

Several years ago the editor of a woman's yearbook wrote a foreword in which she charged that her task had been made difficult by "women in high places from whom we had a right to expect efficient coöperation."

"In some cases," said the editor, "women had to be addressed three or four times before they could be cajoled into supplying a bit of biographical information concerning their own careers. Women are by nature coy, and they appear to think it necessary to carry coyness over into their business. They want to be flirted with. They avoid directness as tho it were a vice. A simple request for information brought few direct answers. One of the most prominent banking women in America—an official of a great financial institution—wrote back that she would send it 'if you really want it.' We wrote back that we 'really wanted it' and added 'please be prompt.' After a week or two there came another flirting reply. 'I don't feel I really deserve to be in the book but if you still want it. . . .' Another letter and perhaps another. Yet leave out those names if you dare!"

This criticism was made quite some time ago. But, in many instances it still holds true today. Our alibi is that we have not been in business so long as men. And, one of the things we have had to learn is that artful subterfuge, charming evasion, and elusive vagary are patterned more for the heroine of a novel than the number 1 girl in an office. She loses no charm by being direct; she merely has streamlined her thinking along with her figure.

The WINS.

"Riding north on the State street car last Sunday night I was interested to see two lovely looking navy nurses standing near me. A couple of small boys asked them if they were WAVES, or SPARS or WAACs, quite forgetting the most important women in the war. The nurses were so pleasant to the children, one of whom remarked admiringly: 'Boy! I bet the sailors don't want to get well with you around!' I got off the street car at Delaware place with—all at once—an easier, less strained feeling, knowing that this type of girl is caring for our sons."

O, I'm harried!
Is he tall and lean?
Is he small and mean?
Is he fat and smiley?
Is he smooth and wiley?
Has he any hair?
Does he work and where?
And—as tho I care—
Is he married? —Fran.

A columnist's mail grows more interesting daily. Today came a V-mail letter from Australia from a contributor now doing her bit over there. . . . And, did you know there are V-mail greeting cards? . . . A housewife's headaches over rationing are zero compared with industry's. A Hartford, Conn., cafeteria for plant workers uses 28,999 pounds of meat a week, 1,980 pounds of butter, and 11,200 pounds of bread. . . . Warns Curbs by U. S. May Hit at Beauty

Washington, D. C., April 1 (AP).—If the government doesn't want America's hair hanging down over its collar and its women using perfumed shoe paste for mascara, it had better take steps, Joseph Byrne counseled the senate banking committee today.

Byrne, secretary of the Beauty and Barber Supply institute, explained that neck dusters, straight edge razors, and other essential items of professional hardware are disappearing rapidly from the market, and said it is going to be mighty hard to keep the nation's 500,000 hair dryers and permanent wave machines drying and waving without a few spare parts.

"We think the war effort will be aided if the beauty and barber shops are able to continue," he said.

"I need not tell you what a terrible sight the male population would be in the course of 90 days if they didn't have the services of a barber. . . .

"It will not benefit the home front to reduce the attractiveness of the American woman and it may dull the enthusiasm of the soldier home on leave. England tried it and it did not work. Even Germany realizes the need for maintaining the attractiveness of the population—both male and female—on the home front."

Byrne appeared along with other business men to indorse a pending bill which would establish an office of civilian supply separate from the war production board.

England, he said, learned her beauty lesson after "a sad experiment."

"They tried to discontinue the manufacture and distribution of beauty products and automatically a contribution was made to the black market in beauty products," he recalled. "Lipsticks and creams began to be turned out in garages and cellars. In some instances, scented shoe polish, which contains an ingredient harmful to the eyes, was being sold for mascara."

Byrne came out unequivocally for bobbed hair; said it added to a woman's youthful appearance and was a decided safety factor in war plants.

"War plants are finding that installation of beauty shops and cosmetic counters are cutting down absenteeism," he added.

'Aida' Pleases Crowded Civic Opera House

"AIDA."

Opera in four acts and seven scenes, with music by Giuseppe Verdi, libretto by Antonio Ghislanzoni. Presented in Italian by the Metropolitan Opera association at the Civic Opera house, Thursday evening, April 1, 1943. The cast:

The King	Lorenzo Alvary
Amneris	Bruna Castagna
Aida	Stella Roman
Rhadames	Frederick Jagel
Ramfis	Nicola Moscona
Amonasro	Richard Bonelli
A Messenger	Lodovico Oliviero
A Priestess	Thelma Votipka
Conductor	Wilfred Pelletier
Stage Director	Desire Defrere

Incidental dances by the ballet, under the direction of Laurent Novikoff.

BY CECIL SMITH.

The only "Aida" of the Metropolitan season found the Civic Opera house packed to the gunwales with customers who manifested their approval by prolonged applause and demands for many curtain calls. It was a performance to justify this enthusiasm, for the evening's vocalism was uniformly of a superior order, and under Wilfred Pelletier's direction the ensemble of principals, chorus, and orchestra consistently arrived at unanimous conclusions.

Except for Lorenzo Alvary as the king of Egypt and Nicola Moscona as the high priest, the chief rôles were all sung by artists who have interpreted the same parts in Chicago Opera company performances, tho not all ever have been gathered together in a single cast. Stella Roman gave a much better account of the title rôle than at her first appearance in it last fall. Her voice is produced with exceptional freedom and flexibility, and when she sings with as even and well inflected a vocal line as she achieved last night, she is a first rate artist. The difficult "O patria mia" aria in the Nile scene was distinguished by beauty of vocal color and inflection, and the climactic high C, tho it had a tendency to lose focus, was tellingly brilliant.

Bruna Castagna's Amneris invoked the proper tradition of the music, in which imperious accents are achieved without sacrificing lyricism and melodic integrity. Her voice was in superb shape, with none of the roughness and instability which occasionally crept into her Azucena last Saturday.

The men's rôles were likewise in good custody. Frederick Jagel, in his best form, delivered Rhadame's hearty music with ringing power, and with considerable eloquence of phrasing. Nicola Moscona's velvety bass voice and dignified presence were an asset as Ramfis, and Richard Bonelli's Amonasro was effective.

Thelma Votipka, as the offstage priestess, and Lodovico Oliviero, in the brief part of the messenger, handled their assignments capably, and brought back memories of the days when they were permanent members of our own Chicago company.

The visual aspects of the performance, as is always the case with "Aida," were less legitimate. The dancing of the ballet was callow and its choreography unimpressive. The weird melange of costumes made ancient Memphis out to have been a designer's madhouse. The triumphal scene suffered from its usual congestion and lack of interesting deploying of the masses of humanity.

But when "Aida" sounds well, nine-tenths of the battle is won. This performance sounded unusually well, so nobody had any reason to go away dissatisfied.

Chicago Host to Consuls of 40 Foreign Nations

Despite the war and its attendant international upsets, Chicago is host to the consulates of 40 foreign nations, the Chicago Association of Commerce disclosed yesterday. Twenty of the consulates represent nations actually at war; 11 represent nations invaded by the axis.

Theme and Variations

The suit theme is being played with numerous variations this spring. Today's patterns bring a tailored twosome and two styles of blouse to wear with it.

Style No. 3184 is designed for sizes 12 to 20 and 36 to 40. Size 16 requires 3¼ yards of 54 inch material for skirt, jacket, and hat.

Style No. 2782 is designed for sizes 14 to 20 and 36 to 50. Size 36 requires, for short-sleeved blouse, 1⅝ yards of 39 inch fabric with 2¾ yards of edging; for long-sleeved model, 2 yards of 39 inch fabric.

Each pattern is 10 cents, plus 2 cents for mailing.

Printed Rayons Never Better in Color, Motif

BY REA SEEGER.

When the color experts and designing wizards of a world famous textile manufacturer combine their talents, the results are sensational, especially when you realize that the same experts formerly lavished this genius only on luxury silks, but now on the finest of rayon! Fine, clinging rayon is treated to assure seams that will not sag, wrinkle, or shrink; rayon that is justifiably fine enough to make the most costly costume.

Brand new lengths of the material are here, featuring printed designs inspired by the famous "four freedoms" creed. Small, effective designs as, for instance, the "Freedom of Religion," with mosques, Greek temples, Hebrew inscriptions. Some of the old Roman gods are imprisoned in one beautiful rayon in dusky brown against an old ivory background color.

The "Freedom of Speech" is another new idea with crowds of peoples talking and gesticulating. "Freedom from Fear" is a colorful design of children on a merry-go-round, and the "Freedom from Want" print has vegetables and fruits of all kinds.

There are several very unusual color combinations, and the printed designs are small, effective, and even tho they are unquestionably conversation starters, they are prints that will make distinctive spring and summer dresses. The colors are exceptionally lovely.

Among these newly arrived prints are others as provocative in color and design. A bullfighter print is one of striking contrast, the figures as clear and dramatic as those seen from the grandstands. Still another unusual print is the allover pattern of wheeling and swooping birds in a wide wing spread formation, in either black or dull blue against cool chalk white or flesh pink. This spring prints have made fashion history for unique designs and flattering color combinations and contrasts.

According to Culbertson

[Copyright: 1943: By Ely Culbertson.]

A few of the country's best known players have earned their reputations exclusively in the fields of offensive and defensive play—which means that their bidding would never bring down the house. For example, one of the most successful of all tournament pairs might well have taken a leaf from the average player's book in connection with the following hand, which they mangled in the recent Eastern tournament.

North, dealer.
Both sides vulnerable.
Match-point scoring.

NORTH
♥A Q 7 6 5 3 2
♦K J 9 4 2
♣10

WEST
♠10 9 5
♥J 10 8 4

♣A 7 3 2

EAST

♥K 9
♦8 5 3
♣6 5

SOUTH
♠A Q J 8
♦A 10 7
♣K Q J 9 8 4

The bidding:

North	East	South	West
1 heart	Pass	2 clubs	Pass
2 diamonds	Pass	2 spades	Pass
3 hearts	Pass	4 clubs	Pass
4 hearts	Pass	4 no trump	Pass
Pass	Pass

North-South were not using any slam convention, hence North was entirely within his rights when he passed to South's four no trump call. As a matter of fact, no criticism can be attached to North's bidding so that he can be blamed for his side's failure to reach the slam contract in clubs, diamonds, or no trump that proved to be a laydown.

It was South's inexplicable timidity [South himself probably defined it as caution or caginess] which accounted for the contract stopping at the four level. It is understandable that South, following the heart bid, was afraid of a bad fit because of his heart void, but after the diamond bid came, nothing should have kept South from bidding a slam at either diamonds or clubs, perhaps even at no trump considering the match-point scoring.

Later, South indignantly demanded how he could know that North was ready to supply such a "magnificent" card as the club ten, but to the reviewer his alibi seems particularly silly. Any average player holding the South hand and hearing North's first two bids, would not worry his head over whether or not one particular card was opposite him; he would merely appraise the situation as calling for a slam—and he would be right! If the worst happened and North showed up with a void in clubs, it would not require a great deal of luck to make five club tricks with South's holding. But this is only part of the story. South did not have to depend exclusively on clubs; there was also partner's diamond suit that could be supported. Over North's four heart bid, six diamonds by South was the conservative course; six no trump was the aggressive course; the actual four no trump was a "buck passing" bid of the first water.

Civic Leaders' Group to Assist Salvation Army

BY THE REV. JOHN EVANS.

The formation of the Salvation Army Association of Commerce of Chicago, composed of 200 business, professional, and civic leaders, was announced yesterday by Lt. Commissioner John J. Allan, head of the central states territory of the Salvation Army. Roy C. Ingersoll, Chicago manufacturer, was named chairman of the association.

Roy C. Ingersoll.

Commissioner Allan explained that the association will bring into closer relationship the friends of the Salvation Army and give the city a better chance to use its social, spiritual, and philanthropic services. It also will broaden public understanding of the motive back of all the Salvation Army's varied activities. Commissioner Allan praised Mr. Ingersoll's service to the Salvation Army.

"We are fortunate to have Mr. Ingersoll accept our invitation to become chairman of the association during its formative period," Commissioner Allan said. "It is gratifying that such a busy executive, who knows no limit of hours in his working day as he leads his industry in serving the war effort, is willing to head the association."

Among sponsors of the association are Mrs. Cyrus H. Adams III., A. Watson Armour, Lest Ballard, Sen. Wayland Brooks, Mayor Edward J. Kelly, Frederick D. Corley, Gen. Charles G. Dawes, Robert F. Carr, James A. Cunningham, Mrs. Robert J. Dunham, Charles Y. Freeman, Mrs. Charles B. Goodspeed, De Forest Hulburd, James R. Leavell, Nathaniel Leverone, Sen. Scott W. Lucas, Gen. Nathan William McChesney, Mrs. Andrew Leish, Oscar C. Mayer, Mrs. Joseph E. Otis, Mrs. Nathaniel A. Owings, Stuyvesant Peabody, John T. Pirie Jr., C. Ward Seabury, Henry A. Scandrett, Silas H. Strawn, and Gen. Robert E. Wood.

The new group will publish a quarterly journal, the Salvation Army Association News.

In addition to caring for the needy on the home front, the Salvation Army is now with the allied forces on all fighting fronts, serving refreshments and providing inspiration for the fighting men.

Household Forum

By Louise Bargelt

[Have you some household help that lightens labor or conserves on materials? Is there some convenience you would like? We'll be glad to pass on your ideas to our readers.]

Mrs. Timothy J., Chicago: I don't go out very much, being a bit oldish and not too steady on my feet. I took my grandchild to the loop the other day and wondered, after we were nearly swept from our feet by people in a rush as they went thru revolving doors, why no one puts governors on those doors? Old people and children would certainly appreciate them.

Mrs. J. King, Chicago: I've always understood that if you add table salt to the part of your double boiler which contains water it increases temperature of boiling water and thus your food cooks in shorter time. This is a bit of a gas or electricity saver, at any rate.

Mrs. Thomas G., Evanston: I've just finished giving my parchment shades two coats of opaque casein paint. Where edges were cracked I mended them with passepartout. They're good for some time now.

Mrs. Fred W., St. Louis, Mo.: I heat milk before beating it into mashed potatoes and believe it makes them fluffier and lighter than if it is used cold.

Mrs. John B., Chicago: When any shredded coconut needs a little freshening I soak it 10 minutes in milk.

Mary Morse Will Be June Bride in East

BY JUDITH CASS.

LT. AND MRS. JOHN B. MORSE are hoping they will be able to go east in June for the marriage of his sister, Miss Mary Morse, to Richard Osborne of New York. Today Miss Morse's engagement to the young easterner is being announced by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Samuel F. B. Morse of Pebble Beach, Cal. The Morses and their daughter will be coming thru Chicago in May en route to New York, where the wedding will take place shortly after Mr. Osborne receives his commission from the naval reserve midshipmen's school at Columbia university.

Miss Morse was graduated from the Dominican convent in San Rafael, Cal., and from Leland Stanford university. Her father now is in charge of operations of the Del Monte pre-flight school for the navy, while her brother is stationed at Great Lakes as a regimental commander.

Mr. Osborne Graduate of Harvard University.

Mr. Osborne, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lithgow Osborne of Auburn, N. Y., and Washington, D. C., was graduated from Harvard university, where he belonged to the Delphic club, Hasty Pudding, and the Harvard Crimson. His father formerly was in the diplomatic service with the American embassy in Denmark, for which country Mrs. Osborne's father, the late Fredrik Raben-Levetzau, served as minister of foreign affairs. Mr. Osborne now is in the office of foreign relief operations in Washington.

The Donald R. McLennans, parents of Lt. Morse's wife, recently returned to Lake Forest from their Palm Beach home. Another of their children, Mrs. Woodbury S. Ober, now is living in Washington, where Lt. Comm. Ober heads the navy department's Central American desk. Recently the Obers were stationed in the Canal Zone and in Costa Rica. Lt. Donald R. McLennan Jr., is on duty in Australia.

The Averill Tildens are enjoying a family reunion with their son-in-law and daughter, Lt. [j. g.] and Mrs. Robert E. English, and their grandchildren, Suzanne English and Robert Nelson Jr. The Englishes have arrived from Clayton, Mo., to spend a few weeks here. Young Bobby Nelson's parents are in Norfolk, Va., where Lt. Nelson is stationed. Earlier this week Baylies Tilden returned to the Lawrenceville school after he and a California classmate, George Shaw, had spent their spring holiday here.

Mrs. Manierre's Sons Both Serving in Army.

Mrs. Harrison Manierre's sons both are away in the army. Cyrus E. Manierre, a West Point graduate, is a first lieutenant in the paratroops, and William R. Manierre has enlisted in the army air forces and is a cadet flyer in San Antonio.

Now that the junior Walter L. Cherrys' short holiday in Pompano, Fla., is over, Mr. Cherry has gone to the Aberdeen proving grounds, where he will be stationed for three months in the research laboratory. Recently he was graduated first in his class from the signal corps training school at Northwestern university. For the time being his wife and son are remaining in Wilmette.

William S. Warfield IV. now is an ensign in the naval reserve, having been graduated from the midshipmen's school in New York. David Bradley, the A. Ballard Bradleys' son, has left for the army to be a combat motion picture photographer. C. Durand Allen Jr. has

Take Part in Northwestern Glee Club Concert Tonight

Girl Violinist Again Displays Effectiveness

Concert by the Chicago Symphony orchestra, Hans Lange, conductor; Patricia Travers, violinist. Presented at Orchestra hall, Thursday evening, April 1, 1943. The program:

Concerto No. 2, F major .... Bach
Air from Suite No. 3, D major .... Bach
Played in memory of Frank O. Lowden.
Concerto for Violin, No. 2, G minor
.... Prokofieff
Symphony No. 2, D minor .... Dvorák

BY CLAUDIA CASSIDY.

Grown up to a long, ruffled dress, but still wearing a ribbon in her shining brown hair, 15 year old Patricia Travers made her second appearance with the Chicago Symphony orchestra at Orchestra hall last night, introducing Prokofieff's Second Violin Concerto under the direction of Hans Lange. It was a mild case of miscasting.

Patricia is an exceptionally competent violinist, and has been since her début here five seasons ago. She has a beautiful tone, a well scrubbed technique, no mannerisms—altogether one of those honest talents completely straightforward and increasingly dependable. She played the concerto clearly and intelligently, and the only thing that reminded you of her age was that she carried her violin mute tucked in her green satin sash.

But the Prokofieff concerto is a different bill of goods entirely. It is not a brilliant display work, but a piquant interweaving of violin and orchestra, intricate in rhythm, deft in manipulation and provocative in conversation. It is the sort of thing a virtuoso could toss back and forth with a glittering orchestra, making the most of its nobility, its strong accents, and the notable slow movement with its rich rhythmic currents, and its eloquent strings plucking beneath the solo instrument, which in turn plucks its pattern over cellos and basses.

Whether Patricia could have given that sort of performance I have no idea. But she had no chance to try. Mr. Lange made no attempt to create a brilliant performance, holding down the orchestra in size and glitter, no doubt with the idea of displaying his small soloist to best advantage. It may have displayed Patricia, within limits, but it spoiled the concerto.

Mr. Lange's major success of the evening came with a big and dramatic performance of Dvorák's Second symphony, a work almost as Brahmsian as it is Bohemian, rich in melody and momentum, with exceptional fragrance and vitality. He gave it definition, detail, and a cumulative climax, and the orchestra responded by playing superbly.

The concert opened with Bach's Second Brandenburg Concerto, for which Mr. Lange used a small orchestra that had buoyancy, but lacked the ideal tone, possibly because of the clarinet substituting for the trumpet. He also played the lovely Bach air from the Third Suite, in memory of Frank O. Lowden. The late ex-governor had been the only surviving member of a small group of citizens who in 1903 made possible the purchase of the lot on which Orchestra hall, the orchestra's home, still stands.

In an effort to maintain both home and orchestra, Edward L. Ryerson, president of the Orchestral association, made his annual plea for sustaining members last night. The orchestra needs $50,000 and will accept membership contributions of from $10 to $1,000 each. Sustaining members will be invited to a concert Saturday afternoon, April 17, to hear and meet the new conductor, Désiré Defauw.

Mr. Ryerson explained that income necessary to support the orchestra is achieved in these percentages: From ticket sales, 65 per cent; from building rentals, 16 per cent; from endowment fund, 8 per cent. The remaining 11 per cent must be acquired by other means.

Annual Club Luncheon.

The Du Page County Federation of Women's Clubs will have its annual spring luncheon next Friday at the Central Eleanor club.

Front VIEWS and PROFILES

BY MARCIA WINN

Coiffures Begin at Home.

From the Bloomington [Ind.] Telephone:

"A Gosport woman has returned home from Chicago, possibly with her hair not standing on end, but maybe with a gray hair or two, as a result of a shock she encountered in the Windy City.

"The Gosport woman went to Chicago to consult a widely advertised 'Monsieur DeTete,' billed as having just arrived from Paris with the latest wrinkle in coiffures; billed as the best in the business—just off the boat.

"'Monsieur DeTete' turned out to be something of an old friend of the family. He formerly operated a barber shop in Gosport."

More Verbal Shortage.

Add to the dictionary of axioms outmoded by rationing:

One man's meat is another man's poison.

But Would He?

If they pass a two term law,
Alas and alack:
Will the three term incumbent
Have to give one term back?

Income Tax: New Version.

A lady who works in the Des Moines income tax office went to work the other day with the Ruml plan, no doubt, on her mind, for she forgot to put on her skirt. She fled home to complete her attire, and 45 minutes was lopped from her annual leave. No forgiveness.

Metropolitan Mosaic.

Frank St. Leger conducting "The Barber of Seville" with his good luck piece, a pencil-like willow wand 14 inches long with which Giorgio Polacco conducted Mary Garden's revival of "Salome" in 1921 [banned in Chicago in 1910 as "injurious to the public morals," a law-and-orderer having said "Miss Garden wallowed around like a cat in a bed of catnip."] . . . Lauritz Melchior, a giant of a man, docilely bending down at a party so his tiny wife could remove traces of Wagnerian makeup from his brow and calmly tossing down his throat, without benefit of liquid, the two vitamin pills she handed him. . . . The taunting sign shining thru the night on the Outer drive which advertises "the winning cup" . . . of coffee. . . . Bert Page, former University of Illinois music professor and student of Schnabel, now a yeoman at Great Lakes, shaking visibly as he sat down at a piano for the first time in six months and played a Chopin étude. . . . Open windows on buses. . . . And a March wind as April comes.

Spontaneous Combustion.

The passion in the Metropolitan's performance of "Tristan and Isolde" Wednesday night reached so extreme a heat that it was reflected in the audience when, during intermission, a lady's veil burst into flames.

This Changing World.

For fear you have missed what well may be the want ad of 1943, addressed to executives and managers, it is:

"Experienced, successful loafer, 30 years old, with law degree, desires position paying high salary pending passage of 'Cradle to the Grave' legislation. Have loafed at good pay thru following positions: public relations and publicity, purchasing agent, and expediting. Knowledge of priorities and most government rules and regulations but little understanding."

Youths Take Tests Today for Army's Specialty Training

Screening tests to determine whether young men 17 to 22 years old are qualified for army specialized training will be conducted in high schools in Chicago and thruout the United States from 9 to 11 a. m. today. The tests are open to graduating seniors, recent graduates, students who do not have secondary school certificates but who are in college, and unassigned enlisted reserve corps college students not in advanced R. O. T. C. courses.

To qualify fully for the army specialized training, a youth will have to complete his 13 weeks of basic military training and pass the test to be given today. This test was designed by and will be scored by the army college entrance examination board. It will measure the ability of prospective draftees to achieve a satisfactory level in college work suitable to the needs of the army for officer candidates.

Students less than 18 who indicate a preference for army service after induction will be invited to join the army enlisted reserve corps at once, but they will not be called to active service until after completion of the school term which is current with their 18th birthday. More than 200 University of Chicago students will take the test today.

Arsenal Women Workers Are Doubled in 6 Months

Davenport, Ia., April 1 [Special].—Employment of women at the Rock Island arsenal has doubled during the last six months, according to a report issued today. Women have replaced men who have entered the army or navy, returned to farms, or left for other employment.

Women in War Work

By Kate Massee

Mrs. Warwick B. Hobart, chief of the training of women division for the office of the secretary of war, observed yesterday that there is practically no job that women can't do in war industry. She lamented, tho, that women aren't coming out of their homes to take their places on the production line rapidly enough to meet the need.

Mrs. Hobart paused in Chicago yesterday to confer with ordnance and other war department representatives on the last lap of a cross-country tour. Chic in black, she looked more like a successful club woman than the lady on whose slender shoulders rests the problem of women in all government owned and operated plants.

Sixty per cent of the present trainees for jobs in these plants are now women, she said, and this adds up to a lot of jobs and a lot of women when it is realized the war department is the largest employer in the country. It's her job to determine where the women can best be used and to help eliminate the factors that are keeping them from taking war jobs. She visits plants, makes surveys, and then submits her recommendations to the office of the secretary of war.

Of the current women trainees 60 per cent are married women with families, and they can't be expected to function well if they are worried about their families, Mrs. Hobart said. She has to see that the conditions which provoke worry are eliminated. Nursery schools have been a great boon in many cases, she said. She also stressed that there is not sufficient utilization of older women in war industry.

Mrs. Hobart spoke informally in the safety and security branch of the office of the chief of ordnance at 333 North Michigan avenue.

Mrs. Walter J. Kelly, chairman of waste fats salvage for the Chicago metropolitan area, will speak at an emergency luncheon meeting of women's organizations to be held on Thursday at the Merchants and Manufacturers club in the Merchandise mart. Mrs. Anne V. Zinser, state women's director of salvage for the WPB, has called the meeting to discuss what women's groups can do to further the collection of waste fats and greases. While women of Chicago are more than doing their part under Mrs. Kelly's direction, there is even greater need because of increased war demands, Mrs. Zinser said.

The Service Men's Wives' club of Highland Park will celebrate its first birthday today with a party at the Highland Park U. S. O. club. One of the gathering's highlights will be a display of the hobbies cultivated by the wives during their husbands' training periods. Included in the array will be an assortment of rifles, foreign recipes, stamp albums, and hand embroidered linens.

The club, which started with 18 women—wives of men stationed at Great Lakes and Fort Sheridan—now has a membership of 300. Besides discussing infant care, gardening, and recipes, the women have sponsored showers for the club's expectant mothers, made knapsack libraries for soldiers and sailors, and fashioned gifts in the U. S. O. craft shop.

The club's purpose, according to Mrs. Grace Beatty, associate director of the Highland Park U. S. O., is to provide leisure time recreational activities for wives of service men.

Twelve women and one man will wind up 10 weeks of tuition free war training in chemistry at the Illinois Institute of Technology with a luncheon today at Carson Pirie Scott & Co. John I. Yellott, director of war training at Illinois Tech, will speak.

Wilfred S. Reynolds, director of the Council of Social Agencies, and Ernest Goranson of the OCD will address a group of volunteer medical social service aids at its first meeting of a five lecture series, to be held at 10:30 o'clock this morning at the Volunteer office, 111 West Jackson boulevard. Mrs. Elizabeth S. Fitch, director of the office, also will speak on "The Purpose of the Volunteer Office." Other lectures will be given on April 5, 7, 9, 13, and 15. Upon completion of the course, workers will be assigned to social service departments of various hospitals, where they will assist professional staffs.

Thru the Looking Glass

As we said yesterday, this is the perfect time to start your program of leg skin reconditioning if you want to laugh at the stocking shortage this spring and summer. You might begin now to use a good hair eraser.

We have an idea that it helps groom the skin in more ways than one. One of our favorites, a rose tinted disk used with a rotating motion that whisks off the hair with thoroness, also seems to leave the skin softer and smoother. We're firmly convinced that its gentle friction is a good remedy for the surface roughness that not only makes the skin unsightly but can snag the real hose or make the synthetic ones look much more phoney than they should.

This disk is to be used only when the skin is immaculately clean and dry. It's to be pressed rather gently against the skin, then rotated lightly but firmly over the hair. It's very important to hold the flesh firm so that it does not follow the movement of the disk, which is used with a circular motion from left to right a few times, then reversed. And don't try to cover too much area at a time. Clean up one inch and go on to the next. It sounds more complicated and more tedious than it really is. Once you get the hang of it, it's easy, and the whole secret of keeping the legs perfectly groomed is to keep the growth under control by using your disk regularly.

With this, there is no fussing around with chemicals or razors. It's easy to acquire the habit of using it almost daily. And it's inexpensive—and a great help in keeping the skin immaculately groomed and soft from day to day.

Father Should Enjoy Between Age Children

BY GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS.

[Copyright: 1943: By News Syndicate Co., Inc.]

It's a pity not to enjoy the inbetween years, 6 to 12, of your boys and girls. They may be turbulent years but none the less interesting if you'll only try to see the child's side and not think only of discipline as the means of "straightening him out."

A mother told me the other day how tender and patient her husband was with their two boys, born a year apart, when they were babes in arms and little runabouts. He was so proud of them and showed them off at every opportunity. But since they've reached the inbetween years it's a different story; the lads are in hot water most of the time.

Her husband likes to read and when one or both of the boys, full of the thing that interests them at the moment, bursts in shouting for some one to come and see what he's found, or begins bouncing a ball against the house, the fat is in the fire. They've been cautioned against doing such things and forgetting is no excuse. Their father maintains that their memories must be sharpened and he acts to sharpen them!

Friction spreads thru the family; the father thinks the mother too easy with the lads when he isn't at home and has gotten into the habit of constantly correcting them himself. They are instinctively beginning to keep out of his way.

Of all times in their lives, I think children fall less easily into our conventional mold in these between years than at any other age.

Some fathers become too quick, irritable, impatient and demanding with their sons at this stage. They become demanding at a time when their boys are least able to respond. Their impatience grows in proportion to their son's heedlessness and irresponsibility, and unfits them to deal wisely with the child. Sharp reproofs or punishment are quite apt to take the place of interest and companionship.

Fathers miss in these rough and ready years the earlier "little boy-daddy" relationship, and yet aren't able to substitute for it the equally interesting but different "teen-age-father" relationship. And so they drift away from each other, just when they could be having such good times together—when this son of theirs could be learning to confide about many things that a father should be "in on."

Don't expect a steadiness, an evenness, an application, a maturity to be a part of this period in a child's growth. There is no malice in these happy-go-lucky youngsters. They are simply full of themselves and enthusiastic and interested in everything under the sun.

So don't mar the closeness that should exist by too much discipline and lack of understanding. It's much more profitable to overlook, forgive, and call in your sense of humor. The first thing you know you'll be enjoying your inbetween youngsters.

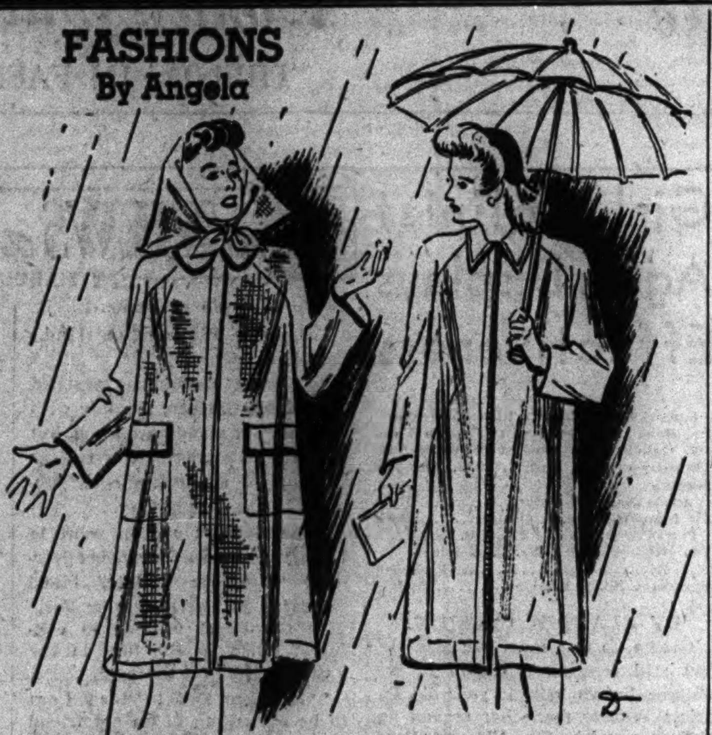
FASHIONS

By Angela



It isn't necessary to be a weather prophet these April days to know that sooner or later you'll be caught in an unexpected downpour. To foil Jupiter Pluvius, carry a voluminous raincoat in a small 5 by 5 inch matching pouch, or wear an airy, protective covering of waterproofed marquisette or voile which may be folded to the size of a small pocket handkerchief. There are many selections among raincoats.

One of the most intriguing choices in the field of water repellents is sketched at the left. Semitransparent, this raincoat of woodland violet, waterproofed marquisette is as light as a feather and as durable as iron. The Peter Pan collar, cuffs, and pockets are bound in red. Wide full sleeves, raglan style, allow ease and freedom of motion when worn over a spring coat. A slit pocket effect across the shoulders in the back offers further roominess to accommodate fur collars. It's available in large, small, and medium sizes. If you cannot hang onto an umbrella, a water repellent babushka serves as an ideal substitute. These are available to match the raincoats. Being 36 inches wide, they are large enough to tie over a hat, if desired.

At the right is another semi-transparent raincoat with matching umbrella and bag. Created of processed voile, the threesome serves admirably as a pinch hitter for rubber coats. The raincoat has slim straight lines, full sleeves with raglan shoulder, and deep slashed pockets. Zippered down the front to within 3 inches of the bottom, the coat affords full coverage, with enough room for comfortable walking. It is available in red or blue and is modestly priced.

Good Morning!

It's news when two such swell musicals as "Hello, Frisco, Hello" and "Star-Spangled Rhythm" come out within a month of each other! [And AWFULLY nice for a reviewer!]

I just plain liked everything about 20th Century-Fox's gorgeously technicolored new song 'n' dancia. Starting with Alice Faye, who, after an absence of about two years, comes back to the screen, slim, lovely, and twice the actress she was in an earlier day. . . . There's a new warmth to her wistful appeal; a new serenity about her. She is completely and consistently charming. . . . Then—John Payne! How HE goes to town this trip! As does Jack Oakie. . . . In minor rôles, Laird Cregar, Ward Bond, and June Havoc take the cake, and I want to breathe a little special ovation for Lynn Bari, who is a beautiful sight to see and does some keen acting as a not very likeable charmer.

Most of the action takes place in old San Francisco's Barbary Coast. Here as the picture opens you see Trudy, Johnny Cornell, Beulah Clancy, and Dan Daley doing a song and dance act in a honky tonk. . . .

All except Johnny are satisfied with things as they are. But Johnny, born on the wrong side of the tracks, has the driving ambition to acquire power and money. . . . He wants to boss Barbary Coast and he wants to make terms to the residents of exclusive Nob Hill. . . . The narrative is concerned with his climb and the attendant experiences of himself and Trudy, who loves him; Dan and Beulah, who are his loyal aids and trumpeters; suave, exquisite Bernice Croft, from the right side of the tracks—whom he marries—and a lot of other folks.

Not a remarkable story, but a beguiling and touching tale that goes to your heart with its beloved old songs, bewitches you with its costumes and color, and will awaken acute nostalgia in many a breast. . . . So far, far away from world wars were those olden, golden days. . . . !

Among the songs revived are "Hello, Frisco," "Lindy Lou," "Gee but It's Great to Meet a Friend from Your Home Town," and "They Always Pick on Me."

See you tomorrow.

Looking at Hollywood

By Hedda Hopper

Hollywood, Cal., April 1.—Always nice when an old-timer gets what he deserves. In the last war Charles Coburn was tickling the customers on Broadway as Old Bill in "The Better 'Ole." He'll tickle them even more in "The More the Merrier." He's so outstanding that yesterday Harry Cohn put him under long term contract, and his first starring picture will be "Without Notice"—all about an English author who comes to America, runs afoul of domestic service, and has a heck of a time. That will be pretty merry, too. . . . Alfred Hitchcock, the maker of murder mysteries that raise goose pimples like the foothills of the Rockies, may switch his pace and do "Keys of the Kingdom" at Twentieth, with Ingrid Bergman, and either Joseph Cotten or Robert Young as the priest.

Super Woman.

Mme. Chiang Kai-shek stayed in the Nion Tuckers' apartment during her San Francisco visit. When her doctor phoned from New York, saying he wasn't pleased with the reports about her health, that she should cut short some of her activities, her reply was, "My welcome has been so tremendous—people are so kind, I can't forego anything that's been planned." Her self-discipline is an inspiration. While she's making a speech you can see she's in pain much of the time. She never lets it intrude. For the first time since I've lived in Hollywood I've seen our personalities willing and anxious to take a back seat—to Mme. Chiang Kai-shek.

Size for It.

Harry Sherman wants Don Wilson for a bartender in "Nob Hill." Don did "The Round-Up"—remember? . . . Ann Shirley, back from New York, denies matrimonial rumors about herself and Eddie Albert. . . . Pvt. Chet L. Swital writes from March field: "I saw Harrison Ford playing the army circuit with a U. S. O. show—"Arsenic and Old Lace."—just as good as he ever was. Why don't Hollywood producers count their chips, bring back these old-timers, and not bawl so much about losing their male stars to the armed forces?" . . . Milton Berle tells about the ghosts who had a mad on—and were not on spooking terms!

Ann Shirley.

Right, Too.

Susanna Foster was late to work on "Phantom of the Opera," where she got dark looks and was asked for an explanation. She'd picked up a couple of boys on the pass who were late for work at Lockheed, so she drove them over, figuring their work was more important than hers. . . . They're saying that "Keeper of the Flame" is "Citizen Kane" with all its art scraped off. . . . Quite a switch for Nancy Kelly, returning from Broadway to be the new girl in Tarzan's life. . . . Margo's had her option lifted at R. K. O. . . . Elizabeth Taylor so good in "Lassie Comes Home" she gets a part in "Jane Eyre."

Could Be.

A Red Cross worker from North Africa told Abbott and Costello about seeing their "Keep 'Em Flying" over there. It took place on a pitch black night on a field near Tripoli for American flyers awaiting orders. Some Arabs, passing by in the night and hearing the motor noises from the sound track, thought the Nazis had arrived and scurried for cover. . . . Mrs. Pat O'Brien left to join Pat at Albuquerque and train back with him. Will he have some tall tales to tell! . . . Wonder why Mickey Rooney is cast as another English boy in "National Velvet." Star part calls for a girl. Mickey came off second best in "A Yank at Eton."

And Many More.

Did you know it was on Major Bowes' hour that Frank Sinatra was discovered? He sang "Night and Day." . . . William Post Jr., whose chance came in "The Moon Is Down," has been signed for "The Life of Roger Touhy." . . . Gary Cooper tells me he's down to one horse, from five. "What did you do—eat 'em?" "No," said he, "I couldn't feed 'em." . . . Ida Lupino's police dog is trained to guard her against sleep-walking. When Ida starts to "somnambulate," dog barks and grabs her by the leg. . . . Johnny Mack Brown reports this sign at busy crossroad: "Drive carefully. We don't want our streets littered up."

Jolly Crew.

Jerry Cooper, the dwarf with personality in "Saratoga Trunk," can do anything—and does—from tumbling to playing baseball. . . . On the set yesterday, Ingrid Bergman, done up in pink taffeta, was having a quarrel with Gary Cooper, but off the set she said to him, "When I was 10 I fell in love with my first cowboy, but he happened to be Ken Maynard. That was in Stockholm." . . . Binnie Barnes had a screen test set for her adopted daughter, but the girl is turning it down. She wants to join the WAFs.

Stage Note

A Chicago company of "Kiss and Tell," a new comedy by F. Hugh Herbert, produced by George Abbott, will open at the Harris theater on May 10. In New York the play opened on March 17 and was an overnight smash hit. Like many other George Abbott offerings, it is concerned with the tribulations of adolescents. No cast has been announced for the Harris theater engagement.

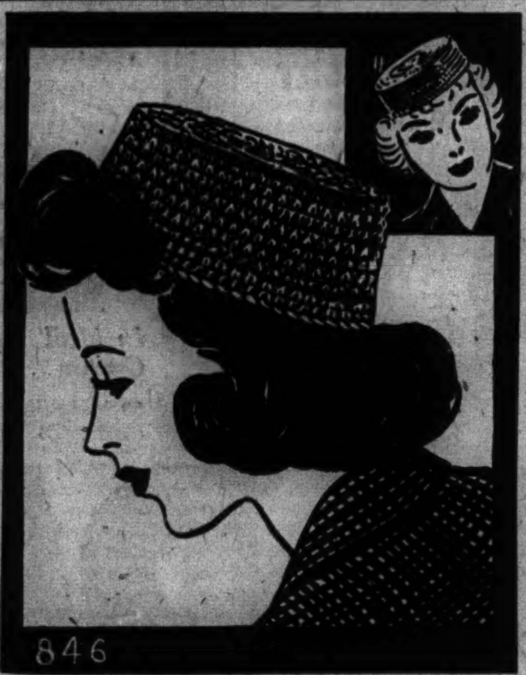
Crocheted Pill Box Hat

BY ELLEN BRUCE.

A crocheted pillbox executed in a simple stitch can be clapped atop the pompadour or worn forward, depending upon one's mood. Such a hat is easy to create and any type of cotton or wool may be used, depending upon the ensemble.

For instructions in crocheting the pill box hat, No. 846, send 10 cents in stamps or coin, plus 2 cents to cover mailing cost, to the Needlework Bureau, Chicago Tribune, 220 Fifth avenue, New York City.



Sachet May Be Substituted for Scarce Scents

By ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

[Copyright: 1943: By News Syndicate Co., Inc.]

The houses devoted to scent creation are concentrating on perfume sales now since colognes and toilet waters are their war problem children. They're urging economical use of perfumes. They're educating us to keep a larger bottle stored in a dark place, using it to refill the small container in frequent use.

But a new attack is being made in the sales interest of a very old, charming, lovely scent habit. The use of sachet! Personally, we think the sachet method of scenting linen, lingerie, hankies, gloves, stockings, an exquisite practice. Who can recall, without the tenderest memories, opening up lavender scented linen drawers or cupboards? Or, the old-fashioned pot-pourri whose scent was allowed to escape?

There's something akin to a spiritual uplift to open a drawer or closet and be met with the undefinable loveliness of a sachet scent. One associates with women who make the sacheted drawer a consistent habit, a meticulousness in everything about themselves. Drawers are neatly kept; hankies in their box; stockings in theirs; lingerie neatly arranged in their compartments.

Too, there's the flavor of high romance about these women. You think of them as exquisitely feminine women.

A scent used this way plays a haunting melody. There is no sharp attack on the senses. There is what you might call a flowing grace in its use.

Yes, we love the sachet habit. We wish more women would adopt it. It would help solve our perfume problem, too. And there are some lovely sachet scents on the market currently. If you want a bit more body to the scent when you dress for your public appearance, you can, you know, sprinkle sachet on a bit of cotton and tuck it into your bosom, into your purse, even into your suit or dress pocket.

Hartley, who attended Greenbrier Military academy, West Virginia, is stationed in New York City.

WILSON CHASED AS CUBS DEFEAT SOX, 4-2

In the WAKE of the NEWS

BY ARCH WARD.

TONY JANIRO, the curly haired 16 year old high school freshman from Youngstown, O., convinced 21,000 in Chicago Stadium Wednesday night that he is the greatest amateur featherweight boxer in the United States. . . . After all, he had to whip the strongest and bravest lads in the Cleveland tournament to qualify for the Chicago Tournament of Champions. . . . He breezed thru the Chicago meet, the biggest amateur boxing event in the world, without a defeat. . . . Among his victims was the 1942 Golden Gloves champion, Jack Graves of Minneapolis. . . . Then Wednesday night he defeated the best fighter the eastern section of the United States could pit against him—George Cooper of New York. . . . Now comes the severest test of Janiro's meteoric career—the battle to whip himself. . . . Few men finishing college have enjoyed the athletic fame that has come to this young lad who hasn't completed his first year in high school. . . . His rise from obscurity to fame in less than a couple of months can make him or break him. . . . It's up to him and those guiding his destiny. . . . He will get offers of $100, maybe more, to appear in professional bouts. . . . They'll look important to him now when he and his family need money. . . . But any promoter who would lure a high school freshman into professional ranks ought to be banished from the sports pages. . . . Janiro should be given opportunity to finish his elementary education, at least, before taking up boxing as a career. . . . He's a clever kid with his dukes, but he is just an immature youth who could be belted into fistic oblivion by a skilled professional. . . . We hope he gets the chance he deserves to grow physically and intellectually and it's our guess that he is smart enough to see that he does . . .

Hockey, apparently, is one game where victories or lack of them do not affect the gate. . . . The New York Rangers, for example, who finished a hopeless last in the National league, drew $1,100 more than they did last year. . . . It's a little late to do anything about it now, but high school basketball teams might profit by the example of Lima [O.] Central when uniforms are ordered for next winter. Every member of the Lima quintet wears his own name in large letters on the front of his playing jersey. . . . Leo Diegel, professional at El Rio Golf club in Tucson, Ariz., has raised more than $500 for the Red Cross by fining members 25 cents for each shot they fire into a trap. . . . One of the pleasant surprises at the recent dinner for Connie Mack in Philadelphia was the fine bass singing of Rube Walberg, the old mound star of the Athletics. Rube further amazed the assembly by proving he knows all the words of all the stanzas of our national anthem. . . . When Pants Rowland acquired Rip Russell from the Cubs he announced that his Angels will present the best infield in the Pacific Coast league this year. . . . The other units are Roy Hughes at second base, Bill Schuster at shortstop, and Charley English at third base.

Bill Smith, Negro sprint star for San Jose college, has been ordered to report for army duty this month. . . . The Cleveland Chamber of Commerce, which has been attempting to have the 1943 Ohio State-Michigan football game transferred from Ann Arbor to the Ohio city's huge Municipal stadium, has been informed by Fritz Crisler of the Wolverines that it's no go. . . . "We are not planning to shift any of our games," Crisler explained, "either to Detroit, Cleveland, or any other site." When the White Sox battled the Tigers in Evansville the other day, the American league's two losingest pitchers were in the rival dugouts. The Sox had Edgar Smith, the champion, with 20 defeats, and the Tigers Dizzy Trout, who was charged with 18. . . . The National Wrestling association still recognizes world champions. . . . Russ Herrick, the promising Senator pitching rookie, is just 17 years old. . . . Allie Reynolds of the Indians, a graduate of Oklahoma A. and M., is proud of his Creek Indian ancestry.

Confidence.

I'm proud of the chap who believes in his job,
And puts his best licks in the fight;
Who hasn't the time to whimper or sob,
Who believes that the future is bright;
The fellow who's giving the best that he can,
Tho the skies may be cloudy or clear,
Who turns to his task with a well-defined plan—
He's the lad I am ready to cheer.

The world owes its praise to the fellow with pluck,
No matter the niche he may fill;
Who never wastes time in bemoaning his luck,
Whose confidence gives us a thrill.
Who faces the future with confident step,
A smile and an uplifted chin;
The fellow with vim and with vigor and pep—
He's the fellow I'm backing to win.

—Biggar of Riverside.

Spring Song.

I can't understand this springtime urge,
Overwhelming me with the same old surge
To meander off on some farflung way,
When I ordered more fuel for the furnace today.
Perhaps it's because I happened to see
Green tipped buds on the lilac tree,
And heard the notes, full throated and strong
Of the first bright robin's cheerful song.

Detroit, Mich., April 1 (AP).—Detroit's Red Wings defeated the Boston Bruins 6 to 2 tonight in the first game of the final series for the Stanley cup, emblematic of the world hockey championship. The game drew 12,562 to Olympia stadium.

The Wings pounded home three goals in the second period to take a 4 to 1 lead, then added two more in the third.

Mud Scores Three.

Cheering hometowners gave their loudest ovation to Modere Fernand [Mud] Bruneteau, who banged in three goals. Mud thereby became the first Red Wing in history to pierce the nets three times in a cup game.

If Boston had a hero he was Art Jackson, who scored the first goal at 18:53 of the first period and spearheaded the Bruin attack most of the night. Ab Demarco drilled another goal past Goalie Johnny Mowers at 17:53 of the last period but by that time the verdict was sealed.

Abel Provides Thrill.

Bruneteau's feat will enter the record books, but Capt. Sid Abel provided the night's thrilling moment. Moved up by Manager Jack Adams to the center position on the first line, Abel dashed after a loose puck at mid ice late in the second period. Six feet ahead was 32 year old Harvey [Busher] Jackson. Sid passed Jackson at the blue line, stole the puck, and skated in to score unassisted.

Detroit scored first in every period and almost at the same moment each time. In the first period Defenseman Jack Stewart got one after 75 seconds had elapsed; in the second, Bruneteau had one 72 seconds after the intermission, and in the third, Bruneteau made it after 81 seconds. Abel led the chase for scoring honors with five points on a goal and four assists. Brimsek made 37 saves, Mowers 25.

Boston will remain in Detroit for the second game of the four out of seven series here Sunday night.

New York, April 1 (AP).—Wyoming's national collegiate A. A. winners whipped St. John's invitational basketball tournament champions, 52 to 47, in an overtime battle before a Red Cross benefit crowd of 18,316 in Madison Square Garden tonight.

Georgetown carried a late first half rally over into the second period to defeat Toledo, 54 to 40, as the runners-up in the N. C. A. A. and National Invitation tournaments clashed in the opening game.

New York Boxers Still Hope Disaster Was an April Fooler

BY BILL MURTHA.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Elkhart, Ind., April 1.—New York's Golden Gloves boxers passed thru this city this afternoon on their way back from Chicago and the east's most disastrous defeat in the 16 year history of the Intercity series, still thinking some one had played one of those April Fool's day jokes on them—and a sorry one at that.

The squad that went west with the highest hopes of any invading eastern team was returning to New York in the depths of despair. Only two people on this New York Central train had any reason to be cheerful over the outcome and Ballasandro Carubia and Clifford Smith were too good teammen to be joyous over their victories when the rest of them had had their hopes so rudely battered.

Game and Gallant Team.

The kids were game and gallant about the outcome of Wednesday night's bouts in Chicago Stadium, however, and nowhere was there a complaint about aynthing except their own shortcomings. The conversation, when it touched boxing at all, was about the phenomenal aggressiveness of the Chicagoans. All of them agreed that this was Chicago's finest team.

Perhaps they were right. Other western teams have had greater individual stars and have scored smashing triumphs in this series, but it would be difficult to make any boy on this train believe that a team of amateurs has yet been formed that could have stood up under the onslaught of those western wildmen who won 14 of the 16 bouts.

Only one of the Chicagoans disappointed and his was a valid excuse. The fact that Morris Corona failed to win his bout, as even the New York coaches had tacitly conceded beforehand, was no surprise considering the difficulties the lad had in getting leave from his defense job and his late arrival. Even so, it took Carubia's best fight to beat the Port Arthur Texan. The merchant seaman from the Sheepshead Bay station fought the battle of his life against Morris. He fought a better battle because he fought an intelligent, if not a crowd pleasing one.

Carubia Ties Up Corona.

After walloping Corona around the ring thruout the first round and flooring him three times, he realized that a fair showing thruout the last two rounds would give him the fight. He was content to tie Corona up and make the overanxious Texas boy miss and his strategy worked perfectly. The judges had no other course than to give it to Carubia.

New York will be an unhappy town today, but not so Charlotte, N. C. It furnished the easterners with their only other champion in Clifford Smith and when the pint sized Carolina lad gets back to Charlotte he'll get a civic welcome on a scale with those furnished by Greeter Gaw for visiting heroes back in the era of wonderful nonsense.

But even Cliff, who had no reason to leave town, was happy to be on this train. The weather was fine, the girls lovely, the town bustling, and hospitable up to last night, but the hangover. Ugh!

MISSES KIRBY, CRUM MOVE TO FINALS IN GOLF

Pinehurst, N. C., April 1 (AP).—Dorothy Kirby of Atlanta and Jane Crum of Orangeburg, S. C., won their semi-finals matches in the North and South Women's Golf tournament today.

Miss Crum advanced by a 4 and 3 defeat of Mrs. Glenna Collett Vare of Philadelphia, former national champion and several times winner of the North and South.

Miss Kirby had no trouble in eliminating Mrs. W. G. Boggs of Pittsburgh, 7 and 5.

C. Y. O. QUINTETS TAKE 3 GAMES

Seniors Beat B. B. Y. O. on All-Star Card.

BY CHARLES BARTLETT.

The Catholic Youth organization last night scored a triple victory in its sixth annual basketball battle against the B'nai B'rith Youth organization by sweeping the prep, junior, and all-star games before a crowd of 2,000 in Lane Tech's gymnasium. Climax of the program occurred at 11:30 p. m., when the C. Y. O. All-Stars, coached by Charles [Feed] Murphy, retained possession of the Lifschultz memorial trophy by defeating their B. B. Y. O. rivals, 38 to 23.

The Our Lady of Grace prep quintet started the C. Y. O. drive by winning their argument with the American Boys' Commonwealth five by a 30 to 20 score. The best fight of the night came in the second game, when St. Leo's juniors handed the American Boys' Commonwealth a 53 to 45 trouncing.

Cahill and Hoffman Star.

Dan Cahill, former Loyola university star, and Jimmy Hoffman, who hails from Annuncion parish, led the C. Y. O. All-Stars, Cahill delivering nine points and the squat and speedy Hoffman eight. Lester Perlman headed the losing scorers with seven points, all made on free throws. Loyola led thruout after permitting Red Weber's opening basket to give the B. B. Y. O. stars the early advantage. The winners' quarterly margins were 9 to 7, 19 to 15, and 26 to 19.

Isadore Leitner tied the score at 9 to 9 for the B. B. Y. O. early in the second quarter. It was he and Perlman's free throwing talents that enabled the losers to stay in the ball game. At the outset of the third period, Perlman clicked on two penalty tosses, and Dan Riffkin stole a loose ball and dribbled the length of the floor to bring B. B. Y. O. within a point at 20 to 19.

Our Lady of Grace Wins.

The Our Lady of Grace prep team won all the way also, thanks largely to superior height. They were in front at the half 11 to 6 and ran that to 19 to 11 midway thru the third period. Here Howard Doman and Harold Bresler, a 13 year old, who was the sparkplug of the losers' play, organized a rally which brought the A. B. C. within three points at 19 to 16 as the quarter ended. It was at this point that Bill Schorsch of the C. Y. O. representatives chipped in three field goals. Lester Przewlocki led all the winners with eight points.

PASSARELLA CALLS HACK OUT; DISPUTE, BANISHMENT FOLLOW

North Siders Get Nine Hits and 3 Are Triples.

BY EDWARD BURNS.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

French Lick, Ind., April 1.—The jolly illusion that the White Sox-Cub camp games here were to be played for exercise only, exploded with a violent bang today when Art Passarella, American league umpire, ordered Manager Jim Wilson of the Cubs off the field in an angry flare-up in the fifth inning. The Cubs won the game, 4 to 2, but Wilson's temples still were throbbing in fury long after the soothing verdict was established.

The clash between the American league umpire, officially assigned by President Will Harridge to officiate in all games involving the White Sox, was no April fool joke by any stretch of the imagination. The Cubs had come from behind with two runs in the fifth and Stan Hack attempted to steal home for a fourth counter. Passarella called Stan out to end the inning, whereupon Wilson went charging out, shouting a string of salty language.

Art Does His Duty.

"I can't tolerate swearing here," said Passarella, as he swept a gesture toward many women spectators on the fringe of the ball field.

Wilson's language and jowls both became more purple as Passarella sought to cool him off. Wilson, in full fury by now, began to shout insults to Passarella personally and to the American league. The umpire took it only briefly, then he ordered Wilson to the bathhouse. Wilson, continuing to heap abuse on Passarella, went to the Cub bench, but the umpire stopped the game.

"I don't want you around here," he hollered. "Get away from here and quick." Wilson, still enraged, shouted, "This is a demonstration of what can happen when a fathead like you is given some authority." Passarella refused to engage in any repartee but held up the game until Wilson was safely on the way to the headquarters hotel, a block or so from the playing field.

Despite the interruption, the full length game was perhaps one of the snappiest spring exhibitions on record, being reeled off in 1 hour and 23 minutes.

South Siders Are Stopped.

The White Sox, who pounded out 15 hits yesterday, made only four today, two off Bill Lee, none off Claude Passeau, and the other pair off Hi Bithorn.

The Cubs made nine, including triples by Len Merullo, Dom Dallessandro, and Bill Nicholson. Two of the nine safe ones were at the expense of Johnny Humphries, six were slapped off Buck Ross, and the other was a single off Newcomer Bill Swift, who worked the last two innings.

The starting pitchers, Humphries and Lee, ended their three inning stints with the White Sox possessed of a 2 to 1 lead and each team credited with a pair of hits. The Sox accomplished both their runs before the Cubs got their first hit. The south siders counted in the first inning on three passes, which had the bases loaded with one down, and a gummed up double play chance. They made another one with two out in the third as a result of a fumble by Stu Martin, a stolen base by Thurman Tucker and a single by Guy Curtright.

Tucker Goes 'Way Back.

Three of the first six Cubs flied to Tucker, a 450 foot fly by Nicholson giving the spectators a chance to extend loud applause for the bespectacled Sox center fielder. The first Cub hit, Merullo's triple, got the third inning under way. Lennie got home on Hack's single to left.

The Cubs took a 3 to 2 lead in the fifth. They would have made more than two runs if Wilson had been umpiring instead of Passarella.

Dallessandro opened with a triple and scored while Luke Appling was tossing out Merullo. Appling's error on Todd and a single by Passeau set the scene for Hack to drive home Todd with what proved to be the winning run. An error by Don Kolloway allowed the Cubs to load the bases, after which Phil Cavarretta forced Passeau at the plate. It was at this juncture that Hack sought to steal home and was speared, on Ross' pitch to Mike Tresh. The big explosion ensued.

Lots of Hits—One Run.

The Cubs made only one run on a triple and two doubles in the sixth. Nicholson opened with his triple and scored on Heinz Becker's fly to Tucker. Charley Gilbert doubled and stopped at third on Merullo's double. Todd then flied to Curtright and Gilbert was doubled at the plate.

Passarella said after the game that he would make a full report of Wilson's behavior to Commissioner K. M. Landis, under the rules which govern spring training disciplinary action.

Armstrong, Beau Jack to Fight Tonight

New York, April 1 (AP).—Henry Armstrong comes back to Madison Square Garden tomorrow night for one of the most important fights of his life.

Gone are the three championships he once held and there's no title on the line this time as he engages in a 10 round bout with Beau Jack, the kid he once taught how to fight. It's important to Henry because he wants to prove he's not a washed up old man.

Armstrong a few years back was boss of the welterweights, the lightweights, and the featherweights—the only man in ring history to hold three crowns simultaneously. Two years ago the experts wrote his fistic obit after Fritzie Zivic beat him up twice in a row.

He Wins 16 in Comeback.

Henry has had 18 fights since he started his comeback, and has won 16 of them.

For his return to the Garden he told Promoter Mike Jacobs he wanted the toughest kid around. And he got just that. Jack came out of a shoe shine parlor around the Augusta [Ga.] National Golf club a couple of years ago and walloped his way thru most of the good ones to New York state recognition as the lightweight champion.

Promoter Expects 18,000.

They think so much of him in these parts, the bettors have installed him a 1 to 2 shot to send Armstrong back to California for good.

One thing is definite—the old Armstrong lure for the customers is as strong as ever. Jacobs expects some 18,000 to sit in. His fun will come from counting a potential $90,000 house.

"Branch Rickey wired me that Brooklyn had purchased my contract from New Orleans and asked if I would be interested in joining the Dodgers. Naturally, I am, and I believe my chances of sticking are good," he said.

1943 INTERCITY CHAMPIONS SAY CHEERY GOOD-BY

Coaches Praised for 14-2 Victory Over New York.

BY HOWARD BARRY.

Chicago's Golden Gloves fighters, jubilant after their 14 to 2 victory over New York in Wednesday night's intercity matches, said a cheery good-by to one another yesterday and headed back to the army camps, naval stations, and war plants from which most of them had come.

They went away with the knowledge of a good job done. They had set out to recapture the intercity supremacy which Chicago had yielded, 9 to 7, last year in Madison Square Garden. They not only recaptured it but they turned the trick more emphatically than it ever had been done before in the history of Golden Gloves. Chicago's 13 to 3 victory in 1931 was the only thing that approached Wednesday night's performance.

Kline, Caserio Take a Bow.

Co-coaches Issy Kline and Fred Caserio received congratulations from all sides yesterday for the way they'd got the boys ready for this record breaking achievement. They were assisted by Dick Fitzpatrick, Felix Kolk, and Bob Howard.

A checkup on the scoring of the judges and officials showed that 13 of Chicago's 14 victories were unanimous. The only one in which the vote was split 2 to 1 was in the case of John Hubbard, who outpointed New York's William Gilliam in the heavyweight alternate bout.

On the other hand, both of New York's victories were on split decisions. Morris Corona fought back so valiantly after he had been knocked down three times in the first round that one of the officials believed he had won his welterweight championship match with Ballessandro Carubia of New York. One of the officials also voted for Jose Andreas, who lost to New York's flyweight champion, Clifford Smith. The decision which gave this bout to the eastern lad drew the only prolonged boos of the evening.

Most Bouts Close.

The checkover of the officials' cards also confirmed opinions that despite the one-sidedness of the total score most of the bouts which went three rounds were very close.

The six local fighters on the Chicago team all gave first class performances. Walter Moore had one of the toughest assignments of them all. He had to take on Cornelius Young, veteran Golden Gloves and intercity champion, who formerly represented this city but now is attached to a coast guard station near New York. Walter came thru brilliantly, outboxing his seasoned opponent at every stage of the proceedings.

Tim Dalton, southwest side Irish lad, gave his neighborhood pals a thrill by delivering a sound beating to Max Grothe. Reedy Evans showed his customary tremendous punching power by knocking out his light heavyweight opponent, Alfred La Brecque, in 57 seconds. William Johnson, George Adams, and Bertrand White were the other local boys who delivered the goods for the Chicago team.

Pfaff and other officers will participate in the opening ceremony.

GOMEZ TO MEET MUSTO.

LONDON BASE WINS SERVICE BASKET MEET

LONDON, April 1 (AP).—The aggressive London base command quintet, made up of former high school and college players, captured the United States armed services basketball tournament championship here tonight with an upset 52 to 43 victory over the army Grays.

A crowd of more than 5,000 filled Albert hall for the finals of London's first three day tournament for the benefit of the orphans' fund. The London base trailed by three points at the end of the first two minutes of play, then started rolling, with the attack led by Pvt. Buddy Hoffman, forward, of Bloomington, Ind., a former Indiana university star.

INJURY FORCES DEVIL'S THUMB OUT OF DERBY

New York, April 1 (AP).—A cracked right front foot—a wound no bigger than a dime but threatening serious injury if not treated—today forced the highly regarded Devil's Thumb out of the Kentucky Derby, the Preakness, and the rest of this spring's rich races for 3 year olds.

Winner of five straight stakes at Saratoga last August, an 8 to 1 shot in the Derby winter books and generally regarded as the most serious barrier to Count Fleet's threatened monopoly of the 3 year old money, Devil's Thumb was declared out of action for 60 days by Trainer Cecil Wilhelm after a telephone conference with Owner W. E. Boeing in Seattle.

Brown, 23 years old, former track and football star at Divernon High school and later at the University of Illinois, has been reported missing in action in a mid-eastern theater of war, Mrs. Fran Maurine Brown, his wife, was informed by the war department. NATIONAL A.A.U. SWIMMING MEET TO START TODAY

New York, April 1 (AP).—Ohio State's swimmers, headed by two boys from the Hawaiian Islands, Bill Smith and Keo Nakama, will try to make a clean sweep of the nation's major swimming championships in the National A. A. U. indoor meet in the New York Athletic club's pool tomorrow and Saturday.

Yale Defending Champion.

The Buckeyes, holders of the 1942 A. A. U. outdoor team title, have won the Big Ten and National Collegiate A. A. team championships this year. With a 16 man team, topped by Smith, holder of world records for 220, 440, and 880 yards free style, and Nakama, defending champion and meet record holder at 440 yards, Ohio State is favored to win this one, too.

In all, 96 swimmers representing 21 clubs, colleges, and schools as well as the army, navy, and coast guard have entered the two day meet. The 220 yard free style, 220 yard breast stroke, one meter dive, 300 yard individual medley, and 400 yard free style relay will be contested on Friday and the 100 yard and 440 yard free style, 150 yard backstroke, three meter dive, and 300 yard medley relay on Saturday.

Kiefer Also Entered.

Defending champions, besides Nakama, are Yale's speedy freshman, Alan Ford, in the 220; two Yale relay teams and Chief Specialist Adolph Kiefer of Chicago, now of the Norfolk, Va., Naval Training station in the backstroke and individual medley.

Ford is the first swimmer to break the 100 yard record of 51 seconds that Johnny Weissmuller set in 1927. He has been timed in 50.7 and 50.6 this season. Kiefer holds all the backstroke records in the book and the individual medley title as well while Yale's relay teams have bettered both the free style and medley records this season.

NORFOLK NAVAL NINE WINS, 10-5, OVER SENATORS

Washington Hurlers Yield 13 Hits.

Norfolk, Va., April 1 (AP).—The Norfolk Naval Training station's collection of erstwhile major leaguers whipped the Washington Senators, 10 to 5 today, behind the eight hit pitching of Freddy Hutchinson, ex-Detroit Tiger and Charley Wagner, ex-Boston Red Sox. The trainees rapped four Senator pitchers for 13 hits, including homers by Benny McCoy, formerly of the Athletics, and Phil Rizzuto, ex-Yankee shortstop. Gerry Priddy and Jake Early of the Senators also hit homers. Score:

PIRATES WIN EXHIBITION.

Muncie, Ind., April 1 (AP).—One of Muncie's best factory ball teams, from the Durham Manufacturing company, surprised the Pittsburgh Pirates with their opposition today, but the National leaguers won, 6 to 0. Joe Morris, a right hand pitcher, limited the Pirates to five singles and a double by Pete Coscarart, fanned six, and hurled the entire game. His mates made six errors behind him and he walked seven.

Durham ....000 000 000—0 4 6
Pittsburgh ....101 120 01*—6 6 1

Batteries—Morris and Chalfant; Gornicki, Brandt and Lopez, Baker.

GAFFKE GOES A. W. O. L.

Lafayette, Ind., April 1 (AP).—The Cleveland Indians' outfield problem became more acute today as Fabian Gaffke quit camp. Gaffke left a note to Manager Lou Boudreau saying he was "no good for anything but a bush league, playing about once a week" and that he was going to work. Boudreau said he wants Gaffke back and tried without success to reach him at his Milwaukee home. The outfielder underwent an operation last winter for an arm ailment which impaired his throwing. With Jeff Heath a holdout, Gaffke's retirement leaves only Oris Hockett, Roy Cullenbine, and Hank Edwards for outfield duty, with the latter facing army induction soon.

MORT COOPER IMPROVES.

Cairo, Ill., April 1 (AP).—Morton Cooper, who said the condition of his injured back was improving, pitched for two innings in a St. Louis Cardinals' practice game today. Altho he was scored on twice, Cooper had good speed and seemed to be working with more freedom. Rookie Harry Breechen, who followed Cooper, doled out only one hit in four innings to help Coach Mike Gonzales' squad to a 5 to 2 victory over Coach Buzzy Wares' team.

CINCINNATI REGULARS WIN.

Bloomington, Ind., April 1 (AP).—The Cincinnati Red Regulars beat the Scrubs today for the second time, 6 to 3. The Regulars scored all their runs in the third on five hits, a walk, and a fielders' choice. Infielder John Conway was sent to Birmingham on option.

PAUL DEAN PITCHES.

Cape Girardeau, Mo., April 1 (AP).—Paul Dean, new addition to the St. Louis Browns' pitching staff, worked three innings in an intrasquad game today. He did not yield a hit until the third, when he gave up three and a run. The game ended in a 2 to 2 tie.

KELLER IN SHAPE.

Asbury Park, N. J., April 1 (AP).—Charley Keller, slugging outfielder who was a holdout until recently, took his first workout with the New York Yankees today and at the finish appeared to be in tip-top condition. Pitcher Ernie Bonham and Catcher Ken Sears were back in uniform after fighting off flu germs.

BRAVES BEAT YANNIGANS.

Wallingford, Conn., April 1 (AP).—The Boston Braves regulars today hopped on the Yannigans for a 4 to 1 victory in a six inning practice game, the second Manager Casey Stengel has been able to hold at Choate school.

DOERR HITS HARD.

Medford, Mass., April 1 (AP).—Bobby Doerr put on a terrific slugging exhibition and Tex Hughson, the Boston Red Sox pitching ace, poured it on for 20 minutes today in the club's final workout in the Tufts baseball cage.

PHILS NEED SHORTSTOP.

Hershey, Pa., April 1 (AP).—"When we get a shortstop, I think we'll be all right," Manager Bucky Harris of the Phillies said today, "at least it's a cinch we won't be a last place ball club."

Harris has taught Danny Murtaugh a new batting stance that he thinks will correct his only previous weakness, and is enthusiastic about his fielding work at second. Babe Dahlgren is conceded in the Phillies' camp to be a huge improvement over Nick Etten at first base, and Third Baseman Merrill May has begun to show more pep than was his wont under Trainer Harold Bruce's new conditioning routine.

SOX, CUBS WILL PART COMPANY FOR WEEK-END

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

French Lick, Ind., April 1.—The White Sox and Cubs will skip thru another portion of camp routine tomorrow and then split up for the week-end, the former going to Louisville for Saturday and Sunday arguments with Bill McKechnie's Reds and the Cubs to Evansville for a two day glimpse at the Tigers. Boss Wilson of the Cubs will divide the Saturday pitching between Paul Derringer, Ed Hanyzewski and Lon Warneke, the same trio that lost to the Sox yesterday. The Sox Saturday pitchers will be Edgar Smith, Bill Dietrich, and Don Hanski, the semi-pro lefty. The same pitchers who worked today's informal Cubs-Sox practice affair will be reëlected for the Sunday dates.

Derringer, the ex-Red, jumped the spring fashion parade today by appearing in one of the Cubs' 1943 travel uniforms. The new togs are decidedly plain, a far cry from the giddy vestee raiment they wore while furnishing good clean fun the last several years. The new uniforms, grey for travel and white at home, are decidedly on the orthodox side, the road suits having Chicago lettered across the chest and the home garments a Cub emblem. The giant Derringer was allowed to put on the one man preview because the club didn't own an old suit large enough to give him covering. He had been wearing an old pair of pants furnished by the Reds. Paul is going to keep No. 30, the same as he had at Cincinnati.

In connection with the numbering of the athletes, Manager Wilson reveals that the system will be changed. There will be no single numbers, the lowest being ten. This means many of the boys will be forced to give up their long time favorites, but not Claude Passeau. He is keeping No. 13.

Wally Moses, the Sox outfielder who definitely is a regular, and Julius Solters, who hopes to win back his one time left field job, will be spared the bus jaunt to and from Louisville. They are still in the crippled class because of leg pains.

Jake Wade, the long, lean Sox lefty who reported last evening, took his first camp workout this morning. Jake is in fairly toughened shape, having had time to condition himself at home despite his pressing North Carolina farm chores.

The Cubs and White Sox tonight agreed to another battle on Dorr field next Wednesday, but, unlike the others, this will be on an admission basis. The proceeds will be given to the Red Cross.

GIANTS GET PITCHING.

Lakewood, N. J., April 1 (AP).—The New York Giants showed more pitching than hitting as they went thru an eight inning intrasquad game today. The regulars and the scrubs played scoreless ball, each team collecting only four hits. Hugh East and Bill Voiselle each worked four innings for the varsity, and Johnny Wittig and Ray Coombs pitched the same stint for the scrubs.

Army Approves Sports for Its Own Students

Washington, D. C., April 1 (AP).—The army reiterated today there is no prohibition against the varsity brand of athletics for the thousands of young men enrolled in its specialized training program, but said the boys' schedules will be so full they won't have time for varsity play. Instead, the army recommends, as a means of inculcating a will to win, competitive team sports such as soccer, speedball, touch football, modified football, basketball, volleyball, and baseball.

C. Y. O. Teams Beat B. B. Y. O. in 3 Games

Doman was best for the A. B. C. with three baskets and a free throw.

St. Leo's juniors were headed by Jim O'Halloran, a Notre Dame freshman, who directed the victors' passing attack and managed to contribute 16 points on seven field goals and two free throws. The C. Y. O. team's play was a bit too rapid for the A. B. C. Commandos, who included Hymie Tadelman, Chickie Zomlefer, Morris Kaplan, and Irv Mazer of the aforesaid Marshall High team.

After a snug first quarter which saw them holding only a 13 to 10 lead, St. Leo's pulled away to a 30 to 18 advantage at half time. The Commandos' best effort at catching up came in the final period, when a long shot by Max Mass left the Commandos only six points in arrears at 48 to 42.

INTERNATIONAL SPORTS SHOW IN LAST REHEARSAL

Exhibits Are Ready for Opening Tomorrow.

BY BOB BECKER.

Chicago's international sportsmen's show will hold its final rehearsals today and will open at 1 p. m. tomorrow in the Chicago Stadium when outdoor fans, sportsmen, fishermen, and vacationists will have a chance to inspect hundreds of exhibits. The show will continue thru April 11, with the doors opening each day at 1 p. m. and closing at midnight. This year's show again will have a casting tournament sponsored by the sports department of THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE in which hundreds of rod and reel enthusiasts will participate.

Fine Entertainment Features.

Among the outstanding entertainment features arranged by Manager Nick Kahler are Sol Solomon and his diving act; Fred Etchen, world's champion trapshooter; George Moore, the "war time angler" with a comedy casting act; Willy Necker of Wheeling, Ill., with three groups of trained Dobermanns and Labradors; Mark Huling and his seals, and Joe Kirkwood, trick shot golfer.

A special war exhibit, sponsored by the Illinois reserve militia, also has been arranged for the show with displays of airplanes, gas masks, machine guns, tommy guns, and other equipment. A war time cooking school will be in operation. Scores of exhibits featuring vacation possibilities of midwest states again will be a part of the show.

First Casting Contest Tomorrow.

The Tribune casting tournament starts tomorrow evening at 6:45, when casters attached to clubs will begin their competition. William Butler will be in charge of this tournament, assisted by Eddie Davis, well known tournament caster, who also will give pointers to any angler who wants special instruction on how to handle rod, reel, and lure. Handsome trophies and useful fishing equipment will go to the winners of the various tournament events.

Maroons Plan 13 Meets for Tennis Team

The University of Chicago's tennis team will cram 13 meets into less than one month, with the opener against Lawrence college scheduled for April 17. Tennis Coach Walter Hebert announced yesterday 9 of the 12 dual meets will be held on the Midway.

Bad weather, which has held the Maroons to indoor practice, also has slowed the selection of tentative team rankings, Hebert said, but apparently the majority of the squad will be freshmen.

The schedule follows:

April 17—Lawrence at Chicago; April 20, Illinois Tech at Chicago; April 21, Wheaton at Chicago; April 24, Wisconsin at Chicago; April 26, Northwestern at Chicago; April 29, Notre Dame at Chicago; April 30, Minnesota at Chicago; May 1, Chicago at Wisconsin; May 3, Chicago at Illinois; May 6, Michigan at Chicago; May 8, Ohio State at Chicago; May 10, Chicago at Northwestern; May 13, 14, 15, Big Ten meet at Northwestern.

GRAINS CLIMB; MAY OATS RISE TO 15 YEAR PEAK

Reports that administration supporters were advising the President to sign the Bankhead bill in order to prevent more inflationary legislation by the congressional farm bloc caused a large advance in grain prices yesterday on the Chicago Board of Trade.

Wheat, oats, and rye were up about 1 cent a bushel at the top, with May oats selling at 65 cents, a new 15 year high, before profit taking checked the gains. Closing prices of wheat futures were ⅝ to ⅝ cen higher. Oats were up ¼ to ¾ cent, the higher on May, and rye finished unchanged to ⅜ cent higher.

Canadian Farmers Protest.

Prospects that the ceiling price on cash corn would be raised to about $1.10 a bushel here if the Bankhead bill is signed and reports that the Canadian government had rejected farmers' demands that the Winnipeg grain exchange be closed caused much comment. Canadian farmers charged that American and other speculators would realize large profits on recent purchases of wheat and coarse grains in that country.

No change will be made in the Canadian government wheat policy, J. A. MacKinnon, minister of trade, announced. The price will remain at a minimum of 90 cents a bushel for No. 1 northern, delivered at Fort William or Vancouver. The statement was made as Winnipeg wheat futures advanced about ¾ cent to a new seasonal high with May having gained about 11 cents in less than a month.

Plan to Protect Farmer.

"Farmers will receive all of the increased prices being secured by sales of Canadian coarse grains to the United States, and a policy is being worked out so that this can be brought about," MacKinnon said.

Part of the strength in oats was attributed to buying induced by reports that navigation on the Great Lakes may not open until the latter part of the month. In the meantime large eastern demand was said to be causing a rapid reduction in stocks of oats at American markets.

Day by Day on the Farm

By BOB BECKER

Spring Flower Calendar.

April 1, 1943.

ALTHO the wild flowers on the farm and elsewhere in Chicagoland may be a little late this year due to unusually cold weather early in March, outdoor fans soon will be able to see the first blossoms that come up thru the mantle of dead leaves and hasten to bloom while they can get lots of sun in wooded areas.

Gordon Pearsall, biologist of the Illinois department of conservation, and well known botanist and ornithologist, said last week that up to the recent spell of warm weather, the wild flowers were about a week late. But the spring flowers received a big impetus to their growth when unpredictable March turned on the heat early in the week.

Notes Blossoming Period.

Pearsall has compiled [over a period of years] a record on the average blossoming date of all the wild flowers in Chicagoland. For years he has roamed the fields, woods, marshes, and dune areas around the city to find the first spring beauties, violets, anemones or other flowers. After noting when they open their blossoms he then observed how long these early plants kept in flower.

Here are some of Pearsall's records. Outdoor fans who will be going into the country in the next few weeks to see the birds and enjoy the way spring works its magic here in Chicagoland undoubtedly will want to keep this listing and see how close this year's flowers approach the average:

Pearsall has found that [on an average] the lowly skunk cabbage, the leader of the spring flower parade, blossoms from the fourth week in March thru the 4th week of April; the hepatica, first week of April thru the 3d week of April. [This is a common and beautiful wild flower on the farm.]

The dog tooth violet [abundant on the farm] trails along with the hepatica for it, also, opens its blossoms the first week in April and continues to bloom thru the 4th week of April.

Fishermen See Them.

Spring beauty [fragile but beautiful spring wild flower], 2d week of April thru the 2d week of May. Marsh marigold, 2d week of April thru the 2d week of May. [This gay spring flower likes the wet low places. Trout fishermen who go north in May often see it, for it grows along the banks of streams.]

The pasque flower, or wild crocus, is another wild flower which [according to Pearsall's observations] usually opens its blossoms the 2d week of April. It continues in flower thru the 4th week of the same month.

Widespread fires in vacant fields, marshes and lots this week killed countless wild flower plants and destroyed bird cover. The senseless and wasteful practice of burning dead grass and weeds damaged hundreds of acres in the suburbs, depriving ground nesting birds [including pheasants] of needed cover while killing the 1943 crop of flowering plants.

PROFITS SHRINK AS G. M. OUTPUT FOR WAR RISES

Annual Production Rate at 3 Billion.

BY PHILIP HAMPSON.

General Motors corporation's major contributions to winning the war, exemplified in the production of $1,898,195,445 of war goods in 1942, is detailed in a 97-page annual report sent stockholders yesterday by Alfred P. Sloan Jr., chairman of the board.

Sales in 1942 totaled $2,250,548,859, indicating the high proportion of war material coming out of its 94 corporation owned plants in 46 communities of 13 states and the 15 buildings or plants provided by the government. Sales in 1941 totaled $2,436,800,977, of which $406,149,273 was for war material. During the last quarter of 1942 deliveries were at an annual rate of more than 3 billion dollars.

Prices Cut 178 Million.

Experience gained in actual war production enabled the corporation to make voluntary reductions amounting to $361,288,825 in its contract prices. Of this amount $177,980,415 applied to deliveries made up to the end of 1942 and the remainder was applied to later deliveries.

Net income was $163,651,588, equal to $3.55 a share on the common stock, compared with $201,652,508, or $4.44 a share, in 1941. Income and excess profits taxes last year amounted to $124,500,520.

Conversion of plants from peace to war operation was completed during 1942. Their potential capacity, based on current prices, is 4 billion dollars of goods annually.

Sloan's report emphasized that each General Motors division functions as an entity, with success or failure charged to the executive at its head. Such handling of the huge problem of industrial management involved develops men, encourages initiative, increases efficiency and insures a more intensive concentration of "know-how" on each individual problem, Sloan said.

Spreads Jobs Widely.

Besides turning out huge amounts of goods from its own plants, the corporation subcontracted work running into hundreds of millions of dollars, spreading work thruout hundreds of communities.

Sloan told how the corporation, thru its engineering forces, keeps abreast of improvements in the war material it makes.

"As experience has been gained and as production has developed it has been possible for the technical staffs in General Motors and its divisions to make substantial contributions to war product designs," he said.

"In support of the engineers and research men in the plants and laboratories, General Motors has technical observers located in battle areas for the purpose of observing products in action and passing back the results of their observations to the technical men of the production front. This liaison is expected to prove of increasing value in supporting the work of army technicians."

No "Radical" New Car.

Sloan answered the questions of motorists who have been asking if the post-war automobile will be a "radical new car" by saying it probably will be a product of evolution rather than of revolution, as the pre-war car was. He indicated that the first cars after peace returns will be models on which the war stopped production.

"It might be said in a general way that production of passenger cars, trucks, and other peace time products can commence, so far as physical limitations are concerned, within a period of four or five months," Sloan said.

Numerous factors will be involved in conversion from war to peace, he explained, including government policy on curtailment of war production and how rapidly facilities of suppliers become available.

The corporation on Dec. 31 had $40,584,959 set aside for post-war rehabilitation and will continue adding to the reserve this year.

137 FIRMS TO OFFER 52 MILLIONS PUGET SOUND BONDS TODAY

An offering of 52 million dollars in Puget Sound Power and Light company bonds, one of the largest public utility issues to reach the market in months, will be made today by a group of 137 investment firms headed by Halsey, Stuart & Co., Chicago; Stone & Webster, and Blodget, Inc., and Lehman Bros.

The bonds, a 4¼ per cent first mortgage issue due Dec. 1, 1972, are priced at 104¼. The proceeds, together with the proceeds of 6½ million dollars of 3¼ per cent notes sold to banks and general company funds, will be used for the redemption of $58,884,500 of outstanding obligations.

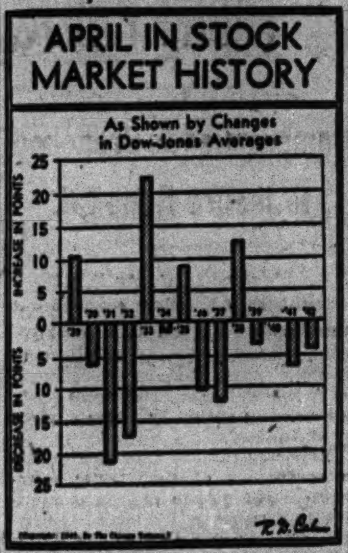
APRIL IN STOCK MARKET HISTORY

As Shown by Changes in Dow-Jones Averages



Sales at Peak, but Goldblatt Profits Slump

Altho sales reached the highest level in the company's history, changes in merchandising procedure incident to the war resulted in lower profits last year for Goldblatt Brothers, Inc., Morris Goldblatt, president, disclosed yesterday in his annual report to stockholders.

Morris Goldblatt.

His survey of this year's prospects was: "Altho the company's sales and profit performance to date for 1943 has been better than last year, the increasing difficulties of war time merchandising may have an unfavorable effect upon the operating results for the year."

Profit Drops to $552,005.

Net profit of the department store company and its subsidiaries during the year ended Jan. 31, 1943, was $552,005 after all charges, equal to 58 cents a share on common stock after preferred dividends. In the preceding fiscal year the company earned $979,046, or $1.14 a share.

Announcing sales of $56,552,914, against $54,735,590 the preceding fiscal year Goldblatt said: "This represented an increase of 3.3 per cent, which was the net result of substantial sales increases in apparel departments and other soft goods lines and comparatively large decreases in appliance departments and other hard lines, reflecting the shortage of materials vital to war time production."

In addition to higher operating costs, the company had $369,530 loss on the sale of fixed assets and raised its contribution to the employés' profit sharing fund to $300,000, from $200,000 the preceding year.

Accounts Receivable Drop.

Accounts receivable were cut in half, amounting to $1,680,880, compared with $3,200,863 a year earlier. Goldblatt attributed this to a substantial decline in credit business resulting from government restrictions on credit extension, a scarcity of items normally bought on an extended payment basis, and to more rapid repayment of outstanding customers' accounts incident to increased war time income.

The company's short term bank loans, amounting to $3,025,000 at the end of the preceding year, were completely liquidated. Inventories were reduced $282,514 to $10,296,526.

Chicago Big Store Sales Rise During Week, Month

Chicago department store sales increased 4 per cent in the week and 1 per cent in the four weeks ended March 27 above corresponding periods last year, the Federal Reserve Bank of Chicago reported yesterday.

People and Events

An old fashioned "open house" will be held tonight for the 1,000 employés of the American National Bank and Trust company and their families. All departments will be in operation to show how the bank works and to make the various employés better acquainted with each other. All will be shown the work being done by banks in the war. Claude C. Smith, a bank employé who was grand prize winner in THE TRIBUNE's 1934 Chicagoland Music Festival, will take part in a musical program. Another feature will be a "hobby" show disclosing what many of the employés do in their spare time.

Friends and business associates of George S. Bartlett, oldest executive in the portland cement industry, will hold a testimonial dinner for him on his 85th birthday Friday in the Union League club. Bartlett is a member of the administrative staff of the Portland Cement association, Chicago.

RALLY IN RAILS LIFTS SLIPPING STOCK MARKET

Many Carriers Set Six Year Peaks.

New York, April 1 (AP).—Rails again pulled the stock market out of a profit taking rut today with gains of fractions to 2 or more points, many at peaks for the last six years.

Irregularity ruled in nearly all departments during the morning, but selling was light. Dealings expanded briskly after noon when the transportation section worked up a rally. Initial losses among industrials were reduced in most cases or replaced with gains. Declines were plentiful at the close, but were outnumbered by advances.

Persistently strengthening factors were the war news and optimism over peace prospects for business generally. Many customers stood aside, however, on the belief the market had gone too long without a "healthy correction."

Averages Reach New Highs.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks was up 0.2 to 49.2, a high since May 9, 1940, for its tenth successive day without a loss. The 15 rail average showed a gain of 0.7 to 25.1, highest since October, 1937.

Carriers apparently continued buoyed by soaring revenues, wide scale debt reduction, and the brightening dividend outlook. Prominent in the front ranks of this division were Southern, Southern Pacific, Northern Pacific, Texas and Pacific, Atlantic Coast Line, Santa Fe, and New York Central.

Rail issues also accounted for a sizable portion of the turnover of 1,741,960 shares, which compared with 1,540,290 yesterday. Ten of 15 most active stocks were transports.

RAIL BONDS GAIN.

New York, April 1 (AP).—The long advance in rail bonds was speeded today by a new wave of buying both in reorganization issues and many of the higher priced issues. Advances ranged from fractions to about 3 points.

Another flurry of buying swept bonds of axis occupied European nations, some moving up 3 to 4 points on invasion prospects. Leading this move were issues of Greece, Poland, and Scandinavian countries and municipalities.

Obligations of Missouri Pacific and subsidiary properties rose buoyantly on reports of an agreement between security groups previously in conflict over reorganization terms.

CHICAGO STOCKS RISE.

Prices advanced on the Chicago Stock exchange yesterday on turnover of 46,000 shares. Volume leaders included Chicago corporation, up ⅛; New York Central, up ¾ at 18½ after touching a new 1943 high of 18⅝; Standard Dredging, unchanged after reaching a new high of 2⅝; Libby, McNeil & Libby, down ⅛, and Middle West corporation, unchanged. In the final half hour Standard Oil [Indiana] advanced ⅛ from the New York close.

WMC Staff Set to 'Advise' War Industry

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., April 1.—The war man power commission announced today that a force of 200 "consultants" drawing $3,800 to $6,500 a year is being mobilized to go into private plants and suggest methods for boosting production.

Tentative plans for such a program, costing about 1 million dollars a year, were disclosed last month by WMC Chairman Paul McNutt, but its actual operation is just getting underway, officials said.

Dr. Frank H. Sparks, president of Wabash college, Crawfordsville, Ind., will head the consulting force, known as the bureau of man power utilization.

Will Act on Complaints.

Dr. Sparks said today that the consultants will be sent to any company which requests help and will also be dispatched to plants about which complaints have been received that full use is not being made of available man power.

Such complaints might include charges of labor hoarding, reports of excessive absenteeism, low production, or "general under utilization" of labor, Dr. Sparks said. He added that in any case the man power "experts" would first seek permission from company managements before making their surveys.

Asked just what the consultants will do to increase production, Dr. Sparks said they will first determine how effectively a plant's labor force is being used, and attempt to analyze the causes of absenteeism, labor turnover, low morale, and other production troubles. They will then suggest possible means for curing these difficulties, and the carrying out of the program will be up to the plant management and labor, he added.

50 Already on Job.

"Any alert person from the outside with the intention to help can suggest changes which will increase efficiency," Dr. Sparks said.

Most of the consultants will be taken from the rolls of the United States employment service and local WMC offices, it was explained. An effort will also be made to obtain part time volunteers who are business executives, Dr. Sparks said.

More than 50 consultants have started work, the WMC said. From six to 23 will be appointed in each of the 12 WMC regions, and they will report to the regional directors.

RETAILERS SPLIT ON EFFECTS OF PRICE CEILINGS

New York, April 1 (AP).—Dun & Bradstreet today said 40 per cent of 6,975 retailers reporting on the effects of price ceilings termed results favorable, 50 per cent reported unfavorably, and 10 per cent said they were not affected.

A total of 22 per cent in all trades said they were considering liquidating in the face of the manifold problems of doing business under present war conditions, the retail trend survey disclosed.

"The beneficial influence of the ceilings was most marked in the apparel trades," the report said, "where more than a thousand stores reporting found that the stabilization of prices created a feeling of confidence among customers and had a tendency to end price cutting." Only 14 per cent of the apparel group considered liquidation.

Nearly half the retailers reported lowered operating expenses, attributed to shortage of clerks and curtailment of deliveries.

CHICAGO PATROL DESCRIBES 1942 FIRE PREVENTION

The seven patrol companies maintained by the Chicago Board of Underwriters attended nearly 13,500 fires in 1942 and spread 24,772 fireproof covers to protect property, E. B. Vickery, chairman of the board's fire patrol committee, said yesterday in his annual report. This fire prevention work is financed by more than 200 fire insurance companies.

Careless smoking habits were the main causes of the fires, Vickery reported. He said burning matches or tobacco caused 2,456 fires. Rubbish and electric wiring each caused about 1,200, and lightning caused 84. About 4,500 of the fires were in homes and apartments, and 508 were in manufacturing plants.

GAS COMPANY SEEKS TO HOLD DIVIDEND RATE

Ranney Says Cash Position Is Good.

The management of Peoples Gas Light and Coke company told stockholders at their annual meeting yesterday that it hopes the current dividend rate of $4 a year can be maintained despite war time business difficulties.

George A. Ranney.

George A. Ranney, chairman, commented on the outlook in an address which was read at the meeting by George F. Mitchell, president. Ranney did not attend. He sent a letter informing the stockholders that he was "under the weather" and had been ordered by his doctor to rest for a short period.

No Estimate of Earnings.

In the prepared address, Ranney said it would be unwise to make any estimate of earnings for 1943, but he added:

"I am hopeful that no unforeseen contingencies will arise that will make necessary any reduction in the present rate of dividends."

Asserting he had been asked by some stockholders why the company, which reduced its debt more than 2 million dollars last year, could not pay larger dividends, Ranney said:

"Dividends are paid from current earnings and not from cash accumulated from other sources. Ten years ago the relation of the company's funded debt to its then outstanding stock was very topheavy. Today for the first time in about 35 years our debt is substantially in balance with the par value of the company's stock.

Cash Position Strong.

"Our cash position is strong, as it should be in times of stress and trouble. Nobody can, with any degree of accuracy, prophesy what is ahead for American business, and consequently a strong cash position is a most desirable asset for any company."

Ranney said the new securities and exchange regulations on reports and proxy solicitations by corporations whose securities are listed on stock exchanges have proved "time consuming and expensive."

Ranney said the public has given "most encouraging response" to the company's request of a few months ago to be economical in the use of gas for house heating and other purposes.

"As a result Chicago has gotten by this winter without any drastic regulations being imposed in connection with the use of this important fuel, despite a long, cold winter," he said.

Directors were reëlected at the meeting.

AMENDED PLAN FOR DISSOLUTION FILED BY UTILITY

Philadelphia, April 1 (AP).—National Power and Light company today filed an amended plan of dissolution with the securities and exchange commission. National proposes to sell its remaining holdings of 242,664 shares of Houston Light and Power company common stock, using the proceeds plus funds from sale of 16,806 shares of $7 preferred stock of Carolina Power and Light company to retire 150,000 shares of $6 preferred stock at $100 a share.

Hog Price Average Highest in 23 Years as Receipts Dip

Instead of declining as the office of price administration had hoped they would when retail dollar and cents price ceilings became effective on pork yesterday, hogs pushed to new high price levels. Gains of 15 to 20 cents were general, and some buyers paid as much as 25 cents higher to fill late orders.

The average rose 20 cents to $15.90, a peak since Sept. 28, 1920, and the highest April average since 1919. This was 5 cents above the previous high 1943 daily average. Top loads reached $16, up 20 cents, to equal the peak since Oct. 15, 1920.

Price Range Is Narrow.

Offerings sold in a narrow price range. Most good stock weighing from 200 to 425 pounds sold at $15.85 to $15.95. Prime 346 pounders reached $15.90, and a consignment of 581 pound sows from an Illinois farm brought $15.60, indicating the wide demand for "lard type" hogs. Some lighter butcher sows sold as high as $15.75.

Farmers shipped in fewer hogs than a week ago, and Chicago receipts were the third smallest for a Thursday since early last October. Eleven principal markets handled 53,000, compared with 60,000 a week ago. The four day total was 28,000 smaller than a week earlier.

Cattle Prices are Mixed.

Cattle prices were mixed. Most steers, yearlings, heifers, and best beef cows were steady, but canners and cutters were weak to 25 cents lower. Best steers sold at $17.65, and the bulk from $15 to $16.50. Calves sold unevenly lower.

Lambs sold strong to 25 cents higher, with the $16.50 top the highest of the week.

Court Upholds Simplification of Big Utility

Philadelphia, Pa., April 1 (AP).—The Third United States Circuit Court of Appeals upheld today an order by the securities and exchange commission directing the Commonwealth and Southern corporation to simplify its capital structure.

In an unanimous opinion, written by Judge Albert Maris, the court dismissed an appeal by Commonwealth and Southern in which the big utility contended that congress made an illegal delegation of its power to the SEC in the holding company act.

Orders Change in Stock.

The SEC ruled some time ago that the corporation's capital structure was "unnecessarily complicated and burdensome and unfairly and inequitably distributed voting power among the security holders." It ordered the company to change to a single class of common stock.

The company, whose principal assets are common stocks of 10 public utility corporations in Michigan, Illinois, Indiana, Ohio, Pennsylvania, Alabama, Georgia, Mississippi, Florida, and South Carolina, appealed to the Circuit court.

The court's decision eliminates the existing 150 million dollars of $6 cumulative preferred stock on which there are accumulated dividends of $31,117,758.

Provides Future Decisions.

The decision left open for future determination by the courts of the corporation's assertions that the SEC order violates the "due process" clause in that it alters the rights of security holders and that the corporation was not permitted to establish the value of its property to prove that at least a portion of the preferred stock should be allowed to remain.

Judge Maris held these contentions are premature and can be raised when an "integration plan" such as Commonwealth proposed for retention of its southern subsidiaries in a single operating company is put forth.

AFL MEAT UNION SIGNS CONTRACT WITH SWIFT & CO.

The AFL Amalgamated Meat Cutters and Butcher Workmen of North America announced yesterday a master working conditions agreement had been signed with Swift & Co. embodying a union security clause, the "check-off" system for collection of union dues, and a basic eight hour day and 40 hour week.

The agreement affects employés in plants in East St. Louis, Ill.; San Francisco; Watertown, S. D.; Montgomery, Ala.; Nashville, Tenn.; Baltimore, and North Portland, Ore. The Chicago plant is covered by a CIO agreement.

SMALL RESTAURANTS TO GET RATION BOOKS UNDER NEW OPA PLAN

Washington, D. C., April 1 (AP).—OPA said today it plans to issue a special type of ration book for use by small food serving concerns.

The new book is to be similar to the meat-canned goods book now in use by householders, and would eliminate a complicated certificate system of ration points for the small eating establishments, altho larger places will retain the certificate system.

One of the principal purposes of the new book is to make it unnecessary for small eating establishments to have ration bank accounts. OPA said that many banks are being swamped by thousands of ration coupon accounts and eventually the agency expects to forbid stores doing less than $2,500 of business a month as well as small eating places from doing ration banking.

Chicago Bus Traffic Dips After Big Gain

The Chicago Motor Coach company is carrying 1 per cent fewer passengers than a year ago as the result of the government order effective Dec. 1 reducing its service by 15 per cent, Benjamin Weintraub, president, disclosed yesterday. The year-to-year passenger gain had risen to 21 per cent last July.

Weintraub forecast heavier demands on company facilities as employment rises at war plants adjacent to bus lines.

The company's net income for 1942 was $562,816, against $589,454 the preceding year. Increased operating costs and taxes counterbalanced the effect of larger revenues—$6,645,457, against $5,863,266.

Of last year's profits, $275,000 was paid in dividends to the Omnibus corporation, bus line holding company which owns all the Chicago company's stock.

Omnibus corporation's 1942 net income from dividends and other sources was $611,044, against $753,299 the preceding year.

OTHER TRAFFIC RISES.

Reflecting the increased war time demand on public transportation facilities, the Chicago Surface Lines yesterday reported they carried 72,663,987 passengers in March, an increase of 10.40 per cent over a year ago. In the three months the company carried 208,939,426 passengers, an increase of 9.91 per cent.

Chicago Rapid Transit company carried 15,176,208 revenue passengers in March, an increase of 7.25 per cent. The total increased 6.16 per cent in the three months to 44,106,225 passengers.

POTATO TRADE IN STALEMAT OVER CEILIN

Seed Premium Cu Table Supply.

The Chicago potato market was at a near standstill yesterday as most jobbers carried out an agreement not to sign affidavits that "seed stock potatoes received by them were being purchased only for planting, and not for table use." Potato dealers, abiding by a recent office of price administration order, refused to consign potatoes to jobbers without the affidavits.

Jobbers said their agreement not to sign represented a protest against OPA regulations which set seed stock ceilings 75 cents a 100 pounds higher than the maximums on table potatoes. As the result of this differential, they said, practically all potatoes coming into Chicago in recent weeks are tagged as seed because producers are seeking the higher price.

Seek Same Bases.

Jobbers said they hoped their action would force OPA to remove the differential and place both seed and table potatoes on the same basis. It is illegal to sell seed stock for human consumption without charging the lower table price.

A spokesman for the food distribution administration said that unless the dealer-jobber deadlock is broken soon retailers in Chicago and possibly nearby cities face a potato shortage within a few days.

OPA officials were reported to have held a meeting to discuss the situation.

Jobbers said the situation is similar in New York and other large markets thruout the country. Prior to OPA regulations they said there was no price differential between table and seed potatoes, with the one exception of a special certified seed stock. At present, however, growers are tagging the most of their potatoes as seed and distributors can sell them for table use only at a loss or illegally.

"Large Illegal Market."

"We jobbers are only trying to observe the law," one jobber asserted. "How can we obtain table potatoes if growers tag everything seed stock in order to get a higher price? Some dishonest distributors are selling seed for table use, with the result that a large part of the potatoes now being eaten thruout the country originally were tagged seed."

Other jobbers asserted that the seed table ceiling differential set up by the OPA is responsible for a widespread illegal market in potatoes and is instrumental "in making a lot of criminals" because jobbers cannot obtain enough table potatoes to operate their businesses.

They said that in Cleveland, O., last week distributors refused to accept seed potatoes and forced the OPA to permit them to sell seed stock for table use at seed prices.

WITNESS HOLDS ROLLINS MADE UNUSUAL PROFIT

Gustav Siegert, a securities and exchange commission investigator, testified yesterday that he found "unusual profits" in an examination of church accounts in the books of E. H. Rollins & Sons, Inc. The testimony was given at a SEC hearing to determine whether the brokerage firm and Walter C. Rawls, manager of its St. Louis office, had violated any provisions of the securities acts.

The questioning concerned transactions in behalf of three agencies of the former Methodist Episcopal church, South. Siegert said that on

SMALLER BANKS TOP LARGE ONES IN LOAN PROFITS

Rate of Interest Higher on Their Deals.

Small banks in the 7th [Chicago] reserve district last year realized a larger net return on their loans and securities than the large banks, according to the annual survey of bank operating ratios just completed by the Federal Reserve Bank of Chicago. The report will be mailed to member banks in the district next Monday.

The study covered 923 member banks, including 305 in Illinois, 163 in Indiana, 158 in Iowa, 184 in Michigan, and 113 in Wisconsin. It classifies the operating ratio information in 12 bank size groups, ranging from class 1, consisting of banks with less than $500,000 of deposits, to class 12, consisting of banks with deposits of 50 millions or more.

Small Bank's Return 3.4 Pct.

The small class 1 banks showed a net return of 6.4 per cent on loans, the highest ratio for any class. The biggest banks averaged 3.4 per cent. Officials of the reserve bank said the higher return for the small banks is explained by the fact that such banks deal in comparatively small business loans and in small loans to individuals, on which interest rates are higher than those charged by big banks for big loans to large corporations.

The average net return on loans for all classes of banks was 5½ per cent last year, the same as in 1941.

The smallest class of banks averaged a net return on securities of 2.4 per cent, compared with 1.6 per cent realized by the largest banks. The average for all classes was 2 per cent, which represented a sizable decline from the average of 2.7 per cent in the preceding year. In recent years all types of investors have experienced a decline in rates of return received in interest on funds invested in securities.

Average Lower Than in 1941.

The ratio of net profit to total capital accounts [capital, surplus, and undivided profits] was 6 per cent for the smallest banks, 7.3 per cent for the biggest banks, and 7.4 for all banks. In 1941 the combined average was much higher at 8.9 per cent.

The ratio of net earnings to total assets was larger for the small banks, at 0.7 per cent, against 0.4 per cent for the biggest banks, and an average for all banks of 0.7 per cent. In 1941 the average for all banks in the district was 0.9 per cent.

AMENDED RETURN.

I have already filed my 1942 income tax return and paid one-fourth of my tax. However, I neglected to deduct the loss of some stock purchased in 1936 and sold in 1942. What do I do now to get credit for the loss?—M. H.

Answer: A loss on stock held more than six months is a capital loss, and 50 per cent of the amount may be taken into account in computing tax liability. To get credit for this loss you must file another tax return, marking it "amended" to indicate it replaces one filed previously.

The overpayment on your first quarterly instalment will be credited to the balance you owe, thereby reducing the future quarterly instalments. If you had paid your entire 1942 tax on March 15 it would be necessary to file claim on form 843 along with the amended return in order to obtain a cash refund.

OLD AGE PENSION.

I am planning to retire in a few months because of advanced age. What must I do to get the old age compensation? I have been paying the tax for this pension for several years.—H. M.

Answer: Apply to the nearest field office of the social security board. There are five in Chicago, including one at 173 West Madison street, and four in the suburbs.

At the field office you will be given assistance in filing an application for the old age benefit. It is necessary that you bring with you a baptismal or a birth certificate to establish your age. If these records are not obtainable you should have some secondary evidence of the date of your birth, such as a family Bible, an old insurance policy, or some other document dated prior to August, 1935, when the social security law was enacted.

SEEK TO AVERT NEW ROW OVER TARIFF PACTS

Compromise Is Broached to Insure Renewal.

Washington, D. C., April 1 (AP).—Administration leaders sounded out sentiment today on two tentative compromise proposals designed to avoid a political fight in congress over renewal of the reciprocal trade agreements authority which expires next June 12.

Reported to have been laid before a conference of Democratic members of the senate finance committee by Chairman Walter F. George [D., Ga.] after a visit to the White House, these suggested compromises were said to involve extension of the program for one instead of three years and an alternate proposal under which congress could abrogate by a majority vote of both houses any agreements it found objectionable.

Committee Approval Noted.

George declined to discuss the results of either his meeting with the President or the subsequent session with colleagues, but other committee members said both proposals were discussed briefly and seemed to have the approval of a majority of those present.

The reciprocal trade program has been a controversial issue in congress since its original enactment in 1934, with most Republicans lining up against the delegation of tariff reduction powers to the executive. Under terms of the law, the President may reduce tariffs as much as 50 per cent in return for reciprocal reductions by other nations.

When the authority was extended in 1940, a number of Democrats and Republicans sought to write in a proviso that the senate should have power to ratify or reject the trade agreements. The administration defeated the proposal in the senate then by only three votes.

Compromise Suggested.

President Roosevelt was represented as desiring to avoid a similar controversy at this time and it apparently was with that thought in mind that administration men put out cautious feelers in an effort to learn whether a compromise could be effected.

Some Republicans have said they would have no strong objections to extension of the authority for a single year instead of the three year renewal that has been suggested previously by the state department.

The question still remained, however, whether the attachment of an amendment giving congress veto power over any agreement it did not like would serve to allay demands for senate ratification of these pacts as treaties.
